Willis's Dark-lantern Victory.

CHICAGO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Hearst-Hopkins Democratic faction won out in today's primaries over Mayor Harrison's City Hall organization. The Harrison and Hopkins factions recently united in booming Congressman Williams for the Democratic Presidential nomination, but later it was discovered that the Hopkins crowd was in alliance with the Hearst boomers. It is not believed that the Hopkins wing of the Democracy, which is the old-line element, will deliver a full county delegation to the State convention for Hearst.

ATTACK ON GENSAN BY THE RUSSIANS.

Three Thousand Japs go Forth But Are Driven Back Into Town.

St. Petersburg Advices Are that Considerable Losses Were Inflicted on Both Sides—Another Big Battle Reported, at Feng Huan Cheng—Fugitives Say Garrison is Preparing to Leave Dalny.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] About three thousand Russians approached Gensan yesterday and a similar number of Japanese sallied forth to repel them. Severe fighting ensued, with considerable losses on both sides. The Japanese eventually retired into Gensan. Two important officers were wounded.

FIGHTING AFTER KULIENCHENG.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After the capture of Kuliencheng by the Japanese, the Russians stood until the division of their army to the northwest was forced to retire toward Fengwangcheng. The combat was conducted with great bravery from dawn until dusk yesterday.

ANOTHER BIG BATTLE ON.
[BY DIRECT WIRETO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another big battle is believed to be in progress, this time at Feng Huan Cheng.

PREPARING FOR EXPECTED LANDING.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHANGHAI, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All Russian troops stationed at Chang Chu, Fun Chan, Hai Cheng, Kai Ping and other places have been dispatched along the sea coast, to be ready for the Japanese landing that the Russians expect hourly. The Russians at Hai Cheng are forcing the Chinese to throw up earthworks and dig deep trenches.

FUGITIVES TALK OF DALNY.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHEFOO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fugitives from Dalny have arrived here who say that the railway to that place has been destroyed, and that the Russian garrison is preparing to evacuate Dalny.

STAFF EXPLANATION OF TACTICS ON YALU.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2, 8 p.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Associated Press has obtained from the General Staff an outline of the operations on the Yalu River during the past week. The Russian force, including the reserves, were composed of Gen. Kashtaltpsky's 12th division and Gen. Mistchenko's Cossack outposts and a brigade of artillery, the whole under Gen. Zassulitch. Knowledge of geography is essential to a clear understanding. The Russian lines were at Kuliencheng or Turen Cheng, opposite Wiju and Antung, both on the Feng Wang Cheng road. A mile north of Kuliencheng lies the village of Fotlestinsky, near a tributary of the Litsavena, five miles up which is Chiagow. On the opposite side of Fotlestinsky stands Housan, which is a dominating height. Still higher, on the right of the Yalu, is the village of Ambikhe, at the confluence of the Aipike. The whole course of the Yalu between Ambikhe and Antung is divided by islands, the largest, Somalinda, facing Kuliencheng. Another lies between Housan and Stellgow.

The Japanese forces, the General Staff believes, approximate 100,000 men, of which four divisions, thirteen battalions and fifty-six guns were in action. The Japanese prepared for crossing the river by posting all their available guns, of which the Russians say the Japanese had five times more than they, along the line facing Kuliencheng and Antung, and also landed from their warships forty-seven guns. This array of artillery eventually made Kuliencheng untenable. Under cover of powerful batteries north of Sindigow, the Japanese crossed to Housan, occupying the height.

As the latter position would have enabled them to direct a raking fire against the Russians at Kuliencheng, Gen. Zassolitch ordered it to be retaken Friday. This was done, but Saturday, the Japanese, under cover of a battery, reoccupied it, the defenders falling back across the Litsavena and continuing the fight with the Japanese, who were attempting to flank them from Chingow. The Russian forces at Antung, and Kuliencheng, had meanwhile retreated to its second line, a few miles westward. The whole Russian force engaged yesterday formed a semicircle, the horns of which were being gradually drawn in, preparatory to retiring to a position further west. This was the situation when the last Russian official reports were sent.

A member of the staff informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that the issue ultimately turned probably upon whether the order to withdraw was given at the proper time. A slight delay at a critical moment might have enabled the enemy's vastly superior artillery to concentrate on the Russian guns, killing horses and gunners, and compelling the abandonment of the guns. But if so, the Russian plans will not be changed by accidental losses. Gen. Zassulitch would continue his retreat, contesting stubbornly a possible Japanese advance along the Feng Wan Cheng road, which runs through a hilly country, crowded with heights and exactly suited to Russian tactics.

STAFF OFFICER'S FIGURES.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, May 3.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo de Paris, in a dispatch published this morning, says that a high officer of the General Staff made the following statement to him:

"Gen. Kouropatkin has telegraphed the Emperor expressing satisfaction that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu, because this lengthens their line of operations, whereas the Russians are approaching their base.

"Gen. Kouropatkin will probably allow Gen. Kuroki's 20,000 men to advance and attempt the siege of Port Arthur, but Gen. Smyrnoff and Gen. Stoessel are disposing of 35,000 men under their command so as not to allow the Japanese to reach that place.

"It is supposed that a battle for the defense of the entrance to the Kwang Tung peninsula is imminent.

"Gen. Kouropatkin can send troops to Yinkow or Port Arthur within twenty-four hours, if he thinks it desirable to attack the Japanese in the rear.

"The fighting so far has consisted of mere skirmishes, and there have been no serious battles. We are convinced that the Japanese will do their utmost to immediately make things warm, but Gen. Kouropatkin will not assume the offensive before the end of May, or the middle of June, when he will have the 500,000 men he asked for."

HAYASHI'S SURMISING.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 2.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister here, who has been the recipient of numerous telegrams of congratulation on the Japanese successes especially on the result of the first service fighting said to the Associated Press:

"The immediate result of Gen. Kuroki's success will probably be a movement on Feng Huan Cheng, which the Chinese had fortified with their usual brick structures. Since the commencement of the war, the Russians doubtless have added earthworks, but their loss of guns yesterday must seriously diminish their defensive strength. I understand, though I cannot vouch for the absolute accuracy of the statement, that Russia had only 100 guns in Manchuria. If that is the case, her artillery strength has been diminished almost one-third.

"They, the Russians and Feng Huan Cheng, will not be taken without a struggle, unless Gen. Kouropatkin again changes his plans of campaign. The announcement that the Russians will not contest the crossing of the Yalu has proved, as we thought, to be misleading. Thirty thousand men is far too large a body for any general to leave in the face of the enemy, if it were merely intended to hamper his movements. Kouropatkin evidently meant to make a determined resistance, but he either underestimated our strength, or disposed his forces in the belief that we would not venture a frontal attack.

"I take it from the dispatches received that we have now practically secured control of both banks of the Yalu. In consequence, our base will probably be moved to Antung.

"To be perfectly frank, I must say I expected yesterday's engagement would be more decisive, especially in view of the large number of Russian troops opposed to us. Its significance must largely depend on our ability to pursue the enemy."

WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS.

Reviewing the whole future of the struggle that has just commenced in such deadly earnest on land, Baron Hayashi said:

"The duration of the war must lie rather with Russia than with Japan. For the moment, the military advantage is with us, for Kouropatkin has extended his front, and we can strike where and when we will. Our aggressive movement may be carried on to Mukden, perhaps to Harbin, and perhaps even further, but before long there must come a stage of the campaign where Russia will assume the role of an invading power, and where we must act solely on the defensive. From the beginning it has been so, and our aggression is and has been but a means toward eventual repulsion of an invading army.

"Gen. Kuroki himself probably cannot say at this moment exactly at what point our aggression would be changed into the defensive. Kouropatkin, so I believe, says he will not undertake to drive us back until he has three hundred thousand men ready to take the field. I think what that means is that at least 5 per cent. of that force will die from sickness, so that to keep his force at the maximum required, Kouropatkin will always have to be transporting 15,000 men from St. Petersburg—no small task. This year's harvest in Manchuria, I learn, promises to be bad. A million Russians there, in addition to the army, must be fed. We have, or shall have, closed every source of food supply except by the Siberian Railroad. Even with double tracks, and no men or munitions of war to transport, the problem of feeding the Russian population and army in Manchuria would be in itself serious, but with a single-track road, which is Russia's only vital sinew, it means an almost impossible task, and famine appears inevitable.

"With this dread accompaniment of war, there is only too likely to be a rising among the Manchurians. They may attack the Russians, or they may attack us. Either case is bad enough to contemplate.

"To help us sit down and await all the contingencies, we are working day and night on the Korean Railway, and by October the unfinished portions of the road between Fusan and Seoul will be completed and a new line from Seoul to Wiju will also be ready. Locomotives are coming from the United States, and as soon as these arrive we will have a strong and rapid line of communication through all Korea, which will almost touch our mainland, and we will not be likely to suffer from want of supplies or reinforcements.

"As regards Port Arthur and Vladivostok, the situation is somewhat different. I cannot say anything about the movements of our other armies that have been mobilized, but there is no doubt that the Liao Tung Peninsula will be cut off from supplies if any success attends our land forces. Neither Port Arthur nor Vladivostok can be taken from the sea front, but I think you will find Port Arthur either taken by our land forces or starved out by September. The Chinese are smuggling provisions into Port Arthur now from Chefoo, but only to an immaterial extent, and that will soon cease.

"Vice-Admiral Togo doubtless will remain on watch outside Port Arthur. By September, when the hurricane season comes, he should be able to safely house his fleet in a Japanese port. No fleet, Russian or Japanese, could be particularly effective then. I scarcely think Russia will send her Baltic fleet to face our autumn hurricanes. If the ships go before, then they will encounter the monsoon period, which lasts from May to August, and in which coaling at sea en route to Japan would be exceptionally dangerous, if not impossible, and coaling at sea is the only way the Baltic fleet can take a hand in the war."

Referring to the long period which elapsed between the declaration of war and the land fighting, Minister Hayashi said:

"That waiting which taxed the patience of the world has been a busy and exciting time for us. Our troops have been continually marching and working in anticipation of striking the blow which would initiate the campaign in Manchuria.

"I do not think our morale has been in any way affected by what is so erroneously described as a period of inaction. Kuroki, may, even by his own countrymen, be thought to be rather slow, but it is better to be sure. The most unfortunate incident of the campaign up-to-date is Vice-Admiral Ka-

VENICE IN MISSOURI.

After Twilight at World's Fair.

To Music of Many Bands and Flashing Fountains Gondolas Glide in Lagoons.

Capitol at Sacramento in Almonds One of California's Attractive Exhibits.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—When the first day of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition had drawn to a close and twilight had enshrouded the fair grounds, a flood of light suddenly burst forth from the thousands of electric bulbs that line the top of the many buildings and the Colonnade of States, surmounted Festival Hall and illuminated the Plaza of St. Louis and the Lagoon.

The throngs of visitors began pouring into the grounds early in the evening in anticipation of the illumination feature. White lights were utilized and the main portion of the grounds took on even more of a festival appearance than in daylight, which was enhanced by the strains of music from the band at the northern end of the Plaza of St. Louis, the murmur of the fountains and falling torrents that poured down the cascades into the ground basin. The Plaza became the central point of interest.

Twilight is the signal for the closing of the main exhibit palaces for the night and until 11 o'clock visitors enjoy the concessions, the lagoon trips in gondolas and launches, music from the various band stands and promenades.

White lights will be used in the illuminations for several nights and the twenty thousand colored electric bulbs will then be tested. It has not been determined what color is best adapted to produce the best illuminating effect.

Tonight, President Mrs. Daniel Manning and the members of the Board of Lady Managers assisted at a reception tendered by Gov. Peabody of Colorado to officials and dignitaries of the Exposition.

One of the first inviting exhibits on the grounds is in the Palace of Horticulture, where there are 5000 plates of apples, pears, oranges and lemons, embracing every known variety of these fruits raised in America. California's exhibit is very attractive, the Capitol at Sacramento, reproduced in almonds, being one of the features.

DEDICATE STATE BUILDINGS.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, St. Louis, May 2.—Beautiful weather greeted the beginning of the first regular exposition week and early in the forenoon visitors began entering the turnstiles. No special effort is being made to bring out-of-town visitors until the finishing touches are further advanced. The sounds of the hammer and saw are heard on all sides. The first of the exercises of the opening week was the dedication today of the State buildings of Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

FLOOD IN COLORADO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, May 2.—The heavy rain which has been falling in this region for the last twenty-four hours without cessation has filled the mountain streams to overflowing and a number of washouts have occurred, damaging railroads to the extent of many thousands of dollars and delaying traffic in some cases. The storm shows no sign of abatement.

BRIDGES IN DANGER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FLORENCE (Colo.) May 1.—A cloudburst in the Grushorn range, eight miles south of ... rance, today, caused the Arkansas River to rise between eight and nine feet here in less than an hour. The unexpected rush of water caused great damage. The bridge across the river and the Santa Fé and Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad bridges are in imminent danger. The tracks are under water and traffic is held up.

TURNS TO MAY SNOWSTORM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 2.—The storm which began here Sunday developed today into one of the worst blizzards ever experienced in this district. By noon today there was over two feet of snow on the streets of this city and twice as much in the hills.

GUNBOAT FLEET ON THE SHOOT.

JAPANESE AND OTHER YALU TOWNS BOMBARDED.

Russian Torpedo-boat Flotilla is Reported Out of Return from Shelling Japanese, but Silences the Enemy's Guns Exchange of Fire With Infantry and Artillery.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 2.—[By Asiatic Cable.] 9 a.m.—Admiral Hosoya reports that Commander Nakagawa, the commander of the Japanese gunboat Maya has communicated to him as follows:

"The detachment started at half-past 4 this morning. It went up the Yalu River as far as practicable. The gunboat Maya bombarded Antushan, gunboat Uji bombarded Liu Dong and vicinity. The torpedo-boat Maya proceeded to Su Dong Kau and bombarded that place. Returning it was suddenly attacked by the enemy from the hills northeast of Antushan. It returned the fire, and silenced the enemy in thirty minutes. The Maya returned to Tongampo at about 11. There were no casualties.

"Armed steamers, at 10 o'clock Saturday night, bombarded Su Dong Kau for thirty minutes. The enemy replied with rifle fire.

"Dispatch boat Haifong 9 Sunday morning. These steamers exchanged fire with the enemy's infantry, and artillery for thirty-five minutes. The enemy was dispersed.

"Antung was seen to be burning. Natives say that the enemy set it on fire and retreated.

THE LONDON VERSION.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 2.—The Japanese legation gave out today an official dispatch from the Admiralty at Tokio, reporting an engagement between Japanese warships on the Yalu and Russian shore batteries. It reads as follows:

"The captain of the gunboat Maya reports that a flotilla consisting of the gunboats Maya and Uji and some torpedo boats ascended the Yalu May 1, bombarding the enemy. While they were returning, the enemy's artillery suddenly attacked the torpedo boats. The latter silenced the enemy after a severe engagement lasting thirty minutes, and the flotilla all returned to Yongampo. There were no casualties.

"Our armed launches reached Antung the same morning and repulsed the enemy's infantry and artillery after thirty minutes of sharp firing. Fire was seen rising from the town, and a native says that the enemy fled from the town after setting fire to it."

LABOR.

STRIKE ON SANTA FE ON.

Shops from Chicago to Albuquerque Closed.

Machinists Called Out and Afterward Locked Out.

No Change at San Francisco. May Day Troubles.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) May 2.—Today, for the first time in years, the big Santa Fé shop whistle is silent and the 2000 Topeka shop men who appeared for work this morning found the big gates closed and barred. Learning that a strike of the machinists had been ordered for 9 o'clock this morning, the Santa Fé officials anticipated the move by closing down the shops here and at every other shop town on the Santa Fé system, from Chicago to Albuquerque. It is estimated that nearly 10,000 men are affected.

In the Topeka shops, 250 machinists are employed. Of this number, about 100 are members of the International Association of Machinists. The others are non-union men, for the Santa Fé has been running an open shop, no distinction being made between union and non-union men.

March 23, the International Association of Machinists submitted a list of twenty rules which they desired the Santa Fé to contract to observe in the management of its shops. The railroad officials claim that this would be a recognition of the union and would practically unionize the shops and take them out from under the control of the company. It rejected the demands for a contract. The Santa Fé has sent 400 non-union machinists to the coast lines and claims to have filled all vacancies and to have no further need of men on that part of the system.

In spite of the protests of the strike leaders, it is claimed that an attempt was made Sunday to disable two Santa Fé engines at Arkansas City. General Manager Mudge said this morning:

"We are advised that someone put emery and steel filings into two locomotives at Arkansas City, Sunday, for the purpose of injuring the working parts of the machinery. It was discovered what had been done before the engines went out and so no damage resulted. This is the only attempted violence which has been reported to us. There are no disturbances reported."

Mudge, in his statement, sets forth very clearly the reasons for the lockout. The company was unable to keep out the machinists and let in the other workmen, and for that reason all the shops were closed. The lockout order was signed by A. Lovell. It does not affect the car shop men or the roundhouse men, except at Topeka. Here the car shops and roundhouse are inside the yard fence and it was necessary to include inside the fence in the lockout order.

J. D. Buckalew, third vice-president of the International Association of Machinists, who is in charge of the strike situation in Topeka, for the union, gave out the following statement:

"Yes, we called out all the men on all the lines of the Santa Fé Railroad this morning at 9 o'clock, and, as far as I know, it is a success. I regretted very much to do it, but the order came from headquarters, and we have to obey."

ENJOINED IN COLORADO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) May 2.—Judge N. W. Dixon, in the District Court, this afternoon, issued an order restraining the machinists of the Santa Fé Railroad at Denver, Pueblo, La Junta and Trinidad from going on strike. No men had gone out here and only a few had obeyed the strike order at La Junta.

CHICAGO OBEYS ORDER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, May 2.—Machinists in two shops of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad today obeyed a strike order said to have emanated from Washington. Only a few machinists are employed in the Chicago shops.

GO OUT WITH MACHINISTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Over eight hundred machinists and a large number of allied workers on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad were reported out on strike up to 5 o'clock this afternoon. When the whole striking strength is brought out, embracing not only the machinists, but allied metal mechanics, boiler makers, blacksmiths, copper workers, helpers, etc., the total number involved, according to President O'Connell of the Machinists' Union, may approximate between 10,000 and 12,000 men.

A telegram today from John Mulholland of Toledo, president of the National Allied Metal Mechanics, announced that he had ordered his men to go out with the machinists, which means a sympathetic strike from that quarter embracing probably 1000 men engaged in semi-skilled labor in the Santa Fé shops.

FORESTALLED THE STRIKE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FORT MADISON (Iowa) May 2.—A lock-out of Santa Fé machinists at Fort Madison occurred this morning, involving boiler makers, blacksmiths and roundhouse men, in all, about 200 men. The company forestalled the strike which had been ordered. The company officers say that men will be put on tomorrow to take the places of the strikers.

SMALL FRY OUT.

UNION HELPERS STRIKE.

The small fry are following in the wake of the larger union fish in the Santa Fé strike. Yesterday all the union helpers and apprentices at the Needles leaped for the union grub-worm and five machinists and seven helpers at Bakersfield were also hooked and dragged into the labor net.

"But such things don't even make a riffle in the pool," said one of the Santa Fé officers in telling of it. "We are getting a better mastery of the situation every day, and we are sanguine of success. The attempts at boycott on the part of the girls of the San Bernardino laundry simply lost that concern a large amount of business. The work is now being done in Colton."

The statement made in the Express that the Methodist conference trains were delayed by the strike is emphatically denied by officers of the Santa Fé. They state a broken rail on the Grand Cañon division caused the derailing of a long train of oil and freight cars and that the excursionists were on the other side of this wreck.

SUMMONED BY UNCLE SAM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] United States Marshal Osborne and Deputy William Lerga today served subpoenas upon all the strikers here in the injunction suit instituted against them in the United States Court at Los Angeles by the Santa Fé Saturday. One hundred and eleven machinists' names are on the list of the defendants, all of whom must appear at Los Angeles and show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. Last night the first tilt between new men and strikers occurred in a local saloon. Harry Patton, a boilermaker recently brought from Philadelphia, was roughly handled because he openly declared he was a "scab" and proud of it. Dan Armitage a striker, was arrested and at his trial before the City Recorder this afternoon, C. Smith, secretary of the Machinists' Union, appeared for defendant's counsel. Although Patton was roughly handled Recorder Spence dismissed the charge against Armitage, giving all the participants a severe lecture.

WAITING FOR SCHMITZ.

MANY NON-UNION APPLICANTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The street-car situation remained practically unchanged this forenoon. International President Mahon visited the carmen's headquarters and at noon received a telephone message from Mayor Schmitz saying that the latter had not seen the officials of the United Railroads with whom he proposed to try and arrange an amicable settlement of the questions at issue.

While awaiting the result of the expected conference, the carmen are taking no action. They still, however, maintain that their position is without change. President Mahon says that he will remain here for at least another week. President Cornelius of the local union was busy all day long conferring with the men, but had no information to give out. The union will hold its regular weekly meeting tomorrow, and the strike question may then be decided.

At the offices of the United Railroads today scores of men made application to be taken into the company's employ. Each applicant was supplied with a card, which he was told to fill out. Many of them, it was reported, were put on the waiting list, to be given employment at once in case the union declares its strike. The officers of the company were in consultation, but stated that there were no new developments to announce.

Superior Judge Hunt today refused to issue a writ of restrainer in the case of Frank S. Cogin, the motorman who is suing division 205 of the Carmen's Union to restrain them from striking. The judge indicated that it will be impossible in that court to secure any sort of an injunction. An amended complaint, however, will be filed either next Friday or when the threatened strike occurs.

NEW PROPOSITION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The Executive Committee of the Carmen's Union tonight called a mass meeting of the carmen, to be held at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mayor Schmitz was in conference with President Holland of the United Railroads until midnight. He refused to say what had been accomplished in the conference beyond the statement that he had made a new proposition to the companys which would be submitted to the carmen at their meeting Wednesday morning. The Mayor refused to give any information about this new proposition or how it was received by the company's officials, but it is intimated that it is practically the same as the agreement submitted to the men by the United Railroads.

FEWER STRIKES THAN USUAL.

NEW ENGLAND SITUATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOSTON, May 2.—The principal difficulty to occur on May Day in New England was the strike of more than 1500 bakers in this city and near-by places, including Cambridge, Lynn, Salem, Brockton, Abington, Rockland, Stoughton, North Easton, Weymouth, South Weymouth and Bridgewater. The strike was caused by the refusal of the master bakers to sign a new schedule calling for a sixty-hour week and $16 weekly for second hands and $18 for formen. The larger hotels and restaurants are not affected by the strike.

Among other troubles are those caused by the demand of 400 carpenters for an increase of 50 cents a day. There were minor strikes in the building trades in other places, but in New England as a whole the number of men in voluntary idleness is smaller this year than usual.

CARPENTERS QUIT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WATERBURY (Ct.) May 2.—A general strike of all the union carpenters in this city, numbering 400, began today. The carpenters demand a minimum rate of $2.80 per day, in place of the $2.50 now paid.

NO INCREASE; ALL OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SCHENECTADY (N. Y.) May 2.—The members of the Tinsmith and Coal Handlers' unions, numbering in all about 200 men, went out as the result of the refusal of employers to grant an increase in wages.

THREE STRIKES IN CHICAGO.

ALSO ONE LOCKOUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, May 2.—Three strikes and one lockout became effective here today and in consequence 6200 wage earners are idle. Picture-frame makers employed in six factories, to the number of 1700, struck.

One hundred teamsters of the Union Lime Company and the Artesian Lime Company refused to work because denied an increase of 50 cents a week.

Nine baking concerns were tied up by a strike of 400 men, the firms refusing to grant the "closed shop."

Still another strike is in prospect, members of the Machinists' Union employed in 500 shops throughout the city having voted to demand an increase of 2 to 5 cents an hour.

CLEVELAND'S LABOR LECTURE.

CHICAGO STRIKE OF 1894.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) May 2.—Before one of the largest audiences ever assembled in Alexander Hall, former President Cleveland delivered the Stafford Little lecture tonight. The balcony was packed with undergraduates and townspeople, while the seats of the lower floor were reserved for professors and their wives, with prominent visitors.

Mr. Cleveland's subject was "The Government in the Chicago Strike of 1894," and he reviewed the history of the strike and of the government's intervention. In sustaining the action of the United States Circuit Court, which ordered the imprisonment of Debs and his associate officers of the American Railway Union for disobeying its injunction, Mr. Cleveland said:

"The Supreme Court of the United States has written the concluding words of this history, tragical in many of its details and in every page provoking sober reflection. Nevertheless, even those most nearly related by executive responsibility to the troublesome days whose story is told, may at this time congratulate themselves that they have had to do with marking out the way and clearing the path, now unchangeably established, that shall hereafter guide our nation safely and surely."

ELIOT CRITICISES UNIONS.

HARVARD'S HEAD'S HEAD HARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "More money won't bring more joy," was the gist of a labor speech delivered by President Eliot of Harvard before a large audience in Sanders' Theater tonight. President Eliot reiterated his statements that "love of work, rhythm and harmony of labor, play of mental power, and, above all, motive for excelling," are the things that satisfy.

"Wages," he said, "are not the ultimate objects to be striven after. Liberty, the hope of improving one's lot, stability of employment and good will—these are the essentials of happiness, and these are what employers and employés should seek to get."

President Eliot criticised labor unions severely for their efforts to create discord between employer and employé. Their oratory, he said, was inflated, and their hardships exaggerated.

Will Not be Made Public.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 2.—Secretary Wilson of the United Mine Workers of America said today that the action taken by the National Executive Committee with reference to the Colorado strike would not be made public. It was reported at national headquarters today that 9000 miners in the Guernsey (O.) district had gone out on account of failure to agree with the operators on a scale.

One Thousand Carpenters Strike.

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) May 2.—One thousand union carpenters in Youngstown and the Mahoning Valley are out on strike by reason of the Builders' and Contractors' Association refusing to sign a scale for the coming year, making the minimum wage $3 per day, an advance of 25 cents over the present scale, which has just expired.

Five Thousand Idle in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—About five thousand workmen employed in the building trades were rendered idle today as the result of a strike ordered by local unions.

ELECTION PRAYED FOR.

Negro Methodists Invoke God to Return the President to White House This Fall.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, May 2.—A prayer that the President might be returned to the White House caused an unusual demonstration today during the opening exercises of the twenty-second quadrennial conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. Shouts of "Bless him, O God," "Yes, yes," "Amen, amen," greeted the words of Bishop W. J. Gaines of Georgia, when he invoked the blessing of God on the President of the United States, "who has had the manhood and courage to stand up and do his duty at all times to men of every color and creed in spite of bitter criticism."

"If consistent with Thy will, O God, when his term of office expires," continued the speaker, "send him back to the White House to serve another four years."

OBITUARY.

Judge Charles N. Fox.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Charles N. Fox, long identified with the California bar and for a time justice of the Supreme bench, is dead of paralysis of the brain. Judge Fox was born in Wayne county, Michigan, in 1829. He came to California in 1854.

Gen. Starr.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Gen. Starr, Commissioner of Immigration at this port for twenty-five years, is dead at the age of 83. He was president of the West Side Savings Bank and well known in local Republican politics for many years.

Judge Alfred Rix.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Judge Alfred Rix, at one time on of the best known legal practitioners in the State, is dead. He was born in Quebec in 1821 and came to California in 1851.

John W. Kissam.

NEW YORK, May 2.—John W. Kissam, who went to California in 1849, and established a line of vessels between San Francisco and islands in the Pacific, is dead at his home here.

Edgar Fawcett.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Edgar Fawcett, the author, is dead in London, aged 57 years.

MAUSOLEUM AWAITS PAUPER.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert A. Johnson was one of the merchant princes of this city twenty years ago, with a fortune of $5,000,000. Two days ago he was taken as a public charge to the Manhattan Insane Asylum, where he died Sunday. Tonight his body lay in the morgue, among the city's pauper dead. He will not sleep among the nameless dead in the potter's field. Tomorrow he will be buried in the huge granite masoleum in Calvary Cemetery, built thirty years ago by Robert Johnson and his three brothers, when A. T. Stewart was their only peer in the retail dry goods trade in this country.

LIVE-STOCK SHEDS BURNING.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 2.—Forty acres of live-stock sheds and pens are burning at the Union Stock Yards, and it is believed they will be totally destroyed. There is no immediate danger of the fire spreading to the manufacturing and packing plants. Two cars of cattle were burned. Loss, $200,000. The origin of the fire has not been ascertained.

BROOKLYN SUNDAY BASEBALL.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Sunday baseball in Brooklyn was declared legal today in a decision handed down by Justice Gaynor. At the same time the several ball players and officials at the Brooklyn baseball park arrested on the test case were discharged from custody.

THE VERY LATEST.

WAR NEWS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

SEOUL, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is officially reported here torpedo boat Sixty-nine was proceeding, Monday, into Amoka Yang, at the mouth of the Yalu, when the Russian artillery opened fire from the Manchurian shore opposite Yongampo. The Japanese returned the fire, and soon caused the artillery and cavalry to withdraw from the shore.

The following day, a large squadron of Russian cavalry fired on a small Japanese steamer going up stream, convoyed by torpedo boats, but were soon driven to take refuge in the hills by the Japanese quick-firing guns. The Russians apparently suffered heavy losses. No Japanese casualties are reported.

NEW KINSHIU MARU STORY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEOUL, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following are further details regarding the sinking of the Kinshiu Maru with two companies of Japanese infantry aboard, numbering 120 men, in addition to the steamer's crew. Proceeding to Song Chin, she met the Russian fleet, consisting of three cruisers and two torpedo boats. The Russians signalled, and two Japanese military officers boarded the Russian warship, where they were detained.

The Russians demanded the surrender of Kinshiu Maru, which was refused. One torpedo was then discharged, but did no damage. Thereupon, Japanese soldiers fired from the deck of the Kinshiu Maru futile musketry volleys at the Russian ships. A second torpedo struck the transport fairly amidships, causing her to sink in a few minutes. Meantime the small boats, containing fifty-one soldiers and seamen, succeeded in getting away. The survivors landed at Sinpo Bay, and telegraphed the news of their escape to Wonson, whence assistance was sent to them.

WHY THEY SANK HER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The explanation of the sinking of a Japanese vessel laden with a valuable cargo of coal is that the Japanese resisted capture and wounded three men in a Russian cutter. The enemy's fleet was also approaching.

The news from the Yalu was received this morning with the wonderful stoicism that has characterized the Russians since reverses began. At the headquarters of the General Staff, it was stated that an important engagement was in progress, but no further details were given.

PORT ARTHUR SIEGE.

Residents of the suburbs of Port Arthur have been warned either to enter the town, or remove from the district right away. This shows clearly that a siege is expected immediately. It is quite untrue that the Russians have submarines at Port Arthur.

The new warship which grounded while on her way to Cronstadt, is still there, the efforts of a swarm of tugs to drag her off having proved unsuccessful.

DRIVEN FROM SEVEN LINES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 2.—A Daily News special from Kobe says: "Details of heavy fighting in the neighborhood of Kiuliencheng, received here this morning, state that the Russians made a stubborn resistance to the Japanese advance, but were driven successively out of seven lines of trenches."

NOTICE TO CHINESE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TIEN-TSIN, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Viceroy Alexieff has sent a lengthy dispatch to Gen. Ma, stating that occasion may arise for Russia to increase her forces at Sinmintung, Shenyang and other places, and requesting that Chinese military police be immediately withdrawn. An answer is required within three days.

SATISFACTION IN LONDON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 3.—The latest dispatches received here confirming the completeness of the Japanese victory on the Yalu River could hardly have given greater satisfaction in Tokio than in London. The editorials in the morning papers ring with admiration at the success of Gen. Kuroki's strategy, in a manner indicating that Great Britain has been in considerable doubt of the capacity of her ally's troops when matched against the Russians, and despite the lack of good cavalry by the Japanese to follow up her victory, it is believed that she will speedily drive the Russians out of Feng Huan Cheng also.

Few further details have yet been received, but it seems that the Japanese Imperial Guards fought with conspicuous bravery, and sustained the brunt of the fighting, losing heavily. Some accounts speak of bayonet charges.

It is evident that the Japanese success is largely due to the superiority of their artillery, the Russian guns being too light.

The Japanese victory has caused complete surprise in the European capitals, and is expected to lead to difficulty in Russia's efforts to raise a loan.

According to the Shanghai Kwan correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, evidence is accruing that China's neutrality is tottering. The Tartar generals in Kirin and Feng Tien, the correspondent says, are urging the Peking government to adopt a strong policy against Russian aggression west of the Liao River. It is alleged that Viceroy Yuan Shai Kai is secretly making war preparations, and everything, in the opinion of the correspondent, points toward China making a military demonstration against either belligerent fighting west of the Liao River.

A special dispatch from Port Arthur says that about 100 Chinese junks were observed on the horizon yesterday, between the mouth of the Yalu and the Liao Tung Peninsula.

JAPS INSPECT SUBMARINE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) May 3.—Two Japanese naval officers, whose names could not be learned, today inspected the submarine torpedo boat Protector, which later received orders to sail immediately. Her destination is unknown, but it is believed to be Bridgeport, Ct. It is understood the Japanese officers will leave New York for the Pacific Coast and sail for Yokohama.

SENT ON THE GUNS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—The central military administration has already dispatched all guns and artillery stores necessary for the rearmament of the army in the Far East.

FEEBLE BUT FIGHTING TAXES.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Munn, Russell Sage's physician, called at the tax department today and said Sage was too feeble to appear in person, but considered the assessment of $2,000,000 on his personal estate unjust.

Dr. Munn said it would be wise to make a reduction, otherwise likely they would never be able to assess Sage's personal property, as Sage could without inconvenience change his domicile to Cedarhurst, L. I., and escape taxation in this city.

He was told the assessment must stand this year and that the city would take its chances as to the future.

POOR FOOD CAUSES REVOLT.

PORTLAND, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After two minutes in which to choose between life and death, forty-five convicts at the Oregon State prison who had revolted because of poor food, gave in before Winchesters aimed at them.

For some time the men have been dissatisfied with the prison fare and threatened to revolt. The trouble did not culminate, however, until Friday morning, when, after working for a time, twenty-five of the convicts marched out of the foundry, demanding an audience with the warden. Warden Curtis was absent and the men were ordered to their cells, but they refused to go and in a moment many others had joined them. Then the case looked serious, but guards were assembled and rifles pointed at them. Then and not until then did they give in. One by one, the men dropped into their cells and after a little deliberation agreed to return to work without further trouble.

Superintendent James admitted the truth of the story, which has been kept a secret for several days. He declared that he did not propose to take any instructions from the prisoners.

J. P. Morgan & Co. received yesterday from the State Department a warrant for $1,000,000, representing the first installment of the $10,000,000 due to the Panama republic in connection with the canal payment.

TRAVELS FIVE MILES.

Dr. Greth's Airship Makes a Partly Successful Trip.

Something Wrong With Machine Brings it to Earth.

Portland Land Fraud Trials Begin—Grocers Meet.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Dr. August Greth today tried to make a trip to San José in his airship, but after traveling about five miles some slight disarrangement of the machinery was discovered and the aerial voyagers were forced to make a landing near Frederick Belcher.

Dr. Greth was accompanied by Engineer Belcher.

Dr. Greth was satisfied with the results of this experimental flight because he accomplished a good deal more than on former trials, and from this he concluded that he is working in the right direction. He went up at 5:30 a.m., and with the car attached to a rope which held the monster balloon from doing any damage to the neighboring houses as it started toward the skies.

When the rope was cast off, Dr. Greth let his machine rise still higher and then made a circular figure about a quarter of a mile in circumference. It was evident to those below that, at time, for he circled about, stopped the engines and started them again and then started off to the south at high speed.

Everything went well until the airship arrived over Blankens' Six-mile house, on the San Bruno road. It was then going rapidly toward San José, when something went wrong with the machinery, which caused the airship to stop. The inventor and the engineer tried to adjust the break and then after a pause the fans were started and the ship began to descend. To all appearances the fans were able to control the ship, though it was considered they were not quite large and powerful enough to meet resistance of strong winds.

Eyewitnessas of the descent said that the airship came down gradually and touched the ground gently, allowing the men in the cage to step out. Nothing was injured either in the car or about the great gas bag. Dr. Greth stated that what happened could not be set right without certain tools and he deemed it expedient to alight under the circumstances.

The engine is an automobile machine of fifty horse power and is set up in a new frame, much larger and stronger than the first gas pipe frame which carried Dr. Greth up with the former engine. It was demonstrated at that while the fans which raise and lower the airship, and also have considerable bearing on the steering, are not large enough, yet they did very well under the circumstances. They are to be enlarged and also the rudder, in order that the ship may be more dirigible.

This was the first time that the engines were started when stopped at night.

LAND FRAUD TRIALS BEGIN.

POSTPONEMENTS AT PORTLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 2.—The beginning of the land fraud trials was mailed today in the United States District Court when Mrs. Emma L. Watson was arraigned on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States government. Mrs. Watson's attorneys demurred to the indictment and Judge Bellinger overruled the demurrer, and Mrs. Watson pleaded not guilty.

Owing to the fact that the prosecution was unprepared to commence Mrs. Watson's case, and those of the others alleged to be implicated in the so-called "land-fraud ring," were postponed until May 18, although the attorneys for the defense fought hard against the continuation.

The case of Charles Cunningham, Eastern Oregon "sheep king," who is also under arrest charged with defrauding the government of public land, was continued until Thursday or today. The cases of T. A. Wood and Lena Wood, charged with forgery of affidavits for pension claims, was set to be heard May 9.

DENIES WRITING LETTERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—During the Hyde-Dimond land investigation today, W. ... Slack, who was bookkeeper for Hyde, emphatically denied that he wrote the ahonymous letters which have been brought into the case. Similar denial was made by Leon Lewis, formerly Hyde's attorney. Dimond was then recalled for redirect examination.

GAINS FREEDOM AT LAST.

GEORGE WALKER OUT OF JAIL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—George Walker, former solicitor for the American Tract Society, gained the freedom today for which his attorney has fought for the past six years, fought through two trials on the charge of embezzlement, and kept his client out of the penitentiary. He had been accused of embezzling $37 from the tract society, was twice convicted and sentenced to State prison, but was granted a new trial on appeal.

When the case was called before Judge Dunne today Assistant District Attorney Whiting informed the court that three of his most important witnesses were dead, that other testimony which the prosecution had relied upon had been ruled as inadmissible by the Supreme Court, and that there was no apparent possibility of obtaining a conviction under the circumstances. He therefore moved a dismissal, which was ordered, and Walker has been in the County Jail two years.

TRAVELS FIVE MILES.

Dr. Greth's Airship Makes a Partly Successful Trip.

Something Wrong With Machine Brings it to Earth.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Dr. August Greth today tried to make a trip to San José in his airship, but after traveling about five miles some slight disarrangement of the machinery was discovered and the aerial voyagers were forced to make a landing. Dr. Greth was accompanied by Engineer Frederick Belcher.

Dr. Greth was satisfied with the results of this experimental flight because he accomplished a good deal more than on former trials, and from it he concluded that he is working in the right direction. He went up at 8:30 a.m., and with the car attached to a rope which held the monster balloon from doing any damage to the neighboring houses as it started toward the skies.

When the rope was cast off, Dr. Greth let his machine rise still higher and then made a circular figure about a quarter of a mile in circumference. It was evident to those below that he had the machine under control at this time, for he circled about, stopped the engines and started them again, and then started off to the south at a high speed.

Everything went well until the airship arrived over Blankens' Six-mile house, on the San Bruno road. It was then going rapidly toward San José, when something went wrong with the machinery, which caused the airship to stop. The inventor and the engineer tried to adjust the break, and then after a pause the fans were started and the ship began to descend. To all appearances the fans were able to control the ship, though it was conceded they were not quite large and powerful enough to meet resistance of strong winds.

Despite the descent said that the airship came down gradually and touched the ground gently, allowing the men in the cage to step out. Nothing was injured either in the car or about the great gas bag. Dr. Greth stated that what happened could not be set right without certain tools and he deemed it expedient to alight under the circumstances.

The engine is an automobile machine of fifty horse power and is set up in a new frame, much larger and stronger than the first gas pipe frame which carried Dr. Greth up with the former engine. It was demonstrated that while the fans which raise and lower the airship, and also have considerable bearing on the steering, are not large enough, yet they did very well under the circumstances. They are to be enlarged and also the rudder, in order that the ship may be more dirigible.

This was the first time that the engines were started when stopped last.

LAND FRAUD TRIALS BEGIN.

IMPANELMENTS AT PORTLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 2.—The hearing of the land fraud trials was resumed today in the United States District Court when Mrs. Emma L. Watson was arraigned on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States government. Mrs. Watson's attorneys demurred to the indictment, but Judge Bellinger overruled the demurrer, and Mrs. Watson pleaded not guilty.

Owing to the fact that the prosecution was unprepared to commence Mrs. Watson's case, and those of the others charged to be implicated in the so-called "land-fraud ring," were postponed until May 18, although the attorneys for the defense fought hard against the continuation.

The case of Charles Cunningham, of Eastern Oregon "sheep king," who was under arrest charged with defrauding the government of public lands was continued until Thursday or Friday. The cases of T. A. Wood and Lee Wood, charged with forgery of affidavits for pension claims, was set down to be heard May 9.

CONVICTIES WRITING LETTERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—During the Hyde-Dimond land investigation before U. S. Slack, who was bookkeeper for Hyde, emphatically denied that he wrote the anonymous letters which have been brought into the case. Another denial was made by Leon O. Wood, formerly Hyde's attorney. Dimond was then recalled for redirect examination.

GETS FREEDOM AT LAST.

CHARLES WALKER OUT OF JAIL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—George H. Umbsen, former solicitor for the American Humane Society, gained the freedom for which his attorney has fought for the past six years, fought two trials on the charge of embezzlement, and kept his client out of the penitentiary. He had been convicted of embezzling $87 from the society, was twice convicted and sentenced to State prison, but was granted a new trial on appeal.

The case was called before Judge Dunne today Assistant District Attorney Whiting informed the court that three of his most important witnesses were dead, that other testimony upon which the prosecution had relied had been ruled as inadmissible by the Supreme Court, and that there was no reasonable possibility of obtaining a conviction under the circumstances. He therefore moved a dismissal, which was ordered.

Walker has been in the County Jail four years.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Democratic Delegates.

SANTA ANAS, May 2.—The Democratic County Committee today selected ten delegates to the State convention at Santa Cruz, May 16. The delegation is uninstructed. The following are the delegates: C. Z. Herbert, T. C. Butler, John Iverson, Thomas McCool, R. F. Johnson, P. E. Zabala, David Wallace, B. J. Riewarts, T. Renison and J. J. Bliss.

Reno Thieves Bold and Successful.

RENO (Nev.) May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While an eastbound freight train was standing in front of the passenger depot, in the very center of Reno, at an early hour this morning, thieves broke into the cars and stole property estimated to be valued at $2000. Six cars were entered. One arrest has been made thus far.

Retail Grocers Meet.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States opened its annual convention today in the art gallery of Mechanics' Pavilion.

Poisons Apple, Then Eats it.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—O. A. Smith, a book-keeper, committed suicide last night by eating an apple in which he had previously placed poison. He was found dead in bed this morning. No cause for his act is known. He leaves a brother in San José.

Cruisers May Stay but Few Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The United States cruiser Marblehead arrived today, and will at once join the Concord. Admiral Glass has given positive orders that the two ships shall remain at the yard only five days after the date of their arrival, and shall then proceed to Honolulu.

Libel Filed Against Ferry Boat.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—In the United States District Court today a libel suit was filed against the North Shore ferry steamer Sausalito by W. A. Boole & Son for $13,027 balance alleged to be due for repairs and equipment, with interest. An attachment on the steamer was issued.

Japanese Sentenced to Hang.

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—Kokichi Hidaka, a Japanese, was this afternoon sentenced by Judge Hart to be hanged at the Folsom prison June 9, for the murder of Mrs. T. Yoshimoto. At the time of the murder, Hidaka also shot and killed the woman's husband and a waiter in a Japanese restaurant.

Soeder's Trial Begins.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Leon Soeder's trial for the murder of his brother-in-law, Joseph Blaise, began today before Judge Cook of the Superior Court. It is expected that considerable time will be consumed in obtaining a jury.

Most Important Witnesses Gone.

SAN JOSE, May 2.—The second trial of William J. Singleton for the killing of Simon Bojorques last November was begun this morning. On the first trial the jury disagreed, and since then the most important witness for the prosecution has sold his business and left town.

Old Soldier Killed by Engine.

MONTEREY, May 2.—While walking on the railroad track near here, Seth W. Fitch was struck by an engine and instantly killed. Being deaf, he did not hear the approaching train. He was 75 years of age. During the Civil War he served in Co. J, Thirty-first Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteers. He leaves many relatives in Wisconsin.

Advertising Man Kills Himself.

PORTLAND, May 2.—Despondent because of heavy losses at gambling, H. W. Gowell of Seattle, one of the most prominent advertising men of the Pacific Northwest, committed suicide here in a small room in a lodging-house by turning on the gas before he retired last night. He left a note addressed to a friend, stating that he had gambled away about $1100 at various resorts in this city.

Merchant Arrested for Arson.

EVERETT (Wash.) May 2.—A. H. Finney, a dry goods merchant, was arrested today on the charge of setting his store on fire early today. The forty guests lodged at the Hotel Virginia, which is located on the second floor of the building, were forced to flee for their lives in their night clothes. The firemen found a quantity of oil-soaked rags and waste under Finney's store, which had been placed there through a hole cut in the floor. It is alleged Finney's stock was overinsured. Until his preliminary examination Wednesday, Finney was released on $2500 bonds.

Courthouse Corner-stone Laid.

REDWOOD CITY, May 2.—The corner-stone of the new $250,000 Courthouse of San Mateo county was laid today by the Grand Lodge of Masons of California. The entire day was spent in celebrating the event. The features were a parade, a mile in length, composed of the numerous fraternal and civic societies of the county, firemen from the incorporated communities and guests and visitors. Addresses and music was furnisher by the local band of twenty-five pieces, the Choral Society with forty pieces and school children from all over the county to the number of five hundred. After the ceremonies there was a barbecue and dancing.

Gilroy Municipal Election.

GILROY, May 2.—George T. Dunlop was today elected Mayor over Dr. H. Chesbro by a plurality of 108 votes. Other officers chosen were: Clerk, D. M. Hoover; Treasurer, Henry Hecker; Marshal and Tax Collector, A. B. Ward; Councilmen, V. Prudhomme, J. H. Princevalle, Marshal Rice, George Millas, R. Wood and George Seay.

Brings Cargo of Great Value.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The Pacific Mail Company's liner China arrived from the Orient with 719 passengers and 1774 tons of freight. The cargo, although small, is intrinsically of great value. It includes 1300 bales of raw silk goods, having a market value of more than $1,000,000. In the treasure-room is a big shipment of Japanese gold yen, worth $3,344,350 in United States gold coin.

Watching for Fugitive Woodend.

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 2.—Telegraphic advices were received here today from New York that Dr. W. W. Woodend, fugitive member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange brokerage firm Woodend Company, was heading for Seattle, and would be here today or tomorrow. A sharp lookout is being kept for him, but he has not yet appeared.

Raise Butter-fat Standard.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The Board of Supervisors today passed to print an ordinance raising the standard of butter fat in milk at 3.3 per cent. during January, February, March and April, and 3.4 per cent. during the remainder of the year.

San Jose Sues Surety Company.

SAN JOSE, May 2.—The Common Council today instructed the City Attorney and Special Council to commence suit against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company and the American Bonding Company for $9823.07, the amount of the defalcation of ex-City Treasurer McGeoghegan, for whom they were surety. This action was taken upon the request of Mayor Worswick, who said these companies "realizing that a city election was pending, were taking means to procure a reduction of the amount of the legal demand against them."

PRESIDENT'S HOLD IS SURE.

By Far the Largest Number Have Been Instructed.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon for Vice-President—Chairmen.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The President now has more than a majority of the Republican National Convention delegates instructed for his nomination. There are 988 delegates in convention, of which 644 have been selected. Of this number, 508 have been instructed for the President, and four-fifths of the remaining delegates are known to be favorable to him, but are uninstructed, because it is not the custom of their districts to instruct.

FORCING "UNCLE JOE."

VICE-PRESIDENCY LOOMS UP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is every indication that Hon. Joseph Cannon, Speaker of the House of Representatives, has been forced into the realization of the fact that he is likely to be nominated for Vice-President at the Chicago convention in June, and that he has modified his picturesque objection to accepting such a nomination. This is understood to be one of the results of the meeting at the White House last night, which was attended by Speaker Cannon, Senators Aldrich, Spooner, Hale, Platt of Connecticut, Lodge and Allison, and Representative Hemenway of Indiana, and Secretary Cortelyou of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Early last week, Republican leaders seemed to come to a realization of the fact that the candidacy of Senator Fairbanks of Indiana for Vice-President was lacking in some elements of strength and that it surely was losing force through the inactivity of Mr. Fairbanks himself. So in spite of repeated declarations of Mr. Cannon that he would not accept the nomination, but would rise in convention and decline it, his name was brought out again, and again it was received with even more favor than when it was first mentioned some time ago. At the same time, there was renewed talk of nominating Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, now Secretary of the Treasury.

There was so much talk in the inner circles about these two men that, Saturday afternoon, Mr. Cannon and Mr. Shaw had a long conference at the Treasury Department regarding the Vice-Presidential nomination, and immediately discovered that Mr. Shaw dislikes the idea of accepting the nomination almost as strongly as Mr. Cannon does. This conference was followed by one at the White House last night. Whatever happened at that conference, the Cannon boom today is in full swing.

Mr. Cannon's friends in Washington today admit that the Speaker has been brought to a full realization of the responsibility that he owes to the party in the matter of the Vice-Presidency, and they also admit that he has weakened materially in his objection to accepting the place, if the nomination comes to him at Chicago.

One authority, in speaking of the matter today, said: "The Vice-Presidential nomination on the Republican ticket lies between Speaker Cannon and Secretary Shaw, with the probabilities exceedingly strong in favor of Mr. Cannon. The fact that Mr. Cannon will probably get the nomination is exceedingly pleasing to Secretary Shaw, who believes that Mr. Cannon will be a tower of strength to the party in the Middle West, and that his nomination will make Illinois and Indiana certainly Republican. It is a little too early to say Senator Fairbanks is entirely out of the race, but it comes to about that."

Incidentally, it may be noted that several prominent men who have visited the Treasury Department this morning came away wearing Cannon buttons, which had been placed on the lapels of their coats by Leslie M. Shaw.

REPUBLICAN SUB-COMMITTEE.

Another thing that was talked over at last night's conference was the meeting of the sub-committee of the National Republican Committee, to be held in Washington this week. This sub-committee has charge of making arrangements for the Chicago convention. It was called last week to be held Thursday, but this morning, for some unexplained reason, telegrams were sent out by Elmer Dover, acting secretary of the committee, calling a meeting for Wednesday. At this meeting, the temporary and permanent chairmen of the Chicago convention will be decided upon.

Among the men who have been most prominently talked about for the last few months for the chairmanship of the National Republican Committee are ex-Gov. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts; Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Gov. Murphy of New Jersey; ex-Secretary Cornelius E. Bliss of New York; Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania; Senator Scott of West Virginia; Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire and Representative Babcock of Wisconsin. Of this number there may be eliminated from consideration all but Senators Lodge and Penrose, and possibly Representative Babcock, whose long experience as manager of Congressional campaigns would make him a valuable man in charge of a Presidential campaign. Mr. Babcock was at the White House today, and talked with the President.

FAVORS BRIEF PLATFORM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Washington correspondent of the New York World quotes the President as saying: "The platform must be short, incisive, decisive, precise and concise." The President said this to Republican leaders who went to the White House last night.

News comes from Paris of the sudden death of Miss Evelyn Dorothy Willoughby of New York City and California. Miss Willoughby was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Burridge Willoughby and was attending school in Paris, where they had gone to live for the winter. She was engaged to Frank Vontesmar of Chicago, and their wedding was to have taken place June 22. Vontesmar has left Chicago for Paris.

SEARCH FOR LOST MINE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Years ago, John C. Hawley discovered a gold mine near the scene of the Mountain Meadow massacre. The strike was so rich that the Mormons conspired to kill Hawley and secure possession. Hawley escaped with his wife to Arizona, where he died recently. Before expiring, he gave Frederick Zade a rough map of the location, and a search is now being made for the lost mine.

Ringl was caught beneath the machine and killed before help could be secured.

NATIONAL CHRISTIAN PARTY.

MAKES GOLDEN RULE PLATFORM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—The National Committee and the delegates to the national convention of the National Christian party of the United States, which is to nominate a ticket for the next Presidential election, resumed its session today.

The platform, entitled "In Jesus's Name," was adopted tonight, after much discussion. It declares that "the platform and purpose of the Christian party is and shall be to work and stand for union in His name for the fulfillment of God's law through direct legislation of the people governed by the Golden Rule, regardless of sex, creed or color." War is opposed by the party, and mob violence is condemned. Government ownership of coal mines and public utilities is favored.

SOLID AGAINST HEARST.

STOCKTON DEMOCRATS "ANTI."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, May 2.—The Stockton Democrats tonight, in a mass meeting, nominated nine delegates to the State convention, who are against Hearst for President. The only avowed advocate of Hearst who was before the meeting was ex-Mayor George Catts, a popular man, but he was beaten for delegate-at-large by F. D. Nicol, who was not present.

The leaders declare that the delegation is solid against Hearst. The nominees must be elected at the primary election tomorrow. The county outside of Stockton has eight delegates and most of them are anti-Hearst.

Montana Solid for Parker.

HELENA (Mont.) May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Montana will send an instructed Parker delegation to St. Louis. A prominent Democratic politician is authority for this statement. Senator Clark, who is opposed to the candidacy of Hearst, will head the delegation.

THE REGULARS BEATEN.

Contest in Jonathan Club Results in Triumph of Conservative Ticket.

The annual election at the Jonathan Club last night set a pace which the primaries today will have hard work to equal. It was the hottest argument in the history of the social organization, and yet good fellowship and friendly feeling ruled throughout. It was a victory for the "Conservative" ticket, which got 150 ballots against 40 for the "Regular" ticket.

The seven directors elected were Henry E. Huntington, 260 votes; Ferd K. Rule, 203; George H. Stewart, 257; N. Bonfilio, 261; Robert Wankowski, 242; Charles H. White, 255, and F. B. Silverwood, 176. On the "Regular" ticket J. B. Neville received 92 votes and L. J. C. Spruance 79, but both of these had declined to run, as had Robert Wankowski.

The directors organized as follows: H. E. Huntington, president; G. H. Stewart, first vice-president; Robert Wankowski, second vice-president; N. Bonfilio, treasurer, and Charles H. White, secretary.

After the announcement of the result and a unanimous vote of thanks to the retiring board of directors, C. E. de Camp presented an amendment to Article 3, Section 1, of the by laws, which provided that the Nominating Committee nominate fifteen members instead of seven, from which list the seven receiving the highest votes be elected, and further provided that it be not necessary for the names of any members wishing to run for the directorate to be posted seven days before the election. This amendment, after extended discussion, led by Theodore Martin, was voted down. Then an attempt was made to have fifteen names placed on the regular ticket instead of seven. This also failed. Several members freely expressed the opinion that under the present provision of the by laws the Nominating Committee is enabled to continue the same directors in office year after year unless a fight is made. But it was shown that the by laws provide that any opposition ticket may be presented if posted seven days before the election.

The meeting was preceded by a banquet, at which 156 members were present.

SHAW SENDS MR. ROBERTS.

Special Agent Will Examine Public Building Site.

Full Instructions Coming to This City for Him.

Angus M. Cannon, Jr., Admits Perjuring Himself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of the Treasury Shaw said tonight that he probably would be unable to go to Los Angeles to examine the public building site there. Secretary Shaw is busy in Washington for the present, attending to the Panama Canal payments and other matters. Tomorrow morning, Special Agent Roberts of the Treasury Department, who is stationed at San Francisco, will be ordered by telegraph to Los Angeles, and at the same time that telegram is sent to him, a letter will be mailed to him at Los Angeles, giving him full instructions as to his mode of procedure and the general condition of things.

Assistant Secretary Taylor will send the telegram and write the letter, and he said that Mr. Roberts is one of the best men the Treasury Department has in its employ for this work.

ABRAM CANNON—HIS WEDDING.

TALE OF THE HIGH SEAS OFF LOS ANGELES COAST.

Angus M. Cannon, Jr., Goes to Washington to Admit that He Perjured Himself in Informing Gentiles that President Joseph F. Smith Had Performed Plural Marriages.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Angus M. Cannon, Jr., son of Angus M. Cannon, former president of the Salt Lake stake of the Mormons in Utah, traveled from Salt Lake to Washington to inform the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections that he had perjured himself in informing prominent Gentiles in Utah that President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon Church had performed plural marriage ceremonies. Cannon, Jr., was a witness in the Smoot investigation. He said that he had told false stories in regard to President Smith marrying his cousin, Abram H. Cannon, to Lillian Hamlin, a fourth wife. His only excuse was that he had been drinking, and conceived the idea to tell such a story would be a good joke on the Gentile referred to, "as anything against the Mormons tickled them all over."

Members of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections received a communication several days ago from E. B. Critchlow of Salt Lake to the effect that Cannon would go on the stand and testify that Abram H. Cannon and Lillian Hamlin were married on the high seas between Los Angeles and Catalina Island and that President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon Church performed the ceremony. Critchlow stated that Angus Cannon had said that he was present and witnessed the ceremony. Consequently, arrangements were made for the meeting today.

After the witness had been sworn, he was questioned by Taylor, counsel for the prosecution, in regard to the incident. The witness said that he knew Abram H. Cannon intimately, as they had been associated together in business. He said that Abram had three wives in the family at the time of his death of 1896, but that there was another wife he knew about. He gave the names of the three wives as Anna M. Jenkins, Wilhelmina Cannon, sister of the witness, and Mary E. Croxall. Abram Cannon had children by all of them.

The witness stated that Wilson is well known in Salt Lake, is cashier of the Commercial National Bank, and a gentleman of high standing.

In response to questions answered in the briefest admissions, it was drawn from the witness that he had told Wilson within the last two weeks that, in 1896, in Los Angeles, ten or twelve people chartered a vessel for Catalina Island, and that in the party, in addition to himself, were Joseph Smith and one of his wives; Abram H. Cannon and his wife, Wilhelmina, sister to the witness; a man named Langford and Lillian Hamlin.

After the boat had gone some distance from Los Angeles, members of the party, with two or three exceptions, retired to the cabin, and there Joseph F. Smith married Cannon and Lillian Hamlin. The witness said that after his sister, Cannon's first wife, heard what was going on, she "got angry and left the cabin."

The witness, under direct examination, said that late in the day on which he had told the story to Wilson, he met Critchlow and Wilson and he repeated substantially the same story.

When asked how he happened to tell the story in regard to the marriage, the witness said: "Well, I had read the testimony which Mr. Smith gave in Washington, and I told Mr. Wilson that I knew that Smith did know of a polygamous marriage since the manifesto, because he had performed one himself."

Taylor drew from the witness the fact that he also had telephoned to Perry Heath and made an appointment at the office of the Salt Lake Tribune, at which he told Heath the same story he had related to Critchlow and Wilson. He declared that he had told no other person in regard to the marriage, and that he had seen no one except Critchlow, and that was on the day he had received the subpoena.

"Who told you of the ceremony on the high seas?"

"My wife said she was satisfied it took place just as related."

The witness, in reply to questions by Senator McComas, said he had been drinking when he told about the marriage on the boat, and he did it as a joke on Critchlow and Wilson, who wanted to see the Mormons get the worst of it.

Chairman Burrows took the witness severely to task for his failure to go to Wilson and Critchlow and tell them he had told an untruth. Cannon had but one excuse, and that was that he had been drinking, and was ill up to the time he went to the station to go to Washington. A recess was taken.

SMOOT ASKED HIM IN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—At the afternoon session, Cannon said he arrived here about 8 o'clock this morning, and he met Senator Smoot soon afterward. He said he spent about thirty minutes in all at Senator Smoot's office. Cannon said he met Smoot coming out of the building. The Senator invited him to his office, where they talked over what Cannon was to testify to at the hearing.

At the afternoon hearing, it was brought out that the wife who accompanied Cannon to Los Angeles was his third wife, and not the sister of the witness.

The hearing was adjourned subject to the call of Chairman Burrows.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Postmaster at Fort Bidwell.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William D. Broaddus was today appointed postmaster at Fort Bidwell, Modoc county.

Resignation of Griggsby.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Senator McCumber of North Dakota today presented to the President the resignation of Melvin Griggsby, United States Attorney for the Nome district in Alaska. The resignation has been accepted to take effect July 1. No intimation is given as to Griggsby's successor.

Release of Lynchehaun.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The United States Supreme Court today affirmed the decision of the United States Circuit Court releasing Thomas Walsh, alias Lynchehaun, the Irishman arrested in Indiana and for whom extradition was sought by the British authorities. Lynchehaun was charged with murder.

Missouri Investigation Closes.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—That no further proceedings be taken is the recommendation of the court of inquiry appointed to investigate the explosion in the after turret of the Missouri, April 13. The court finds the explosion was due to a "flare back" caused by an inexplicable combination of oxygen with certain usually latent gases in smokeless powder. The officers and crew of the Missouri not only are relieved from all responsibility for the accident, but are warmly commended for the bravery they showed after its occurrence in rescuing the victims.

MAGNITUDE EXAGGERATED.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Third Vice-President Kendrick of the Santa Fé system issued the following statement tonight relative to the machinists' strike which was declared on the Santa Fé today:

"In view of the exaggerated statements that have been made regarding the probable magnitude of the strike of the Santa Fé system that has come about by order of the executive officers of the International Association of Machinists, it seems proper for me to say that the full force of machinists, machinists' helpers and machinists' apprentices, including non-union men employed January 1 of this year on the entire system was only 2315. The men on the Coast lines, numbering over one-third of this class of labor employed by the Santa Fé, struck a week ago, and their places have been filled.

"The shops of the company were not opened today because we had received information from three independent sources to the effect that a strike had been ordered to occur this morning. When they are reopened, as they probably will be tomorrow morning, the magnitude of the strike can be definitely ascertained. Within a week or ten days the company will have a full force in all shops.

"The number of men directly controlled by the machinists' union is not large, and the labor market is in such condition just now as to make it perfectly practicable to obtain plenty of skilled labor in any department."

Beveridge's Spell-binders.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Beveridge has arranged with fourteen of the leading Republican United States Senators to speak in Indiana during the campaign. The list includes Allison, Lodge, Spooner, Quarles, Nelson, Clapp, Dolliver, Foraker, Alger, Culom, Dillingham, Burnham and McComas.

Doom of the Elephant.

The recent landing in Brooklyn of 144 tusks of ivory, from one of the Italian ships, is held to signify the death of seventy-two elephants—at least that number, for others, wounded, may have crawled into the jungle and died, out of sight of the hunters. It would seem that the elephant is as surely doomed as his ancester, or cousin, the great mammoth, was doomed by climatic and geologic change, and, not impossibly, by the persecutions of the man of the stone age. In our country we have seen within a few years the practical extinction of the buffalo—the last of the Yellowstone herd was shot a few days ago by pot hunters, who succeeded in escaping from the park without interference by the troops—and the antelope, that used to range the plains and foothills in thousands, have also disappeared from most of the Western States. As everyone knows, the game laws in thinly-settled countries are mere "bluff," and violation of them is a daily practice. In civilized New Jersey the attempt to stop the disgusting and brutalizing slaughter of harmless and helpless pigeons, released from traps, has failed, because of the pernicious activity of gun manufacturers and shooting clubs.—[Brooklyn Eagle.

Personal Risks of War.

The introduction of rifles of greater precision has lessened the percentage of men hit in proportion to the number of shots fired, because firing, as a rule, now begin at a far longer range, and the troops are taught to take advantage of cover. In the Franco-German War one bullet in 400 was mortal, but in the Boer War the proportion was only one to 740. The total loss also is less. In 1870 the French losses were 20 per cent., but in the Boer War the English lost only 5 per cent., and the Boers 6½ per cent. At Waterloo the allies lost 22 per cent., and the French 34, the average losses in the great battles of the last century being put down at 15 per cent. for the victors and 37 per cent. for the vanquished. In the eighteenth century the losses were much higher, the defeated, of course, always losing more than the winners.—[London Sketch.

THE FAR EAST.

mimura's misfortune in missing the Vladivostok fleet. It seems from here that it was a pity that the Vice-Admiral did not stay outside of the port, instead of trying to find the Russians in the open sea."

RUSSIANS ENTRENCHING ON THE LIAO RIVER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TIEN-TSIN, May 2.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Two hundred Russians are entrenching themselves on the Liao River, three miles from Sin Min Tung, employing Chinese laborers. Sin Min Tung is two miles from Koupang Tse, a permanent Russian camp. A detachment of 180 men is patrolling the railroad line.

CONFUSION ON THE YALU.

The exact extent and location of the movements along the lower Yalu River are somewhat obscured by the confusion of geographic names. Kuliencheng, which was the main objective of the Japanese attack, the spelling of which is given in the Russian dispatches as Turin Chen and in the Tokio reports as Chiu Tien Cheng, is west of the bank of the Yalu, a few miles north of Antung. The preliminary operations which resulted in the Japanese occupation of Kosan, or Khussan, also took place on the west bank of the Yalu, thus enabling this force to move down from the north in conjunction with the main Japanese attack, delivered Sunday morning against Kuliencheng. The fall of this strategically important place made the holding of Antung, nearly opposite Wiju, across the Yalu, impossible, and caused the Russians to burn and abandon the town.

It is evident that the fighting has been confined to the Yalu estuary, which is now in the hands of the Japanese. Feng Wang Cheng, to which the Russians have fallen back, is some thirty or forty miles northwest of Antung, inside or west of the famous Willow Palisade, which was once the boundary of Manchuria.

This point also controls the famous Peking road, the great caravan and trade route running via Liao Yang, Feng Wang Cheng and Antung, and connecting the Chinese capital with Korea.

RUSSIANS FELL BACK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 2.—A dispatch to the Central News from Seoul says that after the Japanese charge which resulted in the occupation of the Russian lines at Chiu Cheng, the Russians fell back in confusion. The Japanese, the dispatch continued, have now secured a firm hold on the Manchurian side of the Yalu.

JAPANESE BATTERIES WERE TOO STRONG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2, 4:36 p. m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, the Associated Press was informed that, beyond the fact of the retreat of the Russians before the overwhelming superiority of the Japanese on the Yalu River, no details have been received since the report of Gen. Zassalitch, commander of the Second Siberian Army Corps, yesterday, of the retirement from Kuliencheng to Antung. It is quite possible that the loss on both sides on the week's fighting may reach the figures given by the Japanese, as the reserves were not brought up to support the Russian position at Kuliencheng, where the fighting was the heaviest.

The Russians made a special effort to hold as long as possible the heights of Cho San, on an island opposite Kuliencheng, whence their guns commanded a considerable stretch of the river to the south, but a Japanese battery on the hill above Wiju dominated the position which the Russians eventually were forced to relinquish, thus losing the key to the river. The desperate character of the struggle there may have been due to the necessity for gaining time for the withdrawal of the Russian detachments above and below.

Gen. Zassalitch was in command of the entire force on the Yalu, which extended over a distance of thirty miles, with reserves fifteen miles back. The whole number, according to the best information obtainable, did not exceed 17,000 men. What was the actual force engaged is not known at present, though probably it was not more than 5000 men, if it was so large. No confirmation has yet been received of the reported capture of twenty-eight quick-firing guns, or of the wounding of Gen. Zassalitch and Gen. Kashtalinsky, The latter in command of the Third Division, East Siberian troops, at the Yalu River, or the burning of Antung. It is confirmed that a village of thatched huts was set on fire by a shell.

The statement that the Russians have fallen back as far as Feng Wang Cheng is declared to be untrue. The advance has retired and will continue to retire before the main army of the enemy, according to the Russian programme, but it will keep in constant touch with the enemy, and skirmishing of a more or less serious character is expected as Gen. Kuroki advances. It is considered very necessary to always know where the main army of the enemy is. The General Staff believes Gen. Kuroki's forward march on Feng Wang Cheng will be accompanied by landings at Ta Tung Kau, at the head of Korea Bay, and not far from the mouth of the Yalu river, and other places along the coast as far as Taku Shan, under the protection of warships. These troops can be kept in touch with Gen. Kuroki's left wing. It might also be easier to get up a portion of the guns from places down the coast than draw them all up the mountains toward Toitin Pass from the Yalu. The Japanese are expected to try to turn the Russian position at Feng Wang Cheng.

At the army headquarters here there is not the slightest evidence that the Russians consider they have sustained a reverse. The crossing of the Yalu by the enemy was taken as a matter of course, and as part of the programme. The losses are regarded as pawns in the real game, which is to follow.

ADOPTED OLD TACTICS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2, 5:20 p. m.—It is the subject of general remark here that the Japanese, on crossing the Yalu, adopted almost identically the tactics they followed during the Chinese-Japanese War, forcing the passage at the exact place they did 1895.

The Emperor is now receiving the war news at Tsarkoe Selo (fifteen miles south of St. Petersburg,) a special wire having been run into the new palace there. The Dowager Empress and Grand Duke Michael, the heir presumptive, have gone to Gatchina, near Tsarkoe Selo. Except for the big May review of troops on the Champs Mars, the imperial family will not return to St. Petersburg again until they go to Peterhoff, on the Gulf, at the end of June.

MADE THE ADVANCE IN FOUR DIVISIONS,

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, May 2, 11 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] After the Japanese carried the line of hills extending from Kuliencheng to Yoshoka, on the right bank of the Iho River, yesterday, the Russians made a second stand on a hill northwest of Kuliencheng, but they began retreating at ten minutes before 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Twelfth Japanese Division advanced toward Tah Lang Fang, which is due west of the village of Makao; the division of the Imperial Guards advanced toward Hamatan, which is west of Kuliencheng, while the Second Division moved down the river, with Antung as its objective. The general reserve advanced over the main road to Liao Yang, which runs in a westerly direction from the Yalu River.

At 6 o'clock yesterday evening, the Japanese army held a line extending from Antung northwesterly to Laukuku and running from there in a northeasterly direction to Lishukau.

At Hamatan, where the Iho River makes its first bend to the west, the Japanese succeeded in enveloping the Russians on three sides. At this place, after sharp fighting at close range, the Japanese captured twenty Russian guns with their horses, carriages and ammunition, and more than twenty officers and many men. The Russian troops at Hamatan retreated toward Feng Huan Cheng.

A Russian officer who was taken prisoner said that the effect of the Japanese artillery fire Saturday and Sunday was enormous. Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch, commander of the Second Siberian Army Corps, and Maj.-Gen. Kashtalinsky, commander of the Third East Siberian Rifle Brigade, were wounded by shells. A Russian lieutenant-colonel was captured. It is estimated that the Russian casualties amounted to over 800.

Gen. Kuroki and his headquarters entered Kuliencheng at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening. Gen. Kuroki has telegraphed that the Imperial Prince and the officers of his command are in high spirits, and that all the troops are in excellent spirits.

WAR BULLETINS FROM MANY POINTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SHANGHAI, May 2.—[By Asiatic Cable.] As a result of the occupation of Antung by the Japanese, United States Consul James W. Davidson, who has been assigned to Antung, probably will proceed to his post immediately. Mr. Davidson has been granted an exequatur by the Chinese government, but the Russians, having occupied and fortified Antung, thought it inadvisable for him to proceed there. The Japanese authorities have indicated that they have no objection to Mr. Davidson's going to Antung at once.

When it was learned that Mr. Davidson and the other American consuls assigned to posts in Manchuria, could not proceed to their respective places because of the war, the State Department decided to find temporary employment for them in the Far East, and it was announced from Washington, April 8, that Mr. Davidson would be sent to Newchwang to serve as assistant to Mr. Miller, the consul at that point.

REPORTS TO SHANGHAI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SHANGHAI, May 2.—Reports received here of the fighting on the Yalu River place the Russian casualties at 800. They had also twenty-one officers and eighteen machine guns captured. The Japanese had 700 casualties.

[There is some discrepancy in the reports of the number of machine guns captured by the Japanese from the Russians. A dispatch from Tokio, dated Sunday, gave the number at twenty-eight; another dispatch from Tokio, dated today, giving further details of the fighting puts the number at twenty, and the Shanghai report places it at eighteen.—Associated Press.]

RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP AGROUND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—The new Russian battleship Oriel, to which the finishing touches are being put, ran aground on a sand bank in the Neva yesterday. As difficulty is expected in refloating her, an ice breaker has been sent from Cronstadt to assist the tugs in pulling her off.

REPAIRED INJURED VESSELS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MOSCOW, May 2.—A Port Arthur correspondent reports that the repairs to the injured battleships have almost been completed. The protected cruiser Pallada is out of dock, and work on the battleship Retvizan is advancing. The divers who have been searching the wreck of the battleship, Petropavlovsk in the hope of recovering the body of Vice-Admiral Makaroff have practically abandoned their efforts.

GERMAN PRESS OPINION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, May 2.—The evening newspapers minimize the importance of the Japanese victory, which they aver is what German military men expected all along. The National Zeitung thinks the engagement proves that previous estimates of the Russian strength on the Yalu were greatly exaggerated.

JAPANESE LEGATION VERSION.

SUNDAY'S FIGHT ALONG YALU.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The Japanese legation today received the following telegrams from Tokio:

"Gen. Kuroki, commanding the first army, reports from Chiu Lien Chang that on May 1 the second and twelfth divisions and the Imperial Guard forming the first army corps, advanced, notwithstanding stout resistance on the part of the enemy, by three roads, driving the enemy before them, and at 8 o'clock p.m. occupied a line extending from Antung to Liu Shue Kon.

"The Imperial Guard surrounded the enemy on three sides and after a severe fight captured twenty guns, with horses and carriages, and more than twenty officers and many men. The General Reserve Corps advanced by the Liao Yang road. The enemy was comprised of the whole third division and the Twenty-Second and Twenty-Fourth regiments of the Sixth Infantry Division of Sharpshooters, and Gen. Mistchenko's cavalry brigade, with about forty guns and light machine guns. The enemy fled toward Feng Huan Cheng.

"Our casualties will not exceed at the most, 700. Twenty-eight quick-firing guns and large quantities of ammunition were captured. Our heavy field guns were very effective. A Russian officer who was taken prisoner says that both commanders of the army corps and the division were wounded, and that the Russian casualties exceeded 800.

"Admiral Kamimura's fleet arrived at Gensan April 26 without having effected the intended bombardment of Vladivostok, owing to the thick fog continually prevailing. Learning that the Kinshiu Maru was overdue, the fleet left port on the 27th, in search of the vessel and again proceeded to near Vladivistok, but the incessant fog prevented any further operations, and the fleet returned to Gensan.

FOG OFF VLADIVOSTOK. SQUADRONS PASS EACH OTHER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, May 2, noon.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Vice-Admiral Kamimura, who is in command of the Japanese squadron which has been operating recently against Vladivostok, has sent in a report from Gensan, Korea, dated Sunday, in which he says that the impenetrable fog twice forced the abandonment of the attack upon Vladivostok and twice spared the Russian squadron a sea fight.

While Kamimura was steaming north the first time, he passed the Russian squadron bound south on the raid to Gensan, which resulted in the sinking of the Japanese merchant steamer Goyo Maru and the transport Kinshiu Maru. The Japanese and Russian squadrons must have passed very close to each other, for the Japanese were conscious of the presence of the enemy. When Kamimura was compelled to suspend his attack on Vladivostok, he moved to the southward and again passed the Russians on their way north, after the Gensan raid.

As soon as Kamimura returned to the Korean coast, he learned that the Kinshiu Maru, was missing, and immediately returned to the north in search and pursuit. He found three of the boats belonging to the Kinshiu Maru floating at sea. He then detached some cruisers from his squadron, and ordered them to search certain inlets in the vicinity of Nanwa. These vessels discovered some Russian mines at Izumi, and exploded them.

Vice-Admiral Kamimura closes his report with saying that the continuance of the fog since Thursday has prevented a renewal of the attack."

BUSINESS.

A larger volume of business was transacted on the Stock Exchange yesterday than the average last week, and fluctuations were wider. The Chicago wheat market opened stronger than on Saturday, but the close was weak, with July at 84⅝.

HEARST IMPOSSIBLE.

It is concededly the legal right of any citizen who is not under indictment for crime to aspire to any office within the gift of the people; but a decent regard for the eternal fitness of things restrains the average citizen from aspiring to positions for which he is utterly unfitted. There are exceptions. There are persons so destitute of common sense and intelligence that they are unable to realize their own unfitness for any position of trust or honor. Without mincing words or beating around the bush in any manner, it may be said that William Randolph Hearst is plainly a person of this character. His brazenly avowed candidacy for the office of President of the United States is an affront to the American people. He has not a single qualification which entitles him to aspire to that high honor. His candidacy is absolutely without reasonable excuse or rational defense.

Hearst, is, of course, an impossible candidate; that is to say, there is not the least possibility that he can secure the nomination at the hands of the Democratic party (which is not yet quite ready to commit suicide.) If it were possible for him to secure the Democratic nomination, his election would be an absolute impossibility. Even if it were possible for Hearst to secure from the Republican National Convention a nomination for the Presidency by acclamation (heaven save the mark!) he could not be elected. The common sense and common decency of the American people, even in so unthinkable a contingency, would save the nation from the superlative disgrace of placing honors so high upon shoulders so unworthy and so incapable. While "measures before men" is a good political maxim, there are limits to its applicability.

The national Democratic party could not commit a more egregious blunder than to nominate Hearst for President. If that party has even a remote chance of success in the coming election (which is doubtful) it would sacrifice that chance beyond hope of redemption by placing in nomination a person so notoriously incompetent and disreputable as William Randolph Hearst. Such action would hopelessly divide the party, and the schism which it would create would be so deep and so broad that it could not be healed in years, if ever. The dissensions which Bryanism has wrought in Democratic councils would be as a mere love-feast compared to the irreconcilable hostilities which would be aroused by the nomination of Hearst.

When first the Hearst candidacy was announced, it was met, in all parts of the land, with smiles of contemptuous incredulity. Few persons regarded it seriously. It was looked upon, rather, as another freakish bid for notoriety by a man conspicuously given to exploits of that nature. But the persistency with which the promotion of the alleged Hearst "boom" has been carried on, the lavish use of money to secure "indorsements," and the zeal displayed by Hearst's hired henchmen in different sections of the country, indicate that in the Hearst camp, at least, the candidacy of that individual is not regarded as a joke. Hearst evidently takes himself seriously, however ludicrous his exploits may appear to the disinterested observer.

If Hearst could command anything like a respectable following, his candidacy would be a menace to the welfare of the country. But as he cannot command such a following by any possible combination, his candidacy is comparatively harmless. It is none the less a disgusting exhibition of brazen effrontery, and a vulgar flaunting of wealth as an inducement to political preferment. It deceives nobody. Hearst without his millions would be the merest nonentity imaginable. With his millions, exploited with strict regard to spectacular effect, he succeeds in attracting some attention, as a matter of course, and in adding somewhat to the proverbial gayety of nations; but he could not buy the Presidency of the United States if his wealth were a hundredfold greater than it is.

No political party possessed of self-respect or a desire for success would dare to place in nomination such a candidate as Hearst for the office of President. The idea of asking or expecting a considerable proportion of the people to go to the polls and cast their ballots for such a candidate is repugnant to every conception of civic pride and duty. The people are entitled to the privilege of voting for a man of character, intelligence and attainment for the office of President. It would be an affront to the intelligence and conscience of the people to put forward, by formal nomination, for this highest of all public honors, a man who is a moral pervert and an intellectual pigmy.

The Democratic party of California will show its good sense and political wisdom by refusing to indorse the indefensible candidacy of Hearst in the national convention. If the California delegation should vote solidly for Hearst in the convention, such action would be equivalent to throwing away the vote of the State; for it may be set down as one of the absolute certainties that, whatever blunders may be committed by the National Democratic Convention, it will not commit the superlative and irretrievable blunder of nominating William Randolph Hearst for the Presidency of the United States.

SETTLE IT RIGHT.

The "three days' grace" given by the San Francisco carmen before finally determining the strike question, cannot eliminate the issue. It must be met, sooner or later; the sooner, the better for San Francisco.

The United Railroads cannot consistently or with advantage to themselves retreat from their position, for by so doing they would admit the power of their employés to interfere in the management of the business. Any compromise at this time would merely defer the inevitable struggle, for if unionism is given a foot it takes a yard, and today's issue will continue to arise until unionism is made to understand that it cannot run other men's business.

The carmen declare they will not surrender; but the present temper of the United Railroads indicates that the men must either surrender or fight. The men, apparently realizing the desperate nature of the impending struggle and the probability of unionism's defeat, do not appear very anxious to strike; but their "leaders," who have no regard for the suffering of their men so long as they can continue agitations, appear determined to precipitate trouble. This is evidenced by their resentment of the interference of the Mayor in an alleged attempt to bring peace.

There seems to be but one way in which Schmitz can accomplish anything. If he will positively and effectually guarantee protection to life and property in so far as that protection can be given by the entire police force of the city, his action may bring about the surrender of the men. Even the "leaders" would probably hesitate to go into a conflict if they were assured that violence would not be permitted. There is small probability that Schmitz will do this. He is trying to ride two horses at the same time. He poses as "mediator" to bring peace, in order that he may appear in a more favorable light before the good citizens of San Francisco; and he poses also as the friend of the carmen—two positions that cannot possibly be reconciled.

But if the truth were known, it is more than likely that Schmitz, who is at best a cheap demagogue, is making a grand-stand play in an effort to secure to the strikers some greater measure of public sympathy, by enabling them to proclaim that they used every means in their power to avoid a conflict. The good people of San Francisco are too familiar with unionism and its methods to be blinded by any such subterfuge.

If Schmitz were sincere; if he really desires to prevent the public inconvenience which might result from a tie-up of the street-car lines; if he means to do what is best for the workingman, regardless of the interests of the agitators and "leaders," he will guarantee to the United Railroads and their employés full protection of life and property. With this guarantee carried into effect, the public will suffer no inconvenience, for the railroads will supply plenty of men to run their cars, safely and on schedule time. Such action by the Mayor would either so discourage the carmen that they would surrender, or it would bring about their defeat in event of a strike. Either would be for the best interests of the men themselves, for it would be the beginning of the end of the domination of the walking delegate, the agitator and the selfish, merciless "leader"—and not until that domination is ended can the laboring men hope to secure the real benefits to which they aspire.

Nothing can be gained by deferring the crisis. Nothing is ever settled until it is settled right—and this question will not be settled right in San Francisco or elsewhere until it is settled on the basis of "no interference by employés in the conduct of the business of their employers." "The man who makes the pay roll must run the shop."

GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION.

A great deal has been said by labor unionists and their apologists in denunciation of "government by injunction." The phrase was first used, if memory serves correctly, by Eugene V. Debs, at the time he was serving a term in the Cook county jail, at Chicago, for having violated an order of the courts during the extensive railway strike which he engineered in 1894. Since that time the phrase has been bandied about with a great deal of flippancy, by Debs and others of his ilk, in an effort to create an impression in the public mind that the courts have used and are using the writ of injunction as an instrument of oppression. A strong effort has been made by the union-labor lobby in Washington to induce Congress to enact a law forbidding the issuance of injunctions against striking workmen, thus opening the door to unrestrained rioting in labor disputes.

The writ of injunction is one of the oldest and one of the most necessary of the discretionary powers exercised by the courts for the enforcement of law. There was never any complaint against it until labor-unionists discovered that it interfered with their "right" to employ violence in furtherance of their lawless proceedings. Injunctions are never issued to restrain or prevent compliance with the law. They are issued solely to prevent violations of the law. No person who obeys the law need have any fear of injunctions. They apply only to those who violate the law, or who contemplate violating it.

"Government by injunction"—what is it? We have a case of it right here "in our midst." It is a typical case, differing in no material degree from other cases of its kind, which have been denounced in terms most extravagant by Gompers, Mitchell, Debs and other apologists for union lawlessness. The matter is worth a little study, in order that we may learn whether the writ of injunction, when employed in industrial controversies, is the instrument of wrong and oppression that it has been represented.

Judge Wellborn, of the United States Circuit Court in this city has issued a writ of injunction against the striking machinists of the Santa Fé Railway Company. The order issued by the court in this case is just as "oppressive" as other similar orders issued by other courts in like cases; but it is no more so. The persons enjoined are not restrained from performing any lawful act. The court's order does not take from them any of the cherished rights of citizenship, nor deprive them of any of their legitimate liberties, as individuals. It merely enjoins the persons named in the complaint, and those acting at their instigation, from "interfering with the agents or representatives of complainant in the management, movement or operation of locomotives, cars, etc., in custody or control of complainant; in any manner tampering with or attempting to tamper with or injure any of its property, or in any manner entering upon its premises, engines, cars or shops unless authorized by the railroad company so to do, or to transact lawful business with it as a common carrier; or compelling or inducing or attempting to compel or induce by threats, intimidation, force or violence any employés of complainant to refuse to perform their duties, or to leave the company's service, or to keep prospective employés from entering said service."

Here we have the alpha and the omega of "government by injunction"—about as flagrant an example of the real, simon-pure article, perhaps, as can be found anywhere in the United States of America. Does a careful study of the above extract—which comprises the essential portion of Judge Wellborn's order—reveal anything oppressive, despotic, revolutionary or unjust? If so, wherein is the offense? Let those who condemn it point out, if they can, any portion of the restraining order which works hardship or injustice to any man or to any class of men.

Have the persons enjoined any right, in law or in justice, to interfere with the property of the complainants, or to perform any act which they are forbidden by the injunction to perform? Clearly not. How, then, are they oppressed? How are they subjected to injustice? A court order directing a certain man to refrain from committing a certain crime is of no force or effect unless the person enjoined intends to commit the crime mentioned. All the injunctions ever issued from all the courts of Christendom could not avail to harm or oppress an innocent man, contemplating no violation of the law, and mindful of the rights of other men.

Injunctions, since they have no effect against law-abiding persons, need not be feared by such persons. Those who are not law-abiding require and should have the restraining arm of the law to keep them from invading the rights of others. "Government by injunction" is in effect government by law; for the writ of injunction neither forbids the performance of an act that is legal nor sanctions the performance of an act that is illegal.

A Pennsylvania man on trial for threatening to kill a woman offered as justification some verses she had written to him. The "poems" were read in court, and in dismissing the case the judge severely arraigned the prisoner for limiting it to a mere threat.

Now that the law, by refusing to condone the running down of pedestrians and others, has made automobiling so tame, the rich "sports" of New York have been casting about for some new thrill and have decided to take up ballooning. W. Gould Brokaw has just ordered an elaborate flying machine from Santos-Dumont, and others are expected to follow his lead. In the light of the automobile's record thus far, it is safe to say that before long the birds will be devoutly wishing they were fishes.

An erudite phrenologist, who has been making a careful study of Russell Sage, demonstrates that he is a keen observer and a past master in his art by discovering the fact that "acquisitiveness is shown in every line of the face and hand," and that economy is "reflected in the drawn expression of the face and in the closeness with which the fingers fit together; there are no chinks between them that would allow the thinnest coin to slip through."

It is reported that survivors of the Variag and Koriets are being vigorously hugged and kissed (Hobsonized) by the women in Russia. Mr. Carnegie has not yet stated whether the "hero fund" is to be available in such cases, or whether this process is to be considered sufficient reward.

"Mormonism divides a family," we are told by a newspaper heading over a dispatch from Utah. If some of the testimony in the Smoot investigation is to be relied upon as correct, the average Mormon could divide his family and still have enough left to satisfy an ordinary man.

Judge Parker is credited with believing that Mr. Bryan will be "amenable to reason." The learned jurist must have become twisted in his interpretation of the meaning of certain words. "Reason" has never been considered synonymous with a club.

Nearly one-half of Germany's 55,000,000-ton potato crop is used for making alcohol to furnish motive power, it having been discovered that the good old-fashioned kind has a distinct tendency to remove the same from the human foot.

It was a foregone conclusion that the New York platform would not please Mr. Bryan; and that it did not is not surprising when it is remembered how little he was consulted regarding its construction.

The original Mrs. Wiggs has been dragged before a Louisville court charged with throwing a bucketful of slop over another lady of the Cabbage Patch. But that's another story.

The fact that Mr. Depew recently celebrated his seventieth birthday suggests the thought that he and many of his jokes might properly have held a joint celebration.

Regular weekly prayer meetings in Denver were recently devoted entirely to politics. But politics and unionism, as practiced in Colorado, require a different kind of treatment.

Now that Carnegie's $5,000,000 "hero fund" is assured, there ought to be an appreciable increase in the number of heroes, at least until the fund is exhausted.

THE PLAYHOUSES.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE. "The Crisis," from the well-known novel of that name, held the boards and filled the Grand Operahouse with a fashionable audience last night. The dramatic action is that of Winston Churchill, who, as everybody knows, also wrote the book from which the play is extracted. It is obviously the better way that the author of a book should be his own dramatizer, if it be that he has the talent of play writing, as well as the novel-writing talent. It is a fact, however, that few story tellers combine these two very distinct talents. Stevenson, the prince of story tellers, could not write a play, though he was ambitious to do so, and made many a brave effort in that direction. But when one has read "The Crisis" from the book and afterward has seen it as presented last night on a stage, one must, in all fairness, credit Churchill with the possession of a dual genius. The book is good, and the play is good. To be sure, it is only the heart of the book—the meat of it—that goes on the stage, but that is why the play is a success. All the numberless thrills of that thrilling tale of the most thrilling epoch in the history of our country, are concentrated into this stage version. It is not a great play, but it is a very pleasant play—clean, dashing, tender and sweet. The horror of war is kept in the background of it, and scarcely its shadow appears at all. But it lifts up the soul with the manliness of men, and the gentleness and truth of women.

Isabel Irving, who returns to Los Angeles, after an absence of several years, essays the leading rôle of Virginia Carvel. If it is part that belongs (to be frank about it) to some actress who is in the first flush of young womanhood, beautiful in face and figure, and with a high degree of charm and talent, Miss Irving appears to have all these qualifications except the one first named. One cannot help feeling disappointed that she is just playing she is a girl instead of really being one. But that she fully grasps the spirit of the character and does it great justice is not to be doubted.

Miss Irving also deserves both praise and thanks for having brought with her a company of exceptional capabilities. Wilfried North, who plays Stephen Brice, is a young romantic actor, whom it is a delight to look upon, as well as to hear. If any fault were to be found with him, it is that he speaks not so much like a Bostoner, which he should do, but rather like the typical Englishman, drawl and all. Charles Lamb and Thomas A. Hall, respectively, as Judge Whipple and Col. Carvel, portray their two elegant old gentlemen of such distinctly opposite types with a faithfulness and perfection immensely satisfying. Jacques Martin as Eliphalet Hopper, Edmour Rose as Clarence Colfax and Crosby Leonard as Carl Richter, all have important parts, which they carry off nobly. Besides these there is a whole lot of other young men and women who help things along very nicely.

The staging of the play, which is under the direction of James K. Hackett, a past master in that art, is beautifully done. Indeed, there is a satisfying consistency about everything, play, players, scenery and all. "The Crisis" continues at the Grand for two more evenings, with a Wednesday matinée.

BURBANK. The Baker Theater Company this week is said to be laboring under a handicap—and, in fact, it is laboring under several of them. The leading man has not yet arrived from New York, the ingenue has not a word to speak throughout the play, and last of all, their first offering is a revival of "Trilby," an ungrateful piece of dramatic composition for any aggregation to undertake.

However, the production is an entertaining one, and although it shows the leading members of the Baker forces a good ways outside their best, it is in the main a satisfactory offering. The last "Trilby" presentation at the Burbank was by the well-remembered Frawleys, with versatile Wilton Lackaye as Svengali.

First honors may be divided between our old acquaintance, William Bernard, Scott Cooper and Miss Rebecca Warren. Bernard's characterization, as the canny "Laird," was perhaps more suited to his crisp comedy than were any of the other parts to their impersonators. His heather-toned Scotch and abominable French created a delightful combination of delicate humor. Cooper's interpretation of Svengali, while not great, is forceful and sufficiently powerful to satisfactorily fill the Jewish musician's dark niche in the development of Du Maurier's pathetic tale. Miss Warren will be better, probably, in anything else that she may try. This does not mean that she is not a pleasing Trilby, but the droll, original grisette of the Latin quarter refuses to come out of the Du Maurier canvas to but few artists—women by nature eminently suited to the part. Miss Warren makes a sweet little woman out of Trilby—one whose heart is very tender and whose nature is very gentle, with a voice that is thoroughly winning in its pathetic pleading. It is not fair to judge Miss Warren by "Trilby," but she is well worth seeing in the role.

The rest of the Baker company acquit themselves excellently. In "An Enemy to the King," to be produced next week with stalwart Guy Standing in the principal role, their good qualities will doubtless shine out to more advantage.

ORPHEUM. Satisfaction was written on the faces of the throng of people which issued from the doors of this popular house last night, and with as varied and entertaining bill as is offered this week, it is hard to see how any other verdict than "good" could well be rendered. The Four Mortons, who seem to have the happy faculty of saying and doing things which would be hissed off the stage if presented by any other less wholesome team, received the welcome which is always accorded them, furnishing a half-hour's fun.

Ethel Levey received a regular ovation and it is just to say that it was deserved. There's a spontaniety about this clever woman's whole act which is refreshing, and when she refuses to respond to further encores one is almost ready to go home feeling that he has had his money's worth in this one turn. Her songs are all new and catchy, introducing a new one by her versatile husband. Then there are Tony Wilson and Heloise, who do a startling horizontal bar act, and Mlle. Amoros, who makes one wonder if there is a limit to her endurance and double-jointedness, while her clever assistant, Mlle. Charlotte, does some good tumbling.

Among the hold-overs Edmund Day & Co. are unquestionably the favorites, their clever little serio-comedy bringing the tears almost to the brimming-over point. Barr and Evans are there, and their offering finds many friends, while the lover of "horse play" can find his surfeit in the acrobatic work of the Ellis-Nowlin trio. Several short films on the biograph fill out one turn, while a remarkably good reproduction of the opera "Faust," by the same machine, closes the programme.

Jack Symonds—"the man of ease"—is a deserved hit. He has a clever monologue and some good parodies. McCune, of Grant & McCune, has a new bar act, and does some acrobatic work with funny comedy—but the balance of the team would benefit the stage by staying off from it. Bay Rayfield, a little tot, has a sweet child's voice, and unusual self-possession and mature charm of manner. Tom Hefron, originator of "crutch comedy," is a success as a one-legged amusement enterprise, and Rich. Montgomery's successor, seems about to make good. The Inmans are held for a last week. There are new moving pictures.

MASON OPERAHOUSE. Tonight the "Four Cohans" will return to Los Angeles after a long absence—this time not in vaudeville, but presenting a musical farce at the Mason Operahouse. They are said to be supported by a company numbering seventy-six people. The title of their sketch is "Running for Office."

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Sembrich's Concert.

Which has the greater hold upon the music-patronizing public, brilliant feats of coloratura flexibility, or the more strenuous efforts of dramatic voices? Mme. Marcella Sembrich received a splendid ovation from the large and fashionable audience gathered in the remodeled Hazard's Pavilion last evening—practically the same audience which idolized the incomparable Schumann-Heink not many days ago.

There is a place for art in all its phases in the public heart, Mme. Sembrich, with a voice not especially dramatic, is a singer of magnificent talent. There are few voices in the world of such marvelous flexibility, and though her range is not extreme, she has cultivated every separate semitone until it is a flawless gem of sound, and then has strung them all upon the thread of art—a tonal string of lyric pearls. There is a tiny suggestion that the Sembrich voice is getting old. Age shows first in a soprano, and though the cantatrice may possibly have a throat full of desert dust as yet, it seems that her notes are not quite as pure as when she sang "Elsa" in the great Metropolitan production of Lohengrin, given here a few years ago. Her voice has not lost its beauty or its flexibility by any means—it still thrills one—but lengthening shadows tell that the sun is going westward and hint that night, though yet beyond the bright rim of a far horizon, is on its way.

The prima donna gracefully divided her honors last evening with Rudolph Ganz, her accompanist and a most accomplished solo pianist. Ganz is a master of the keyboard, whose only equal here this year has been Harold Bauer. He has a technique that is little short of marvelous. His hands seem like perfectly-trained machines that rush with unerring precision over the full sweep of polished ivories, while Ganz himself, as a sort of musical director, sits back with calm artistic philosophy conducting their performance.

The Sembrich programme last evening was a nearly perfect one, judging from an all-around standard. In the "Fors e Lui," from "Traviata," her exquisite command of pyrotechnic effects, her surety and brilliance in high and rapid passages, her wonderful trill, and the emotional feeling that spiritualized the gorgeous sensuousness of the whole created unbounded enthusiasm throughout the great audience room, and her hearers tossed up at her heartiest of glove-splitting encores. When she came back, she showed then a wonderful thing, though perhaps not all thought of its difficulty: Tripping through the storm of applause she began to sing a tone-lade from the same scene before her accompanist had yet reached the piano, and when the time came for him to bring on his instrumental assistance the woman artist with her absolute pitch was perfect and unfaltering, exactly on the key.

Here is the programme with which last night's attendance was favored: Aria, "Deh Vieni, Non Tardar," from "Le Nozze de Figaro" (Mozart;) "Oh, Had I Jubal's Lyre," from "Joshua" (Handel;) "Neue Liebe, neu es Leben", (Beethoven;) piano, ballade in G minor, etude in A minor (Op. 25) (Chopin,) Rudolph Ganz; scene and aria from "La Traviata," "Ah, Fors e Lui" (Verdi;) pastorale, (Bizet;) "Nussbaum" (Schumann;) "Widmung" (Schumann;) "Summer" (Rudolph Ganz;) "Staendchen" (Richard Strauss;) piano, "Cantique d'Amour," Polonaise in E major (Liszt,) Rudolph Ganz; valse, "Voce di Primivera" (Strauss.)

Ellery Band.

The Italian Band will play at its concert in Chutes Theater tonight the manuscript selection from "Manon Lescaut," a selection from "Tristan and Isolde," and a number from "La Gioconda."

Sig. Decimo will offer a new and difficult clarionet solo.

WORLD'S GOLD PRODUCT.

In 410 Years $10,693,236,302, One-fourth of Which the West Produced in Fifty-five Years.

[Kendrick's Annual:] The total production of gold from the mines of the world for 410 years, or since there have been any records of the same kept, is officially given at $10,693,236,302.

The total production of gold from the mines of the United States since its discovery is given at $3,539,803,140. Of this the Eastern and Southern States produced $32,492,648, leaving $3,507,010,492 as the amount of gold produced by the mountainous country west of the meridan of Denver, California and Colorado being by far the heaviest producers of the yellow metal, with Colorado several millions in the lead. Or, in other words, this only partially-explored mountainous country has produced in fifty-five years, or since 1849, when the discovery of gold was made here, nearly 23⅛ per cent., or in round numbers, practically one-fourth of the total output of gold of the whole world for 410 years.

We first gave the above comparative figures nine years ago and have corrected them annually since. The figures above seem almost incredible, but are taken from the government statistics, with the exception of last year, the figures of which are not yet published officially, but estimated by the Engineering and Mining Journal. Nor is the maximum yet reached by any means. Each succeeding year will simply serve to add a new record to the West's wealth of gold and to its prosperity.

The United States government official figures of the increase of the gold output of the United States and of Colorado during the past thirteen years from 1890 to the end of the year 1903, are as follows:

The production of gold in the United States in 1890 was $32,545,000.

The production of gold in the United States in 1903 was $74,425,340, an increase of 126 2-5 per cent.

The production of gold in Colorado in 1890 was $4,150,000.

The production of gold in Colorado in 1903 was $22,705,711, giving an increase of 447 per cent., a phenomenal record of an average increase of over 34 per cent. per annum.

The profits and safety of investment in mining have increased in greater ratio than the production, on account of modern improvements in mining, milling, smelting and transportation.

Colorado now produces 30 5-10 per cent., or, in round numbers, one-third of the total gold product of the United States, including Alaska. Colorado leads all the States in the Union in the production of gold. In the production of silver Colorado has fallen to second place, for the first time in many years, because of labor troubles affecting mines and smelters, but now that these troubles are practically settled, she will undoubtedly resume [illegible]

In the production of gold, lead, copper and zinc combined, the latter three are bi-products, [illegible] still leads all.

The coolest and finest man in the detail was a young soldier who had never been under fire before. But the boy was not going to run from horses when there was more serious business [illegible]

Ignoring the angry insects, he pulled the fence and rejoined the men without being stung.

After a time he was appointed second lieutenant and called on Gen. Sweet to thank him.

"But," he said, modestly, "I don't think I deserve promotion over the others."

"My boy," replied the general, "when you pull down that fence you are the coolest man under fire I ever saw."

The man gasped, started and turned pale.

TALKS WITH TRAVELERS.

One of the leading painters of the West is in Los Angeles for a few weeks in the person of J. Henry Sharp, of Cincinnati. Mr. Sharp is known first as a painter of Indians; in fact, he is rated among the highest in his interpretation of Indian character and expression. At the same time, Mr. Sharp is more versatile than most artists, for he also ranks high among painters of the nude. A year or so ago he had as many as three paintings in the [illegible] exhibited at the Paris Salon, which [illegible] itself an honor which few American artists have attained.

Personally, Mr. Sharp is modest and retiring, and when seen at his apartments at the Hotel Alvarado yesterday, most of the talking to his daughter, Miss Ada Sweet, when in Denver recently, told the following:

Of course, when they are under the influence of liquor they are inclined to be quarrelsome." Possessing a fascinating personality, gentle in action and speech, and with the enthusiasm of youth, it is no wonder that this artist should move the hearts of the most reserved and haughty chiefs. It is said that he is coming to be hailed by all the tribes as a friend. He knows most of the tribal dialects, and understands the sign language. Mr. Sharp travels with him in all he brings, and now that he has been engaged by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst to [illegible] five years pictures which will adorn the walls of the University of California, she is doubly an assistant with her tact and gracious presence. This is the end of Mr. Sharp's career of painting for Mrs. Hearst, for he is now on his way to her home before taking this contract he was instructor in the Cincinnati Art Academy, and Mrs. Hearst chose him from all the other painters of the West to depict a series, which are to show clearly tribal history of California, from an artistic and poetic standpoint. At the end of each year [illegible] pictures which Mr. Sharp and Mrs. Hearst choose, twelve, and there are Mr. Sharp's to do what he pleases.

Mr. Sharp is anxious that we should appreciate the fact that he does not reproduce the Indian as a creature decked in paint and feathers, but as a human being, as he is mentally and physically, not as fiction has sent to fancy him, but endowed with intelligence, swayed by nobility of thought and purpose, enervated by silence, animated by craftiness, perhaps, calm in the thoughts of one day. Mr. Sharp has exhibited the principal cities of this country and in the capitals and art centers of the Old World, and has been awarded many medals. His exhibit at the Paris Exposition in 1900, and at the St. Louis him medals and high commendation. Examples of his work are in private galleries of the most famous of the art connoisseurs, such as Andrew Carnegie, Joseph G. Butler, Mr. McMillen and many others. His Indian heads have been purchased by many of the leading art galleries, and seven of them are now owned by the United States government, and hang in the walls of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. He has also painted many portraits of prominent persons, his picture of Gov. Taft being considered one of his best.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Sharp are to be the guests of honor at a Spanish dinner given by Mrs. Hugh Gregg Cole at her home on Marengo avenue. On Monday evening, the opening of the McCleod School of Art and Design, the one hundred pictures which Mr. Sharp has finished for Mrs. Hearst will be on exhibition, and after, this kind and gentle man, who is attractive wife, will leave on the 9th for San Francisco. Mrs. Sharp is a daughter of Murray Harris, the well-known builder, and has a large circle of friends in Los Angeles.

In answer to a question as to the difficulty of getting Indian models, he said: "Do I have trouble in getting Indians to pose? Yes, at times it's very irritating. Indians as a rule are not the best of models. For instance, I make an engagement with one to come to me tomorrow morning. Probably he will not appear for several days; perhaps not at all. After waiting around until I am tired out with worry, I take a rod and go off fishing until I recover my spirits.

CAR HITS WAGON.

Two Men Severely Bruised and Two Horses Killed in San Pedro Street Wreck.

Two men severely bruised, two horses killed, the front of a trolley coach stove in and a heavy delivery wagon thrown twenty feet, were the principal results yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, when an incoming Long Beach car and a wagonload of bran and mill stuffs tried to cross at right angles at the intersection of East Ninth and San Pedro streets. That more persons were not hurt or killed seems to be due to the special providence that sometimes acts as a buffer between street cars and wagons.

Those injured are R. M. Davis, a Pacific Electric conductor, living with his wife and two children on Alameda street between Thirty-eighth street and Vernon avenue, and Guy or Albert Johnson, an 18-year-old teamster residing with his parents at No. 806 New Depot street. A woman passenger whose name could not be learned was slightly cut by flying glass.

Johnson works for the J. R. Transfer Company and was driving a heavy transfer wagon loaded with bran south on San Pedro street. When he came to Ninth stret an East Ninth-street car was just crossing San Pedro street, and Johnson intended to drive his team behind the car in crossing Ninth street. He did not notice the Long Beach car booming along west on Ninth street and just as his team was on the north track the car struck the team amidships.

The shock of the collision shot the wagon twenty feet from where it was struck, wrecking it in the turn over and spilling out the load. Johnson was shot up through the glass front of the car along with his cushion seat and from that position was removed when the car was stopped. The horses were almost instantly killed. In the front of the car on the right-hand side was standing R. M. Davis, an extra conductor who was coming into the city, and he was caught in the wreck, knocked senseless, and thrown out on the ground among the sacks.

A number of persons saw the accident and willing hands soon picked the injured men out of the wreck and they were sent to the Receiving Hospital, where a superficial examination showed they were not seriously injured, apparently. Later Davis was taken to a hospital and Johnson to his home.

The car was No. 267, Motorman W. S. Chamin and Conductor A. E. Bandy. Those who saw the smash-up say the motorman did not sound his bell and that it was entirely due to his carelessness the accident happened.

SOAKED IN COFFEE
Until too Stiff to Bend Over.

"When I drank coffee I often had sick headaches, nervousness and biliousness much of the time but about two years ago I went to visit a friend and got in the habit of drinking Postum.

"I have never touched coffee since and the result has been that I have been entirely cured of all my stomach and nervous trouble.

"My mother was just the same way, we all drink Postum now and have never had any other coffee in the house for two years and we are all well.

"A neighbor of mine, a great coffee drinker, was troubled with pains in her side for years and was an invalid. She was not able to do her work and could not even mend clothes or do anything at all where she would have to bend forward. If she tried to do a little hard work she would get such pains that she would have to lie down for the rest of the day.

"I persuaded her at last to stop drinking coffee and try Postum Food Coffee and she did so and she has used Postum ever since; the result has been that she can now do her work, sit for a whole day and mend, and can sew on the machine, and she never feels the least bit of pain in her side, in fact she has got well and it shows coffee was the cause of the whole trouble.

"I could also tell you about several other neighbors who have been cured by quitting coffee and using Postum in its place." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FULL ASSORTMENT OF ARNOLD'S KNIT GARMENTS FOR INFANTS

Towels third off

"Economize on the necessities of life if you ever hope to enjoy the luxuries."

Towels may be counted one of the necessities. Reductions of a third are so extremely rare that the women who have the right idea of economy will lay in a year's supply.

60c instead of 90c:
23x45-inch all-linen huck towels, hemstitched; all white; jacquard borders. 20 dozen of these.

45c instead of 65c:
24x46-inch all-white jacquard huck towels, hemstitched, 45c each. Barely 30 dozen of these.

25c instead of 35c:

15c instead of 18c:

10c instead of 12½c:

½ off White waistings

The response to yesterday's offering of $1 white damask waistings for 50c was prompt, eager and incessant, but the stock was too large for one day's selling.—The assortment of patterns is practically as good as yesterday.

Double-fold goods (32 inches) in beautiful brocade striped and figured mercerized damasks, for waists and dresses.

Regularly $1.00 a yard. We own this lot at a price that lets us sell it at 50c a yard.

75c and $1.00 pillow tops 50c

Silks underprice

Two lots considerably under price—practically a third.

$1.25 and $1 Silks, 85c:

At 65c instead of 85c:

Just opened a splendid variety of very choice and exclusive designs in new shirt-waist silks—taffetas, Louisines, etc., Ground work in browns, blues, tan, reds, greens—every wanted coloring, in fact. Figured and striped, in small, neat, natty designs.

Dollar to dollar fifty a yard.

Plenty of new Pongees, too.

75c corset covers 50c

PERSONAL—

MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at her office, 322 S. SPRING ST. (Suite 17.)
by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS BY ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

Mrs. Masson cannot too strongly emphasize the statement that her readings are intended for, and appeal to the EDUCATED, INTELLIGENT CLASSES.

That such people become ADVOCATES OF PALMISTRY, SEND THEIR FRIENDS, and RETURN THEMSELVES is strong proof that they have received helpful suggestions and advice concerning business or domestic matters unobtainable through other sources.

Mrs. Masson's readings will help you to improve your SOCIAL, BUSINESS and FINANCIAL PROSPECTS, give you definite knowledge of the outcome of PRESENT AND FUTURE EVENTS, warn you of illnesses or accidents, tell you the occupation you are best fitted for, and assist you in the struggle for success by TEACHING YOU YOUR POSSIBILITIES AND LIMITATIONS.

CHANGES OF BUSINESS, LAWSUITS, DEATHS, MARRIAGES, DIVORCES, and in fact, all that life holds for you is plainly written in your hand; it is simply a question as to its correct interpretation.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

FOR SALE—DO YOU REALIZE THAT THE best bargains in city lots today are in the "Elysian Park Tract," which adjoins Elysian Park near Fremont Gate? This tract lies above the fog and frost line, and is close to the business center, being only 10 minutes' ride from Spring and Third sts. Solano ave. runs directly through the tract and has all the street improvements completed and paid for. Several fine houses started there in fast week, and plenty of more to follow in a few days. We are selling lots in this beautiful tract at present for $300 to $650, being less than one-half the price of lots equally well located in other parts of the city. Go see them and make a selection before the choicest are sold and before the prices are advanced. Take Daly-st. car and get off at Solano ave.

EDWARD D. SILENT & CO.'S
INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT
Called to your attention in Sunday's issue the fact that one of the leading manufacturing concerns in this city was offering for subscription $50,000 worth of its stock in blocks of $100 AND UPWARDS,
to produce a fund for enlarging its plant for MANUFACTURING PUMPS.
Not ordinary pumps that require much power and do little work, but a Pump That Costs Less,
Pump That Does More,
Pump Requiring Less Power,
According to the opinion of disinterested engineers, and by actual test, than any other existing.
Having these attributes, this pump is going to bring to its manufacturers
LARGE DIVIDENDS,
and this is so sure that one of the strongest financial institutions in this country GUARANTEES THAT THIS STOCK WILL NEVER BE WORTH LESS THAN WHAT YOU PAY FOR IT.
That it will pay at least 6 per cent. annual dividends.
What better chance do you want to INVEST your savings or wealth SAFELY and PROFITABLY.
Come and get the particulars.

San Francisco Tied the Score in the Fifth Inning and Blanks Thereafter Resulted Until the Final Half—Gray and Knell in Fine Form—Games in the Northwest.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—An extra inning was played today to decide the game between the locals and Morley's men. San Francisco tied the score in the fifth, and blanks resulted thereafter until a couple of hits in the tenth brought victory to Los Angeles. Gray's pitching for the visitors was so effective that the home team got only three scattered hits. Knell was also in fine form.

TRAPSHOOTERS COMING DAILY.

MAKING READY FOR GUN CLUB TOURNEY THIS WEEK.

W. H. Seaver of San Francisco Talks Targets—Julian Bros. of San Diego on the Field—The Bay City Representation, and Prospects from the Territory.

The trapshooters are already gathering in town for the coming three-days' tournament of the Los Angeles Gun Club, practice for which begins on the Sherman grounds next Thursday.

Yesterday W. H. Seaver, traveling representative of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, arrived. In the language of the prize ring, Seaver is already in condition and as fit as the proverbial fiddle. He has been winning high average in most of his recent tournaments and will probably be hard to catch in any event at which his ensign of Ireland jersey may be seen.

The two Julians of San Diego are already on hand, George and Charlie. They expect a big delegation from the southern city Wednesday.

J. F. Gibson of Nordhoff, better known to the trigger fraternity as "Little Jimmy," arrived Saturday and shot with the local knights in the teeth of Sunday's northwester.

W. H. Beaver states that Clarence Haight, Clarence Naumann, Otto Feudner, C. Sylvester and others of the San Francisco delegation will come in some time tomorrow, but brings the bad news that some who had made their plans to attend will be prevented by stress of business from making the trip. Seaver has been working hard in the interest of the local shoot and thinks a goodly representation will come from Arizona, headed by the fat pumpgun veteran, D. D. McDonald. The Territorial men have been so busy making money this season that there is some doubt of the original number coming, but a representation is assured.

Most of the nearby shooters will arrive in town Thursday. The local brotherhood has been working over time loading shells for the big blow-out; some eight hundred rounds of ammunition are likely to be necessary to those who compete in all the events regular and impromptu.

POOR BASEBALL.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA MONICA, May 2.—The games of baseball played Sunday in the Suburban Amateur League were hardly worthy the name, and if there is not an immediate improvement in the quality of ball put up the Suburban League will die an easy and early death. San Pedro team came to Santa Monica and wiped the diamond up Sunday afternoon with the local team in the disgraceful score of 29 to 5. The Ocean Parks went to Rivera and the reception accorded them was no less discreditable. Ocean Park could neither make scores nor hold the Riveras down.

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
San Pedro	5	5	0	1.000
Rivera	5	2	3	.400
Santa Monica	5	1	4	.200
Ocean Park	5	1	4	.200

RACE GOSSIP FROM 'FRISCO.

Fred Mulholland Has Vast Starting Ambitions.

Los Angeles Horses Holding More Than Their Own.

Future Books Making False Favorite in Derby.

BY J. GERSON.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—On account of the absence of all the good jockeys, racing at this point has come to the usual end of the season scramble for the purses, and turfites are more careful than ever in making their selections. J. Jones, a boy of ordinary ability, is the star at present, but so mediocre is his work that Willie Knapp, considered about the fourth best rider at the Ascot Park meeting, is Jones's superior in every way. J. T. Sheehan is a fair rider here, being next best. Handicappers have given him the honor of being the best two-year-old rider in the country, barring Bullman.

Satrter Jake Holtman has left for Latonia, his place being taken by Fred Mulholland, racing editor of the San Francisco Call, who has been filling the position of patrol judge earlier in the season. He will be remembered as the starter at a fair meeting held in Los Angeles some time ago, when his record was marred by a fight with Phil Sheridan, a horse owner. Mulholland's poor work as starter thus far has doubtless been due to his lay-off of six months. Race goers in this city expect that if Mulholland should improve as much as he did last season when he started on the northern circuit, as compared to his Los Angeles work, he will do well enough to warrant President Tom Williams giving him the position of starter for the entire season next winter, the ultimate object of Mulholland.

Los Angeles horses have shown that when it comes to racing they can more than hold their own. Alice Carey was made the medium of a plunge, as was also Agnes Mack, and both these sprinters made the selling division of 'Frisco look cheap. The bookies, of course, made them outsiders, believing their form shown at Ascot was not a true one. Since they have been winning right along the bookies have come to look at Ascot bad horses with respect, and Los Angeles dope books are now the real thing.

Jockey J. Lewis has been released from his contract employer, J. Ellerd, for irregularities in business relations, and old man Knapp has looked after his business engagements with the result that Lewis has ridden with some success, even if seldom.

Some comment has arisen about the 'Frisco racing, inasmuch as the Oakland track is in such bad condition that it is a wonder some of the horses or jockeys have not met with a serious accident. All the season the numerous holes in the stretch have been filled with dirt, but on account of the rains the job has not been as successful as was hoped, and as a result favorites taken along the rail have often stumbled before the wire. It is anticipated that before next season these holes will be filled up; if not some owners will not endanger their valuable charges again upon this unsafe track.

The exodus of horsemen continues toward the East. Daily cars are leaving. Of course the usual number of handicappers are entering their horses in the stakes offered up north. Messrs. Egbert and Skinner will be the main factors in the game. This will, however, be an incentive, as both these gentlemen have shown efficiency in their positions with the New California Jockey Club.

With the posting of odds on the American Derby by both O'Leary and Kid Weller the question of racing in the Middle West has been decided beyond doubt. Both of these "Gentlemen gamblers" are onto the situation in the Windy City, and their acceptance of wagers on the event of events in turf annals of the year, shows that they feel assured the American Derby will be decided in June. The making of English Lad the favorite shows a lack of class that has not been seen in the last three years in this event. While English Lad has shown some form, his performances have by no means warranted the ridiculously short price of 8 to 1 that the future books have made him. Capt. S. S. Brown, the millionaire Pittsburgh turfman, has a better chance of winning the classic event with any of his crackajacks, to say nothing of the chances of Tichenor & Co., with such good ones as Flo Bob and Flower King. Of course, both Drake and Sam Hildreth are not to be overlooked, but in my opinion the dark horse in the lot is none other than the Ascot sprinter and distance horse, Philip Lang. This baby will go a distance, and is a good wager. "Lucky" Baldwin is about due to win another American Derby.

Any amount of criticism is being launched at Charlie McCafferty, "the man with a halter," for his "running up" tactics in selling races. He ran up Horton to $1500 the other day, and after securing him finished second, then won with him. In retaliation, "Doggie" Smith (O. A. Bianchi) of the firm of Bianchi & McGovern ran up Golden Light from $500 to $1000, securing him. The best this son of Flambeau could do for his new owners was to score second to Handpress the first time he ran in their colors, so McCafferty seems to have the best of it in taking Horton, last year's Burns' Handicap winner. "Doggie" Smith says the end is not yet, so this merry selling race war will probably continue with the association the winner. While the remark is often made that McCafferty is a valuable man to the association, there is reason to believe he simply does this running up to secure good horses cheaply, and is in the pale of the racing rules when so doing.

ELWOOD WINS KENTUCKY DERBY

LONGEST-PRICED ONE IN RACE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 2.—After a winter of rest, Elwood, C. C. Durnell's bay colt, came across the continent and today took the most hostly-contested Kentucky Derby since the famous duel between Proctor Knott and Spokane. The winner was the longest-priced horse in the race, and the Tennessee and Blue Grass contingents went broke. Ed Tierney was second and Brancas third; time 2:08¼.

Proceeds was the favorite at even, Brancas was second choice at 2, Ed Tierney at 4, Prince Silver Wings and Elwood at 6 and 10 to 1, respectively.

Proceeds took the lead and began to cut out the pace, with Prince Silver Wings crowding him, with Brancas third; Ed Tierney and Elwood were close up. This order was maintained until the half was reached, where Proceeds had increased his lead to nearly three lengths. Almost immediately the favorite began to drop back and Silver Wings moved to the front. Proceeds being drawn into a duel with the Prince, which lasted to the seven-furlong pole.

The pace slackened, Proceeds beginning to tire. Prince Silver Wings also was tiring, and the pair began to slip back almost at the same instant. When the mile post was reached Brancas forged to the front and was gone. Elwood and Ed Tierney were now beginning to come. The field charged into the stretch with Elwood and Brancas almost neck and neck, and Ed Tierney about a half length away. Out from the bunch moved Elwood and Ed Tierney, each with plenty of speed in reserve, and from the three-sixteenths pole it was a duel to the wire, with Elwood first and Ed Tierney's nose hanging at his flank. Brancas was only a length back. Prince Silver Wings finished six lengths behind the winner and three lengths in front of Proceeds. Results:

Five and a half furlongs: Wain-A-Moinen won, Bad News second, Loyal Girl third; time 1:08¾.

Six furlongs: Henry Bert won, Meritana second, Jake Broenberg third; time 1:16.

Kentucky Derby, mile and a quarter: Elwood, 117 (Prior,) 10 to 1, won; Ed Tierney, 117 (Dominick,) 9 to 2, second; Brancas, 117 (Lyne,) 2 to 1, third; time 2:08¾. Prince Silver Wings and Proceeds also ran.

LEXINGTON (Ky.) May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Bailey has disposed of all his interests in the Kentucky Breeders' Association track and property adjoining and will remove his trotting horses to Texas.

LACROSSE.

RETURN GAME FIXED.

Capt. McKenzie of the Los Angeles lacrosse team is not satisfied with the result of last Sunday's game, and he has challenged the All Stars for a return match next Sunday. He says his team was handicapped by not having Mines and Wilson, but he will have these two players next Sunday and at the end of the match, McKenzie claims there will be a different story to tell.

The All Stars also state that they were weak on account of the absence of Eaton. They say they will play if McDonald of Riverside will come up and play with them. McDonald states that he will, so the match will take place at Prager Park next Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

This should be the fastest game put up this season.

FINE BILLIARDS.

JOHNSTON BEATS CARNEY.

Walter Johnston, by playing one of the finest games of three-cushion billiards ever seen in this city, defeated Joe Carney in the opening game of the professional tournament last night, score 40 to 34. Johnston opened with a run of five, and finished in seventy-three innings, averaging 5-9. He made no mistakes in his play, knocking off the hard shots with regularity.

Billiards.

Homer Millsap defeated H. B. Chapelle in the first game at Morley's three-cushion tournament last night; score 35 to 25. Chapelle was to play 35 to Millsap's 25. The contestants averaged .37. Joe Amson and Sam Appel play tonight.

LIGHT CREELS; VILE WEATHER.

TROUT FISHING NOT UNMIXED PLEASURE SUNDAY.

Majority of Those Who Tried Out the San Gabriel Returned With a Wetting for Their Pains and Had the Proverbial Fisherman's Luck. A Few Fair Catches Were Made.

Sunday was one of those days when a skilled trout fisherman shines with a luster unapproachable by his less capable imitators. As is the case on most first days, the past masters of the game had but little cause for complaint regarding their creels; such faultfinding as they did was entirely laid at the door of the weather—and a fine basket of mountain trout works wonders toward erasing memories of a night outdoors in the rain or snow, with an occasional dash of hail to keep up a brisk circulation. But for the luckless unfortunates who had a soaking for their pains, the San Gabriel now holds no further charm. On the whole it was a weary, disgusted band of fly-rodsters who returned to town Sunday night. Having been denied not only the pleasures of catching and eating the fish, but even such enjoyment as is to be obtained from fairly decent weather in the mountains, they hardly felt called upon to indorse the sport very heartily. A series of Bowery blessings was laid upon the entire San Gabriel from source to sea by most of the hundred and fifty victims.

Parties which left Saturday for the upper waters had the best sport and some good catches were made above Follow's. The fish averaged small, but a few of fourteen inches were reported taken out of Bear Creek. The best sport seems to have been in that vicinity. One party made good catches there, having a really fine creelful of fish. They left by automobile early Sunday morning and had a hard trip of it. Louis Breer, H. Justins and others who went out of Follows' and fished up stream had good enough sport, but suffered considerably from the weather. First rain, then hail, then snow was the combination served by the elements, and the only wonder is that anybody caught fish. The rains swelled the stream greatly and put a stop to further success. Breer and Justins caught about seventy-five between them, returning last night. They ate a hungry man's proportion of the captures, and Bro. Breer did a hard hour's work persuading the cooking fire to burn through the incessant showering it was getting from the heavens. A soap box finally solved the problem.

Robbie Ross and Hugh Vail fished the Topanga, on the Malibu and did well enough. Santa Monica fishermen in force were on hand, but Ross got an eleven-inch trout for his best, and his partner landed one even larger. Ross and Louis Breer had a bet on for the largest fish of the opening day; Ross won by over an inch, though Breer had some beauties.

Ed Tufts tried the San Antonio for a time but the weather interfered with his plans and he soon hied himself out of winterdom into the summer of Pomona.

Those who fished the mouth of the San Gabriel below the intake did but little good, the weather was so stormy that lines stood out straight from the rod tips, and everyone was half drowned by the torrents of rain which fell at intervals for nearly three hours.

SAN LUIS OBISPO.

CATTLEMEN AFTER THIEVES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 2.—Cattlemen of San Luis, Obispo county met here today, and perfected an organization for the purpose of stamping out cattle stealing on the ranges in the eastern part of the county. A. Tognazzini was elected president, and D. D. Bernard, secretary.

The Real and the Ideal.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "it is about time for the Easter bonnet joke and the race-horse joke."

"I never could see much sense to the Easter bonnet joke."

"Neither could I. But the race-horse joke is a sad reality."—[Washington Star.

Notice is also given that at the same time and place, he will also sell at public auction, for cash in United States gold coin, to the highest bidder, the fixtures contained in said store.

Said stock of goods may be inspected in said store, at any time before the date of sale.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Temple Union.

The literary society of the Temple Union will hold its May meeting this evening in the assembly room of Temple B'nai B'rith. Mrs. Ida Meacham Strobridge will read a paper treating of the desert of Nevada.

Fearful Struggles.

Mike Redmond, a laborer in the employ of the city water department, died at his lodging-house, No. 232 East Second street, about 6 o'clock last evening from the effects of an epileptic fit. Redmond's struggles before death revived him were frantic, and nearly everything in his room was broken. An inquest will be held at Bresee Bros', today.

Two Red.

A lot of paint on the second floor of the new five story McCarthy building in course of construction at the corner of Court street and Broadway, became ignited about 7:45 o'clock last evening, and caused a lively blaze for a few minutes. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have been the cause. A chemical extinguished the flames. Loss about $50.

Christian Endeavor Social.

The home of Misses Edna and Genevieve Cumberland on Avenue 51 was last evening the scene of a successful social given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Highland Park Church. The rooms were prettily decorated in smilax and red geraniums, and were filled with a goodly number of members of the Christian Endeavor Society, and the Occidental College Society.

New Office for Ford.

E. A. Ford, who has been general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh and who has spent a portion of his winters in Pasadena for several years, his wife and daughter living there at present, has been appointed to the important position of passenger traffic manager of the company. The creation of this office by the Pennsylvania system is following in the footsteps of E. H. Harriman, who is responsible for the idea of the new offices of traffic director and director of maintenance and operation.

Oratorical Contests.

There will be no interscholastic oratorical contest this year owing to the many other attractions which have been scheduled for this month. The date of the next contest has been fixed for March, 1905, two months earlier than usual. The four schools composing the Interscholastic Oratorical League are the preparatory schools of the University of Southern California and Occidental College, and the Los Angeles and Commercial high schools. The oratorical contest between the University of Southern California and the Pomona and Occidental colleges will be held at Pomona, May 21.

Water Fight.

Robert Devine, one of the owners of the San Rafael Rancho, with many others, has brought a complaint in the United States Circuit Court against the city of Los Angeles to quiet title to their water rights and to enjoin the city from infringing upon the same. It is alleged in the complaint that the municipal water system will seriously cripple the irrigation forces of the San Rafael by constantly taking subterranean and other waters for city uses. Devine has a separate complaint, and there are a large number of others whose names are connected with his in the two documents filed. The attorneys for Devine et al. are McNutt & Hammon, and Stephens & Stephens.

Another Rail Ship.

The fourth deep-sea vessel loaded with steel rails for the Salt Lake railroad arrived at San Pedro yesterday. It is the Roxcastle and has aboard 3000 tons of steel. This ship and the Cleomene and Hawthornebank, which are also deep-sea vessels and bringing rails, are lined up on the Salt Lake side at San Pedro and make an interesting picture as they are all of heavy tonnage. Capt. McWain of the Roxcastle came to Los Angeles yesterday noon and it was not until his arrival that he learned of the war between Russia and Japan. He is a strong partisan of the Russians and his hands went up in the air when told of the long list of losses which is registered against them. His ship sailed from Rotterdam and he will probably go to British Columbia for a return cargo.

Too Much Bronson.

Harry Bronson's attentions to the pretty fifteen-year-old daughter of O. H. Ivor, proprietor of the Chicago restaurant at No. 907½ East Fifth street, were the cause of a bloody fight near the Arcade depot last night, in which Bronson was badly beaten. Bronson is a freight conductor on the Southern Pacific, and Ivor says that he learned that the conductor had been holding clandestine meetings with his young daughter. When he went home to tell his wife of his discovery, the restaurant keeper says he found Bronson talking over the back fence to his better half. It was a case of "too much Bronson" around the Ivor home, and later when the men met the bloody encounter ensued. Ivor is much smaller than the conductor, but the latter was knocked down. Both men were arrested, but Ivor was released on $15 bail.

Marcella Sembrich and the Steinway Piano.

The following letter from Marcella Sembrich to Steinway & Sons, New York, but voices the sentiments of all the world's greatest singers and artists, in the praise of the world's best Piano—the Steinway:

New York, March 21, 1903.

Messrs. Steinway & Sons:

Gentlemen—Among the privileges which musical artists enjoy is that communion with the art which is made possible with the pianoforte. There can be no truer, warmer, more sympathetic companion than the Steinway.

Whether used in its own proper sphere, or made to take the place of operatic chorus and orchestra, it is always a wonder and a joy.

I am happy to sing the praise of the instrument that has so often sung to me.

I am, gentlemen, with sincere admiration,

Yours respectfully,

MARCELLA SEMBRICH.

SIX LOST IN STORMY SEA.

Searchers Fail in Hunt for Fellows Party.

Ocean Cruised Over from Shore to Isles.

Friends Greatly Alarmed. Shipping Damage.

Failure of searchers to discover any trace of Joe Fellows, the Terminal Island boat builder, and the members of his party has made their friends much alarmed. Fellows and companions left Avalon on the yawl Minerva Sunday. An hour before midnight last night launches returning from cruises of search as far south as Newport and extending over to Catalina Island reported nothing seen of the boat or its crew.

With Fellows in the boat were Ed Ross, Dave Barry, George Cramer, George Graham and Homer Evans. The craft was one which Fellows had built as a cruiser. The men were in his employ, and he planned the trip as a little pleasure cruise for them.

The boat was scantily provisioned. Buffeted by the gale she dragged her anchors in the bay at Avalon, and that is supposed to be the reason for her putting to sea.

It is believed not unlikely that Fellows ran before the wind and made southward, although that is a matter of conjecture. If he did run on a southerly course it may be that he will make a landing at some point along the coast of San Diego county.

Facts in the party's favor are that Fellows is an adept at sailing, and that the men with him possess considerable knowledge of the manipulation of mainsheet and tiller. There may have been a fair supply of water aboard.

The boat in which Fellows and his party sailed was a forty-foot craft, with eleven feet breadth of beam and five feet draft. She was noted for her seaworthiness.

The Minerva was one of several of the boats of the South Coast Yacht Club, which left their moorings at Terminal Island Saturday for a cruise to Catalina. The return was to be from Avalon Sunday morning, including the Nautilus, with Commodore Joseph Pugh aboard; Herbert Pease, in the little maiden yacht Venus, and Walter Folsom, in the new yacht Mischief. Commodore Pugh made port at Anaheim Landing, after a tempestuous voyage. He went out in a launch yesterday in the search for Fellows and the other missing ones.

All the Italian fishing fleet returned safely to San Pedro. Peter Borcich in the launch Borcich, and John Mascalo in a sailboat, for whom fears were entertained Sunday, returned to port yesterday, having weathered the fury of the gale off Newport.

The greatest property damage about San Pedro was sustained by the California Construction Company at the outer breakwater, through the loss of a car containing a donkey engine and pile driver, which was blown off the track into the bay. An attempt will be made to raise the machinery.

JENKINS'S ROUGH TRIP.

J. J. Jenkins, a member of the South Coast Yacht Club, left Avalon in a small sailboat Sunday. Out at sea he lost his rudder. With the best makeshift of steering gear at his command he was out through the gale all night. Wearied and wet, he was driven ashore near Newport yesterday. His prolonged absence caused much anxiety among his people.

CATALINA ISLAND HAVOC.

Reports from Catalina Island state that the storm tore away and totally destroyed the wharf at Empire. It was a stone pier constructed last fall, and was thought to be able to withstand any sea that might arise. The planking which was removed during the winter in anticipation of storms, had just been replaced, a long chute constructed, and yesterday a schooner load of sheep was to have been shipped to the mainland from there.

The families of J. B. Quigley and Mr. Rynerson, who started from Avalon for the Isthmus before the storm broke, turned in at White's Landing and spent the day there. The launch Meteor, which went in search assisted them in returning.

A number of the big eucalyptus shade trees on the Avalon campus were felled by the force of the wind.

MARVEL AT REDONDO.

Mariners ancient and modern are marveling over the manner of the dismantling of the barkentine Gardiner City at Redondo Sunday evening. As the vessel lay to windward of the wharf the tall sticks went over against the gale and into the sea. Had they fallen to leeward, as by apparently all processes of reasoning they should have done, there might have been a heavy loss of life.

The pier was thronged with spectators watching the vessel battle the waves. Struggling to get a nearer and better view they had moved out into the danger zone when the masts parted. When the lofty poles fell there was confusion almost like a panic among the onlookers, and many of them made a frightened rush for more distant and safer points of observation.

The passing of the storm and the calming of the tempestuous sea did not come more quickly than the beginning of operations for repairs of the damaged wharves. A large gang of men with three pile-driving outfits was put at work yesterday morning. For the restoration of wharf No. 3, considerable time may be required. Wharf No. 3, which also suffered damage, but not so seriously, will be ready for use again in about two days. Wharf No. 1 is broken mostly on the side where the Santa Fé tracks are. About three bents were taken away by the pounding effects of pieces of the schooner Mabel Gray, which vessel went ashore some distance up the coast several weeks ago. Wharf No. 2 lost about eighty feet from the end, but a number of piles in the center were loosened.

Five launches were anchored in the bay. These all rode out the gale nicely except the Blair, which sank.

The dismasted Gardiner City and the schooner Charles E. Falk, which had her rudder carried away, were towed to San Pedro today for repairs.

AT OTHER COAST POINTS.

The $10,000 wharf at Oceanside, San Diego county, for which the town issued bonds, was damaged $1000 in the gale Sunday. The loss will be made good by popular subscription.

It is reported that there was no damage at Port Los Angeles.

ART EXHIBIT DEFERRED.

So many pictures have come in for the art exhibit under the auspices of the Ruskin Art Club that it has been found impossible to hang them in time for opening today, and accordingly the opening has been deferred till tomorrow.

SENATOR CLARK'S CRITICAL HEALTH.

J. ROSS CLARK yesterday received a letter from Senator W. A. Clark, written en route through the Mediterranean, in which the Senator states that he is greatly improved in health and expects to return to the United States in six weeks much benefited by his trip and ready for work again.

"The stories which have appeared in some of the eastern papers to the effect that my brother is preparing for the end and may never return home are greatly overdrawn," said J. Ross Clark. "It is true that he has been a very sick man, but I am glad to say that he reports a steady improvement. In his letter he writes of the dry, mild climate of Algiers and expects to stay there for two weeks or more. From Algiers he will go to Genoa and thence to Paris and on to London, where he will remain but a short time. Upon his return to New York he will probably come West at once."

The ill health of Senator Clark has led him to get his large business affairs in shape. He recently formed a company that is to manage all of his real estate holdings, exclusive of his mines, and it is expected that a similar organization will be effected to manage his mines. Besides heavy investments in mines, sugar plantations and railroads, Senator Clark owns four daily newspapers, the Butte Miner, the Helena Independent, the Great Falls Tribune and the Salt Lake Herald.

The Senator's wealth is rated at somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000,000. His direct heirs are his two sons, C. W. Clark and W. A. Clark, Jr.; his two daughters, Mrs. Culver and Mrs. Morris, and his grandson, W. A. Clark, son of W. A. Clark, Jr.

SAN DIEGO.

UNION BOSSES CAN'T DICTATE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A few weeks ago it was announced that the labor unions, representing, according to report, 2500 men had united in nominating F. C. Ferris, president of the Federated Trades Council, for member of the Board of Works, vice Andrew Cassidy, term expired. Tonight Mayor Frary recommended the appointment of Cassidy to succeed himself, which appointment was unanimously confirmed. Cassidy had already held the office a year overtime. The labor unions sought to force the Mayor to do their bidding, but the result to them was disappointing. F. H. Briggs was re-elected president of the Board of Delegates, and J. M. Stead, of the Board of Aldermen. The Mayor appoints A. G. Edwards to the Fire Commission, and P. M. Johnson, Police Commissioner. The City Assessor's figures on city valuation were $18,809,000; Board of Equalization, $14,422,000; increase over last year, $1,300,000.

NEWS FLASHES.

Members of the local lumber trust, so called, deny that the sudden drop in prices of lumber has anything to do with the locating here of the Western Lumber Company, which is independent of the combination.

W. E. Smythe has hired the Isis Theater for Thursday evening and at a public meeting he proposes to champion the cause of government ownership in the Imperial country. The Governor and President Wheeler of the State University, who will be in the city, have been invited.

No formal charges were received at tonight's meeting of the Police Commissioners against Detective Cooley for alleged misconduct in the Stuart Pasadena case, but they were ordered put into proper form by the City Attorney and submitted for hearing Wednesday evening. Cooley is charged with assisting in spiriting away young Stuart, who was sought by other officers.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

Fred Spaulding, arrested Saturday, has been identified as the man who entered the room of J. D. Button, No. 373 North Main street, several days ago. A lot of wearing apparel stolen was found in Spaulding's possession and identified. A further search of the man's effects disclosed several hundred imitation jewels, and a set of jeweler's tools, stolen from W. A. Chamberlain, No. 114 South Spring street, two weeks ago. A warrant, charging burglary will be sworn out for Spaulding today.

ESPEE PAYS.

The final scene in the well-known case of Mrs. Cora B. Vernon against the Southern Pacific Company came to a close yesterday, when the corporation paid Mrs. Vernon $15,000 on the verdict given her for the death of her husband in a wreck, $2000 for the death of her son in the same accident, $270 in costs and about $100 in interest.

Before and after—Wrecked schooner Gardiner City and the wharf she pounded to pieces at Redondo.

CONTEST FOR EACH DISTRICT.

Democrats to Quarrel at the Primaries Today.

Opposition Tickets Already in the Running.

Hearst Managers Not Happy Over Certain Slates.

That slashing noise in the air this morning is the whetting of Democratic scalping knives for a massacre to occur at the primaries today.

The Republican voting will be without any contests worth mentioning; will be as uninteresting as a man getting up to wash his face.

But in every district the Democrats were preparing yesterday for an affray today.

In the good old Democratic way, they will try tooth and nail to knock down the candidates they set up last Saturday night.

In every Assembly district an opposition ticket was put in the field yesterday to try to overthrow the regular caucus ticket boosted through by the Hearst heelers Saturday night. Many of these opposition tickets, however, have Hearst men on the list. In such cases the fight is to be on personal lines, or city ward against city ward.

But whatever the particular brand of trouble, in every precinct today's election will witness a regular old-fashioned Democratic cat fight.

The charge was made yesterday by conservative and disgusted Democrats that Hearst money passed freely both Saturday and yesterday.

SMALL BUT HOT.

As in the Sixty-ninth and Seventieth there are but two delegates each, the fights waged there will not be as fierce as elsewhere, although the caucus candidates will be bucked individually by anti-push voters.

Joe Simons and W. R. White, president of the teamsters' union, are the caucus candidates in the Sixty-ninth. John P. Read and James Bryan Graham are the caucus candidates in the Seventieth. In the latter district Sam Haskins and Carl Johnson or Sam Haskins and M. B. Jones were mentioned as an opposition ticket; but owing to everybody's being too busy to work, no systematic fight has been prepared.

WILD UNION LABORITES.

One of the wildest fights of the day will occur in the Seventy-first, which Saturday night was a hotbed of labor union men howling Hearst and defiance.

This was the district in which N. W. Conklin said he would "vote any way he damn pleased" if he became a delegate and was elected in spite of Hearst; in which Frank G. Finlayson, a conservative Democrat, was thrown down by the Fennessy gang because he refused to go pledged for Hearst; in which old Dan Neuhart was "frost bitten" on general principles.

Yesterday both sides of the fight were dancing around in anguish trying to find out which side Conklin is going to be "damn pleased" to support.

Conklin was visited in his office yesterday afternoon by a gang of the Drake-Fennessy outfit. An attempt was made to force him to come out of the brush. Conklin wouldn't say whether or not he would join with Finlayson to try to overthrow the labor-union caucus ticket.

Finlayson is "in the hands of his friends," willing to run on an opposition ticket if there is one today. 'Twas uncertain yesterday.

The caucus delegates nominated were Dennis Shay, Thomas Vacher, Pat Gibbon, N. W. Conklin, J. J. O'Brien, John C. Inch.

Those defeated could not be put combined on one opposition ticket; it would be a too weird collection, as will be seen from the names: Frank G.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Failing to agree on the award of the contract for city advertising, the Council yesterday postponed action for one week.

Plans for the new Polytechnic High School were yesterday adopted by the City Council and the City Clerk was instructed to advertise for bids.

An ordinance prohibiting the maintenance or operation of bucket shops was yesterday presented to the Council by the City Attorney. It was referred to the Committee on Legislation.

An ordinance yesterday passed the Council restricting the maintenance of hospitals for treatment of tuberculosis patients to a small district in the hills back of Elysian Park.

The contest in the estate of the late William K. Blaisdell, who died at Minneapolis, was to have come to trial yesterday, but by consent it was continued by Judge Wilbur.

W. A. Whetsel was convicted yesterday in Judge Smith's court of having passed a false check for $15 upon a saloon-keeper.

POLYTECHNIC PLANS ADOPTED.

SCHOOL WILL CONSIST OF FOUR BUILDINGS.

Must be Completed by January First—Claim Made that the Equipment Will be Superior to that of Any Other School of Similar Character in the Country.

Plans and specifications for the new Polytechnic High School buildings, which are to be erected on Washington street just west of Bernard Park, were yesterday afternoon adopted by the City Council, and City Clerk Leland was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction work which it is estimated will cost $160,000. Bids will be opened May 23 and the successful contractor will be required to file a bond that he will complete the buildings by January 1, 1905.

Bonds in the amount of $200,000 were voted a year and a half ago for the purchase of a site and construction of a polytechnic building. Of this amount $35,000 has been expended for the grounds and $5000 additional will go to the architects who drew the plans for the buildings.

The Polytechnic High School will be a composite of four buildings. The architecture will be Grecian-Ionic; the buildings will have a cement finish for the outside walls and gravel roofs. They will contain thirty-two class rooms in addition to a gymnasium, assembly hall, libraries, workshops and all the other accessories that go to make up a twentieth century polytechnic school.

The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1600, the entrance will be from Bernard Park. On the ground floor of this building will be the school gymnasium and bathrooms. The auditorium will be used for teachers' meetings, for massing the pupils and for educational assemblages generally.

Facing on Washington street and extending back almost half the length of the grounds to what is to be reserved as an open court, will be the main polytechnic building, which is to be the center of the group. On the ground floor will be the school library, special libraries for the different departments, teachers' rooms and emergency rooms. The second floor will be reserved for the commercial high school classes.

In the rear of the grounds, facing on Twentieth street, will be the science building. This will contain the class laboratories, private laboratories for the teachers, lecture rooms and a special room for astronomy. In the dome of this building will be installed a large telescope, to be used in making astronomical observations.

Facing on Twentieth street just west of the science building will be the workshops and mechanical building. These will comprise a foundry, woodworking shops and rooms set aside for workers in iron.

"The plans for the polytechnic buildings are a composite of the best we could gather all over the country," said Supt. Foshay last night. "For the last two months I have been working with the architects and I am convinced that we shall have the best equipped school of its kind in the country. Although not so large as some of the eastern schools, I feel that in arrangement and equipment it will be superior to them all. It has more modern features than any other school of similar character."

BUCKET-SHOPS.

PROHIBITORY ORDINANCE.

Bucket shop men are on the run. Despairing of knocking out the anti-bucket-shop ordinance, which City Attorney Mathews has completed, a delegation of brokers yesterday invaded the lobbies of the City Hall and prevailed on the Councilmen to delay the passage of the prohibitory measure until they should have time to retire from business in good order. They claimed that they had customers scattered all over the country, and that to close the shops on two or three days' notice would cause an almost irreparable loss to their customers.

The Councilmen so far relented as to agree to delay the ordinance two or three weeks in its passage. When presented to the Council yesterday it was referred to the Committee on Legislation.

This ordinance, which is the first of its kind ever attempted here, has awakened considerable interest in legal circles. It aims to prohibit a business that heretofore has been considered at least so nearly legitimate as to be within the pale of the law.

The ordinance includes the proprietors and all employés of the bucket shops, the owners of the building and the telephone and telegraph companies furnishing the quotations. The text of the ordinance is as follows:

Section 1—It shall be unlawful for any person as principal, agent, employee, or otherwise in the city of Los Angeles, to conduct or carry on or in any capacity to assist in conducting or carrying on the business of making, or offering to make, contracts, agreements, trades or transactions, for or respecting the purchase or the sale of any stock, grain, provisions or other commodity or personal property, wherein such a person contemplates or intends, or wherein both parties thereto contemplate or intend, that such contract, agreement, trade or transaction, shall, or may be, closed, adjusted or settled, according to or on the basis of the public market quotations or prices made by any board of trade or exchange in which the stock or commodity referred to in such contract, agreement, trade or transaction, is dealt in, but without any actual or bona-fide purchase or sale on such board or exchange, or wherein both parties contemplate or intend that such contract, agreement, trade or transaction shall, or may be, deemed closed or terminated when the public market quotation or prices made on such board of trade or exchange for the stock or commodity named in such contract, agreement, trade or transaction, shall reach a certain figure; or wherein both parties to such contract, agreement, trade or transaction do not contemplate the actual or bona-fide receipt or delivery of such property, but do contemplate a settlement and adjustment of such contract, agreement, trade or transaction based on the difference of price at which said stock or commodity is, or is claimed to be, bought or sold.

Sec. 2—It shall be unlawful for any person as principal, agent, employee or otherwise, knowingly to permit any house, room, apartment or place owned by him, or under his charge or control in the city of Los Angeles, to be used, in whole or in part, as a place for conducting or carrying on any business mentioned in Section 1 of this ordinance.

Sec. 3—It shall be unlawful for any person as principal, agent, employee or otherwise, to let or lease any telephone line or wire, knowing that the same is to be or is used for the purpose of conducting or carrying on any of the business mentioned in Section 1 of this ordinance; or to transmit any message over any telegraph or telephone line or wire owned, controlled, leased or used by any person engaged in conducting or carrying on any business mentioned in Section 1 of this ordinance knowing that such message is to be used in conducting or carrying on the same.

CHARTER REVISION.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED.

Acting Mayor Bowen yesterday named Fred Eaton, W. B. Mathews, Frank G. Finlayson and Harry Stafford to act as a committee to consider amendments to the present city charter, to be voted for at the next municipal election. The appointments were promptly ratified by the Council.

Under the provisions of the resolution passed by the Council creating the Charter Revision Committee, the only matters to be considered are the extension of the scope of the civil service and the creation of a municipal Board of Public Works. Friends of civil service are desirous of seeing its scope extended so as to cover all city employés holding minor positions. There are at present about five hundred laborers in the park department, the street department and the water department, who do not come under the protection of the civil service. It has been proposed to make all these civil-service employés.

By the creation of a municipal Board of Public Works, it has been suggested that the office of Superintendent of Streets be abolished, and that the Council Board of Public Works be discontinued.

HOSPITAL ORDINANCE.

COUNCIL MISCELLANY.

Under the provisions of an ordinance passed yesterday by the City Council, maintenance of hospitals, at which patients suffering from contagious or infectious diseases are treated, is forbidden, except in a 200-acre tract of hill land on the borders of Elysian Park. This ordinance, which has been under discussion in the Council for several months, was primarily aimed at the Kaspare Cohn Hospital, a benevolent institution maintained by charitable Hebrews on a little side street just north of Temple street. Clamor was raised by a few of the residents in the neighborhood that a few tuberculosis patients were being treated at the hospital, with others.

Attorneys who are interested in the Kaspare Cohn Hospital claim that the ordinance passed by the Council is class legislation, and that it cannot be sustained in the courts. A test case will probably follow.

F. O. Cass sent a complaint to the Council yesterday that he had been buncoed by the city in a land deal. He said that the Council sold him a lot that belonged to somebody else, and he wanted his money back. Investigation showed that the city owns lot 28 of block 2, Wright's subdivision of the Sisters of Charity tract; but that through some one's error it sold Cass lot 28, block 1, of the same tract. When Cass went to take possession he found another claimant to the property, whose title the abstract companies pronounced to be without a flaw. The Council sent the petition to the City Attorney for adjustment.

Property owners living on North Main street yesterday sent to the Council a protest against the maintenance of a skin manufactory, drying and curing establishment at 1590 North Main street. The complaint recites that the fumes from the curing skins constitute a nuisance. The protest was referred to the Board of Health and the City Attorney.

Friction between the Council and the Board of Supervisors over the purchase of a dozen voting machines caused considerable discussion yesterday in the City Council. The Council recently agreed to purchase jointly with the Supervisors twelve voting machines. The Supervisors ordered twelve U. S. Standard machines. Members of the Council claimed that the order should have been divided between the Standard and Columbia companies. The Council Finance Committee has been instructed to try to effect a compromise by purchasing nine Standard and three Columbia machines.

At the request of City Engineer Stafford the Council yesterday instructed the City Clerk to advertise for bids for vitrified brick, to be used in the construction of the storm sewers. Bids will be opened May 18.

Councilman Kern was yesterday granted a three weeks' leave of absence. Mr. Kern expects to take a trip to St. Louis.

CITY ADVERTISING.

For over an hour yesterday the Council, sitting as a committee of the whole, wrestled with the bids submitted for the city advertising by the Times-Mirror Company, the Express, the Herald and the Journal, without reaching a definite conclusion. Six votes were necessary to make choice, but not more than five could be polled for any competitor. Action was finally deferred for one week.

The bids made by the Express and Journal were the same as those submitted a week ago, the Express bidding 40 cents an inch and the Journal 30 cents. The Express submitted a circulation statement of 22,312, and the Journal of 4500.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Herald submitted a bid of 25 cents an inch for insertion in its columns, Sundays excepted, and submitted a circulation statement greater than that of the Express, it did not receive a single vote in the committee meeting.

The Times-Mirror Company submitted a bid of 60 cents an inch for each insertion, and offered a guarantee that, if it was awarded the contract, it would insert the municipal advertisements in every regular issue, published on every legal day. This the Express failed to do last year, although written affidavit was made in the City Clerk's office that it had done so.

The bid of the Times-Mirror Company was as follows:

"Responding to your published notice entitled, 'Proposals for Publishing City Advertising,' a copy of which is herewith appended, the Times-Mirror Company proposes to publish in the Los Angeles Daily Times, during the coming year, all the city advertising that may be required by the Council, and in the manner required by it, at the rate of 60 cents per inch for each insertion of each notice required. The type to be used shall be either the size known as nonpareil or agate, as the Council, City Clerk or other authorized city official may direct; the same to be set solid and without any avoidable expansion.

"In this connection I give you the circulation of the Los Angeles Times in detail during the period of three months—January, February and March, 1904—as the basis of our bid, and in order that the Council may have the information to which it is fairly entitled.

"During the period named the aggregate circulation was 3,415,050 copies being an average circulation for the regular week-day and Sunday issues of 37,945 copies per day during the entire period named. The daily circulation, not including the Sunday issues, averaged 35,526 copies per day throughout the whole period named.

"The circulation within the city averaged 17,471 copies per day for every day of the three months named.

"On the basis of the average daily circulation (35,526 copies,) after excluding Sundays, our bid is 1.69 cents per inch for each 1000 copies circulated.

"On this point we stand where we have stood before, maintaining that this is the true basis for bidding upon and awarding the contract for city advertising, in order to secure to the city the largest amount of publicity at the least relative cost.

"It is proper for us to say to your honorable body, in explicit terms, that the city advertising, if awarded to The Times, shall be inserted in every regular edition of the paper published on every legal day, when the Council may require the use of its columns, during the period of the contract; and, furthermore, that neither The Times nor any of its owners or representatives have any partnership, agreement, contract, understanding or other arrangement, direct or indirect, with any other newspaper or person in connection with the city advertising, and that no such contract, advertising or arrangement will be entered into by this company.

FIGHTING FOR THE NEST EGG.

Minneapolis Relatives Combating a Brother of the Deceased, Who Resides Here, for What Remains of the Estate, Consisting of About Seventeen Acres of Land.

There was to have been quite a bitter contest in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday but it didn't come off. The attorneys had gotten together and stipulated for a continuance for a few days. The fight, which is only postponed for a short time, is over the sale of certain real estate belonging to the late William K. Blaisdell.

This estate has been a long time in the courts, for the deceased was really a resident of Minneapolis when he died in November, 1901. He left, however, seventeen acres of land at Fruitland, valued approximately at $5000. The deceased left a will which was probated in Minnesota, and in order to administer upon the real property here Robert Blaisdell, a brother, took out letters and was appointed administrator. Then Robert set up a claim against the estate of $9170.60, and not long ago the court was asked to make an order that the seventeen acres be sold. Rachael Van Nest and Isaac B. Cooper, the latter the executor under the will, and both of them devisees, came forward opposing the petition of Robert Blaisdell that the property be sold and after that the lines for a contest were clearly drawn. Depositions had to be taken in Minnesota and a great deal of time has passed, but now there is to be a show-down.

Robert Blaisdell is a man that has been well known in this city, and has been connected with mining ventures of one kind and another. He avers that he loaned nearly $10,000 to his brother years ago, and that the latter told him more than once that he intended to repay him every cent. On the other hand certain of the relatives in Minneapolis state in their depositions that Robert, while visiting there, said that his brother having gone through the bankruptcy court he was knocked out of his money the same as the rest.

As a matter of fact the late William K. Blaisdell received his discharge in bankruptcy in December, 1899, and after that never accumulated much money.

RESULT OF OVERWORK.

J. MASSEY IN THE HOSPITAL.

Joe Massey has followed the business of cement contractor, and has kept so close to business that he is threatened with mental collapse. Last Saturday he accused his wife of attempting to poison him by putting something in his food, and he came very near making an assault upon her. He was arrested on an insanity charge, and was examined yesterday before Judge Wilbur.

It appeared that Massey has been working sometimes as late as 11 and 12 o'clock at night at his trade, and on the other hand has not been obtaining the nourishing food required. Both he and his wife were ambitious to get along, and they have, by self-denial and hard work, got the house and lot they occupy paid for. But the husband recently has found that the few hours given to rest didn't refresh him. He couldn't sleep and became nervous and overwrought. Then followed the delusion regarding the poisoning.

Massey was sent back to the County Hospital for one week. If then showing improvement he will be discharged, otherwise he will go to the State hospital.

MADE JUDGE LAUGH.

JOHN T. BROOKS COMMITTED.

It is always a sad sight to witness the commitment of an insane person, but occasionally one appears so cheerful and indulges in such funny antics that the ludicrous side of things presents itself. Judge Wilbur is generally the personification of dignity, but yesterday both he and the medical examiners roared at the absurd replies and behavior of J. T. Brooks.

Brooks is a bald-headed man about middle age and sat quietly in court while the preliminaries were being gone through. He entertained himself with all manner of little trickeries, but appeared quite rational and polite when he came forward to give an account of himself. He has been suffering from religious mania, and the first question put to him by one of the examiners was:

"What relation did you say you were to Jesus Christ?"

"Brother," answered Brooks in a polite but matter-of-fact way, "I'm a full blood brother. You know He and I were brothers of the Caucasian race—that means the higher life."

With great rapidity of speech Brooks then went on to distinguish between different types.

"There's the black, that means the heinousness of sin; the Mongolian, that means the sere and yellow leaf of humanity; the Red Indian, the blood of man—the vital energy and that kind of thing, and the Caucasian, which is emblematic of the purity of life."

The patient had almost to be choked into silence, for while he was speaking his motions though quiet enough, were grotesque. When asked where he was born he started off again.

"I was born in Illinois. I don't know why ever they called it Illinois unless it was that they couldn't recover from nervous prostration in that rapid-going place."

Brooks said that he had quite a good deal of property and is well known in the city. "There's the Right Honorable George Brooks knows me very well," and the court jotted down the name, thinking perhaps some high-toned relatives of the patient might be glad to hear about him. But Judge Wilbur was speedily undeceived.

"He was a shipping clerk or something, and he and I were side-partners in '83. Then there is Wilder R. Brooks—yes he's my father all right. No, he's not alive. You see, judge, it was this way. He was murdered. It was a put-up job between Germany and Ireland, and I don't just know which one was most responsible."

And so the patient ran along talking incessantly and keeping time with the monkeyish motions of head and hands. When the examination was through he sat quietly enough by himself catching imaginary flies, and showing the greatest enthusiasm when he thought he had squelched one on his bald pate.

WHETSEL GUILTY.

PASSED CROOKED CHECK.

W. A. Whetsel was convicted in short order yesterday in Judge Smith's court for having passed a fictitious check for $15 upon Frank Demond, a saloon keeper at Maple avenue and Fifth street.

It appeared that the defendant had built up his credit with Demond by having small checks cashed by him, and these had invariably been honored at the bank. A month ago Whetsel appeared and asked the saloon keeper to cash a check drawn on the First National Bank by J. W. Cadeuth for $15, and he got the money without any questions being asked.

The check upon presentation was dishonored and it turned out that there was and is no one in the city bearing the name of Cadeuth. When arrested Whetsel claimed that he had received the check from a man at the corner of Fourth and San Pedro streets, but that he had lost the money he had received from Demond. The defence yesterday was equally weak and it took the jury only a few minutes to return with a verdict of guilty as charged.

COUNTED THE CASH.

MONEY IN COUNTY TREASURY.

The county officials made a count of the money in the county treasury yesterday, and found the following on hand: Gold, $955,970; silver, $3015.19; currency, $229.169; total, $1,188,154.19.

County Clerk Keyes yesterday reported having received during the month of April the following amounts: Probate, $565.25; civil, $2248; miscellaneous, $738.35; total, $3551.35. This total was credited as follows: To the treasurer of the law library, $378; salary fund, $3173.60.

LOST HIS TRUNK.

E. W. EAMES WANTS DAMAGES.

On the 8th of last month E. W. Eames of Pasadena shipped a trunk containing clothes and personal effects by freight to his address at Buffalo, N. Y., and expected to have it delivered to him in that city. But he is waiting yet, for the trunk has not turned up at Buffalo, and yesterday he began suit to try and find out just how it came about that it was lost in the shuffle.

The trunk is not of the usual brand of trunks, for it, with its contents, is valued at $987.80. Mr. Eames fails to say in his complaint just what was packed away in his trunk, but the odd cents make it certain that he has the items jotted down. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, the Santa Fé Pacific and the Southern California companies have all been made defendants to the action, as has L. V. Carroll, a transfer man at Pasadena, and J. D. McVean, of the same place, who does a van and storage and transportation business. All of these defendants are called into court to tell what they know about the trunk, and whoever handled it last will be asked to make delivery or pay over the full value.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CREATES A DEBT. The Rindge Navigation and Canal Company has filed certificate of bonded indebtedness in the sum of $500,000, the bonds to run twenty years and bear 5 per cent. interest.

LAND COMPANY. The Los Angeles-Centinela Land Company has incorporated, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, of which amount $225,000 has been subscribed. The directors are J. W. A. Off, C. Lloyd, W. Rodman, J. Cook, C. A. Elder, H. L. Martin and L. R. Garrett.

TO MAKE SHOES. The Sargent Shoe Company has incorporated, with a capital stock of $50,000, of which $20,000 has been subscribed. The directors are C. D. Sargent, G. L. Andrews, R. H. Miller, A. M. Morse and W. H. Vedder, all of Los Angeles.

HIGH SCHOOL BONDS. The $75,000 Whittier High School bonds issue was sold by the Board of Supervisors yesterday to Adams-Phillips Company for $711 premium.

THE GIESE DIVORCE. Louise E. Giese was granted a decree by Judge Trask yesterday divorcing her from Frederick Giese, on the ground of desertion.

STOLE A WHEEL. Nathan Wilk, a youth, was held by Justice Young yesterday in $200 bail to appear for examination on the charge of having stolen a bicycle belonging to Arthur McGrath.

GETS HIS FEES. In the suit of Attorney David Allen against Mrs. Katherine Lewis, wherein the plaintiff was seeking to recover nearly $1400 as fees for services rendered to the late Blanton Duncan, Judge Allen intimated to the defence that they ought to settle for $1000. The court gave the advice without anticipating at all what might happen if the case was carried to final judgment, and the attorneys took the tip and compromised for $900 cash down.

SOLD LIQUOR. G. B. Henry, who runs the Four-mile House on the Mission Road, was arrested by Constable De la Monte and arraigned before Justice Young yesterday, on the charge of selling liquor without a license. He was held to appear for trial in $200 bail.

HUSBAND IN STUPOR. Mrs. Clara L. Wendelborn stated yesterday before Judge Conrey that her husband used to bring home twelve bottles of beer every Saturday night to carry him over Sunday. Then instead of going to church he would have a quiet drunk by himself, and remain in a stupor that was broken only when he would rouse up to curse and blaspheme at anything that displeased him. He is an employé of the Maier & Zobelein Brewery Company, and his wife was suing him for a divorce on the ground of failure to provide. The decree was granted and an order made for $30 a month alimony.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

WHEN A HOG IS NOT A HOG.

MEAT INSPECTOR HUGHES TELLS HOW TO KNOW IT.

Pork Not Pork Until Dressed Ready for Market—Drug Clerk Fined for Selling Beer on Sunday. Two Bad Actors Given Long Terms in Jail.

Just when a hog isn't a hog was officially determined yesterday in Justice Austin's department of the Police Court.

This ticklish question has bothered a good many persons a long time, but City Meat Inspector Hughes has officially settled it by declaring under oath that a hog is a hog until he is killed and dressed for market, and then he is pork. Just what the status of a pig is was not determined, and the final settlement of this riddle will have to wait. Pork is absolutely nothing, and is without form and void until it's ready to be sold and eaten; then it is pork.

All this philosophical reasoning came out in the case of the People vs. B. Burge, a butcher and cattle buyer south of this city, who was accused of selling consumptive hog-pork to Paul Valoi, a North Main-street retail butcher. Inspector Hughes, who was nosing around Valoi's place two weeks ago, saw a hog-pork carcass in the shop that had a piece of consumptive lung still sticking to its ribs. Then Valoi told where he got the hog-pork, Hughes had the lung analyzed by the City Bacteriologist, and after that it was back to the Police Court with Mr. Burge, who had killed and sold it.

The main facts were not denied, and then Dr. Effie Leonardt, City Bacteriologist, testified all about the different kinds of diseased lungs, including bacilli, tuberculosis, tumors, nodules, cholera, and other appetising things that hogs are afflicted with. Burge said he did not know the particular diseased hog, and had never had a complaint before, but he was adjudged guilty just the same, and will be sentenced later in the week.

More Sunday Beer.

It seems that good people can even buy beer on Sunday in the swell residence districts, and Johnny Boyer, a drug clerk found it out to his sorrow yesterday, for Justice Chambers fined him $50 for doing the selling. Johnny clerks in Smeed's drug store at No. 722 Jefferson street, and last Sunday sold beer to a number of persons who did not want to walk down town for it. One of these happened to be an officer, and Johnny was promptly arrested. The drug store proprietor was not there, but before he left he had told Johnny to sell the beer, but to "be careful." He evidently tried to be, but wasn't.

Stiff Sentences.

Charles Ross, a typical hobo who is too strong to work, and William Horan, a bad actor who insulted a woman on South Alameda street, were each handed ninety days in jail yesterday by Justice Chambers. Horan's case was an aggravated one, and he got the limit.

SAYS SHOTS CONFUSED HIM.

HUMANE OFFICER CARPENTER TELLS OF SLAYING.

Makes Statement Indicating Much Promiscuous Shooting Just Before He Fired and He Could Not Tell Whether Firing Was Signal or Attack Against Him.

The County Jail still holds Humane Officer C. F. Carpenter who shot and killed C. David Frey at the cocking main near the San Fernando road Sunday afternoon. Carpenter remains behind the bars awaiting a preliminary hearing in a justice court.

Mrs. Frey did not swear out a warrant charging murder yesterday, as she was too shocked to appear in the District Attorney's office. Her friends say that she will do so this morning, however, and it is expected that Carpenter will be arraigned immediately and an early date will be set for the preliminary examination. The matter of bond will be taken up at the arraignment and an effort will be made by the Humane Society to have Carpenter released pending his preliminary hearing.

Coroner Trout has ordered an inquest at the undertaking parlors of John R. Paul, No. 421 Downey avenue, at 10 o'clock this morning and a host of witnesses will be present. Many interesting facts are expected to be brought out at the inquest.

Not since the famous Choiaser slaying has a homicide caused so much discussion as the Frey affair. On all sides yesterday, in police and court circles and on the streets, it was talked of and the outcome of the legal battle, which is certain to result, was a theme of particular conjecture.

Dr. G. W. Campbell performed an autopsy at the undertaking establishment about 1 o'clock in the afternoon and found that the bullet had entered the back about five inches below the right shoulder blade and two and a half inches from the spinal cord. Its range was upward through the lung, lodging in the muscles of the breast. Death resulted from internal hemorrhage as the pulmonary artery was severed. The bullet was a 38 caliber size.

Carpenter still refuses to discuss the case except with his attorney, Earl Rogers, and through the latter it was stated yesterday that the defense will contend that if the bullet that caused Frey's death was really shot by Carpenter, it was not discharged with murderous intent. The officer says that there was a great deal of promiscuous shooting and he could not tell at the moment whether the shots were intended as signals or for himself.

Another point put forward by Attorney Rogers is that the autopsy shows from the range of the bullet that Frey was leaning forward at the time and he might have been reaching for a gun. Further it is claimed by the defense that spectators and principals alike had been guilty of misdemeanors and they had no right to resist or attempt to evade arrest by officers of the Humane Society. The defense will claim that with shots ringing all around him Carpenter was justified in shooting.

JUSTICE WIELDS SPURS.

Fines and scathing lectures were the portion of cock-fight visitors in the Township Court before Justice Pierce yesterday. The statute makes it an offense to even so much as be a spectator when the mailed roosters do their deadly battle.

Among others for whom warrants had been sworn out for being present were John Harris, A. S. Nadeau and James Hunter. They were brought before the magistrate, who read to them a severe lecture on the brutality of the so-called sport which they had encouraged by their presence, and then fined them $25 each.

Irvine Linson, one of the "sports" who had taken two birds down to the cock-pit, but who hadn't yet fought them when the raid was made, came into court of his own volition. He knew he was wanted and didn't wait to be arrested. The court scored him worse than his companions who had gone before, and read to him the section of the statute specifically bearing upon cock-fighting. Linson's legal education had been neglected for he didn't know all the ins and outs of the situation. Justice Pierce told him that not only was the sport brutal but it had a demoralising effect upon the men and boys who were found as the patrons of such exhibitions; and the law very rightly had specifically prohibited such cruelties carried on under the guise of sport.

Linson is a big heavy-set and rather good-looking fellow. He took his medicine without flinching. The court fined him $30, raising him five for his having shown his intention to be an active participant in the cock-fighting by having two birds in his possession. The defendant pulled out a small handful of gold and paid his fine, and then asked for an order so that he might recover his two game cocks.

SOCIETY KEEPS BIRDS.

Justice Pierce refused to allow the game cocks to be taken by their owners when a vigorous protest against it was entered by Attorney Rogers for the Humane Society. The fowls were allowed to stay in custody of the Society, the officers of which agreed to secure the services of an expert to care for them. Officer Zimmer would not say how many birds he had in his possession but he states emphatically that no more cock-fighting cases would be brought before Justice Pierce.

Zimmer did not like it because the court allowed the men to plead guilty and escape with nominal fines, and said that the cases against other spectators will probably be brought before Justice Klamroth in Pasadena. The Humane officer says that the cock-fighters have so flagrantly violated the law that he hopes to prove their guilt beyond peradventure and he will ask the court to impose a fine of $500 in each case.

J. Adock, Tony Schwamm, Alfred Moore, Peter Pulsenger, E. L. Hutchison, Nick Oswald.

Of this choice collection, Nick Oswald was the man who managed the Arlington when it was opened as a miniature crib district; "El Hutch" is lawyer for the Council of Labor; Tony Schwamm, the proposer of Hearst resolutions.

These men Savage brutally rammed down the throats of the better Democrats Saturday night, the other Democrats, not in the push, withdrawing their names from the lists in disgust, and refusing to run.

PROFESSIONAL MIXERS.

But the muss in the Seventy-fifth is to be a joy forever.

Both tickets, caucus and the stampeding ticket, are made up of political bosses with the names blown in the bottle. All the old war horses out against each other.

One bunch with, fine disdain came around to the caucus Saturday night and watched the other bunch being nominated. Watched with pitying scorn as though saying, "Oh, well, let 'em have a handicap."

The caucus ticket put up was: Tom C. Thornton, Oscar Farish, Joe Mansfield, A. M. Norton, W. O. Morton, James Craig, Martin Marsh, E. F. Wehrle.

Yesterday Eddie Morris and Tom McCaffery (of the S. P.) got together and brought out an opposition ticket, neither of them being on it—except professionally.

Denio Out of the Race.

LONG BEACH, May 2.—Attorney E. C. Denio, whose name has been announced in connection with the contest for State Senator, has withdrawn because his business and professional engagements make it impossible for him to go through the campaign or to serve if elected. Naturally there is no answer to this, but the regrets the decision has called forth are of themselves a high compliment to the resigning candidate.

Political Notes.

N. W. Thompson, who has been for many years prominent in Alhambra, will run for the Assembly from that district, having just announced himself.

George D. Barron, a public-spirited citizen of Compton, has announced himself as a candidate for Supervisor from the Fourth District.

Wants Hearst Turned Down.

SAN DIEGO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In sending to voters the regular ticket for delegates to the State convention to be voted on at tomorrow's primaries, the County Central Committee appeals to Democrats to turn down the Hearst ticket and urges support of the unpledged ticket, nominated by the committee. It is supposed considerable Hearst money will be used in an attempt to carry the election for Hearst.

No Competition.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints, both in children and adults, has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival, and as every one who has used it knows, is without an equal.

FOR EQUAL RIGHTS.

Firm Stand Taken by Colorado's Governor for Industrial Liberty and Law and Order.

Gov. Peabody of Colorado has won the confidence and respect of the law-abiding people of that State by the fearless stand he has taken in the industrial turmoil caused by unionism. His position is well defined and the dangers to which he has been subjected are shown in the following letter from him to the editor of The Times. The letter says in part:

"I beg to take this early opportunity to express to you my pleasure and appreciation over the receipt of your splendid letter, and assure you that words of commendation and encouragement coming from you, who have been through the fire and have studied the question of industrial disturbances from 'A to Z,' are worthy of appreciation and consideration. That my efforts to control the lawless element in Colorado should merit your approval goes far to remove the bitterness entailed by the vicious criticisms which have been heaped upon me from some of our local papers, and I regret to say, some of our public men.

"The principle upon which this contest has been fought is one of protection to every citizen in the enjoyment of his inherent rights in pursuing any lawful employment in a lawful manner for the support of his family and the betterment of himself and society. I cannot believe in the idea that a laboring man who has several little bodies to clothe and hungry mouths to feed shall be denied the right to labor more than eight hours when he may do so consistently; and if he be perfectly willing to labor ten or twelve hours for the maintenance of his family, I deny the right of any individual or organization to compel him to cease when the clock strikes the eighth hour; nor will I permit the denial of that right if it requires the entire power of the State to enforce it.

"I have made no assault upon organized labor as such. I grant to adherents of that belief a perfect right to join any labor organization of their choice, but deny them any rights obtained thereunder which cannot be enjoyed by every other citizen who may not belong to a similar organization. I wish that it might be possible for every man and woman who belongs to the laboring classes to earn a competent livelihood with eight hours devoted to labor; but unfortunately there are certain conditions in every community which require other rules to govern; and while one may earn sufficient for his daily needs in six hours, it may take another ten or twelve hours to perform the same work or earn the same wages.

"I therefore am compelled to the conclusion that the freedom of America is in danger when arbitrary rules shall control the laboring classes.

"It is true that by reason of the stand I have taken, my life has been threatened, my property and business interests assailed, and the most vindictive assertions made in private and in public against me; but I wish to say to you that none of these have had, or will have, the slightest effect in preventing me from performing my whole duty to the people of this State, as I understand my oath of office.

"Most respectfully yours,

"JAMES H. PEABODY, Governor."

NEW CHURCH.

Highland Park Presbyterians Will Soon Begin the Erection of a House of Worship.

Sunday morning the Presbyterians of Highland Park raised a little over $5000 for their new church building, which they expect to erect in the near future on the corner of Pasadena and Avenue 54. While two valuable and well located lots have been in possession of the church for some time, it has been impossible to raise sufficient capital to begin the erection of the $15,000 structure that was contemplated. On Sunday the committee presented a modified plan, by which a building sufficient for present needs could be erected with the funds on hand. It is proposed to erect a Sunday-school room, which will seat at least three hundred. This room will have as its front the wall intended for the church building, so that when the congregation is able, this front wall can be moved forward and the church proper built in between it and the Sunday-school room. The church, as planned, will be in the old Mission style of architecture.

Rev. Franklin P. Berry, D.D., the pastor, will leave soon to attend the General Assembly, which will be held at Albany, N. Y.

PERSONAL.

P. E. Kern of Skagway is at the Hollenbeck for a short time. He is a miner.

Rev. C. W. Fraser of the same place is registered at the Hollenbeck with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dunlap of Atlanta, Ga., and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Whitlock of Richmond are guests at the Angelus.

Rev. W. H. C. Goode of Sidney, O., arrived in Los Angeles with his wife and child yesterday, and is registered at the Hollenbeck.

E. H. Carlsen and wife of Copenhagen and G. Seivel and wife of Breslau were arrivals in the city yesterday, the Denmark people staying at the Nadeau, and those from Breslau registering at the Angelus.

N. Nakamura, a Japanese merchant, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on his way around the world, a trip undertaken to study commercial conditions of western nations. He has been gone since 1901, and has visited every country in Europe, picking up six languages on the way. His book of passports is signed by the Shah of Persia among others. He will be gone another year before returning to Japan.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

THERE has been much social attention shown Miss Hilda Van Sickler of Alameda, who, for the past two weeks, has been the guest of Mrs. J. H. F. Peck of the Baker Block. Last evening Miss Marie Spitley was the hostess at a delightful theater party in Miss Van Sickler's honor, at the Orpheum, and after the performance the guests went to the Angelus, where supper was served. Miss Spitley had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. J. H. F. Peck, Miss Van Sickler, Miss Charlotte Workman, T. C. Masson, Walter Comstock, Fred Stamm and George Stamm.

Invitations Out.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Prescott Bailey have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Louise, to Bayard Smith Gallaudet, on Wednesday afternoon, the 18th inst., at 4 o'clock; the ceremony taking place in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at Hollywood. Miss Bailey will be attended by her sister, Miss Charlotte Bailey, and there will be three pretty girls in light gowns to assist as ushers. They are Misses Mae Prentice, Marie Gavagan and Louise McFarland. The Hollywood car goes to the door of the church, which is on the corner of Iver and Prospect avenues.

Wade Hampton Chapter.

The Wade Hampton Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will receive at the Woman's Club House, on Monday evening, the 16th inst. There will be cards and dancing.

Reception to Conference.

The conference board of the Woman's Home Missionary Society will give a reception in honor of the visiting members of the Woman's Home Missionary Society to the General Conference, on Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. A. T. Wallace, No. 2147 Harvard boulevard. The affair is to be from 2 until 5 o'clock. Take Washington-street car.

Luncheon for Miss Coulter.

At noon today at the California Club, Mrs. Oscar A. Trippet entertains at luncheon in honor of Miss Fanny Coulter and Miss Inez Moore, who will leave Thursday for an extended trip in the East. Guests on the occasion are to be Mrs. Westfeldt, Mrs. Jack McCrea, Mrs. Harold Braly, Mrs. John Posey, Miss Dimple Dyas, Miss Lelia Simonds, Miss Bertha Pollard, Miss Eva Elizabeth Keating, Miss Juliette Phelps, Miss Elsie Laux, Miss Adele Brodtbeck, Miss Anna Chapman, Miss Anna Kuhan, Miss McDannell and Miss Lavayea.

At Church of Angels.

Miss Flora Beal Bradley became the bride of Lloyd Brent Shipley on Sunday, the ceremony taking place at the Church of the Angels at Garvanza just before the afternoon service. Rev. A. G. S. Trew of East Los Angeles officiated, and there were more than fifty friends and relatives present. Miss Adaline Bradley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Earl Smith stood with the groom. The bride wore a handsome gown of white silk mull, and carried lilies of the valley. She was given away by her father, Willitt Bradley of Butte, Mont. Mr. and Mrs. Shipley left immediately for the north, and on their return will live at No. 677 Summit avenue.

Party at the Grand.

There were numerous members of the younger set seen last evening at the Grand to witness the performances of "The Crisis" by Isabel Irving. In one party was Miss Lelia Simonds, Miss Bertha Pollard, and Bud Storey, and Winthrope Blackstone and Miss Adele Brodtbeck and Fred Phelps. After the performance these young people were served with supper at a downtown café.

Pink Tea.

Mrs. Elmer Barber of No. 877 South Hill street entertained yesterday afternoon with a pink tea, at which the table was particularly dainty with pink sweet peas, and pink satin ribbons. Cards, which were at each place, were marked with white satin ribbons and tiny clusters of sweet peas. Guests of Mrs. Barber at this function were Mrs. Frank Dobinson of Baraboo, Wis.; Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. Fred Koler, Mrs. Charles Sole, Miss Clara Morton, Miss Stella Smith and Miss Bessie Fack. Last evening the party were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hiram Morse of Altadena at a delightful dinner.

Friday Morning Club.

This afternoon the members of the Friday Morning Club are to enjoy a tea, and on the occasion they are to have the pleasure of hearing a rising young violinist, Miss Desirie Heloise Coutelanc, who is one of J. Bond Francisco's most prized pupils. Miss Coutelanc is from Santa Barbara, and has been studying with Mr. Francisco for some time. The tea is to be from 4 o'clock until 5.

Card Party Thursday.

Mrs. Davis Richards of No. 1689 Adams street will give a card party on Thursday afternoon, which promises to be an elaborate affair.

For Admiral Dewey's Niece.

Miss Dewey, niece of Admiral Dewey, who has been touring California, and left a day or so ago for San Francisco, was the guest of honor at a large dance given by the guests of Gray Gables and Hotel Rookwood on one evening last week. The dance took place at the Rookwood, and the rooms were elaborately decorated with flowers and potted plants. There were about one hundred guests present. Later refreshments were served. Miss Dewey, with her mother, Mrs. Lindsey, has been in Los Angeles for the winter.

Complimentary Dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Nichols of No. 932 Wall street entertain at dinner this evening in honor of Mrs. Ballinger and Miss Ballinger of Washington, D. C., who are visiting in the city.

"The Marriage-maker."

Friday night Garnet Holme produces "The Marriage Maker" at the Tabernacle, Long Beach. A special cast has been selected, and as it is a play that is exceptionally bright and amusing, it is sure to be well received.

Notes and Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson, No. 2428 Hoover street, left on Monday via the Santa Fé for an extended eastern trip to include Wisconsin, Vermont, New York, and other points of interest.

The many friends of Mrs. J. P. Trafton of No. 176 Bonnie Brae street will be glad to learn that she is enjoying a visit in New York and other eastern points, and is gaining rapidly in health. She is arranging to place her daughters, Alice and Ruth, in school there.

Troop D, N.G.C., have issued attractive invitations for their leap-year dance on Friday evening, at the Armory, corner Eighth and Spring streets. Arend's Orchestra will furnish the music.

For Miss Church.

Miss Katherine Church of Corsicana, Tex., has been through the winter the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Dr. Benjamin F. Church of No. 845 Alvarado street, and has received much social attention since her arrival. She intends leaving for her home, via St. Louis and New Orleans, on Saturday. As a farewell for her Mrs. A. L. Granger of No. 1040 Alvarado street has planned an affair to be given tonight.

Monday Musicale.

Mrs. Charles M. Clark of No. 2807 Downey avenue entertained the members of the Monday Musical Club yesterday afternoon. There was an interesting programme presented.

Leave for Albuquerque.

"Horror" Social.

The Los Angeles Y.W.C.T.U. held a "horror" social at the home of Miss Grace Metzler, No. 318 North Avenue 53, Friday evening. A large ghost was placed in an alcove attic of easy access. Cords were stretched from all the rooms, and each person followed a cord which led to "spookville." Some of the horrors were suggestive of the results of intemperance. Besides games which afforded much amusement an interesting programme consisting of addresses, recitations, piano and vocal selections was enjoyed. Miss Stickney, county president of the W.C.T.U., gave an address. The decorations were of blue and white crepe paper and white bows and smilax.

Notes and Personals.

Mrs. W. A. Wilgus and infant son of San Francisco are visiting at the home of Mrs. Wilgus's mother, Mrs. A. C. Shafer, at No. 2801 South Main street.

Mrs. Arthur Letts will receive at No. 675 Rampart street on May 6.

Mrs. M. K. Suber of No. 1015 Orange street left Saturday for Chicago, being called there by the death of her father.

The Syracuse (N. Y.) Society will hold a social tomorrow evening at Burbank Hall, an entertaining programme has been arranged. A general invitation to Syracusans has been issued.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Mrs. W. S. Vineyard of No. 673 Bonnie Brae street is entertaining Mrs. Charles N. Green, a prominent club woman of Colorado Springs who is establishing an auxiliary of the Cliff Dwellings Association in California. Mrs. Green comes with letters of authority from the mother association of which she is a vice-regent, she is also a member of the executive board of the Woman's Club of Colorado Springs and will make Los Angeles her home after the coming summer.

Like the big trees of California, and other historical and natural treasures, the cliff dwellings that lie in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah are worthy of preservation, speaking as they do of a past age in this country of ours and the Colorado women who were the first to agitate the subject feel that all States alike should work to keep them from disappearing through vandalism. The Colorado association includes seventy-five of the leading women of that State. Among them are Mrs. Platt-Decker, Mrs. Peabody and her niece, the wife of Congressman Brooks, and Mrs. Gilbert McClurg, who is a world-renowned lecturer and authority upon this subject.

The French Play

"Un Cercle de Femmes" at the Ebell Club yesterday afternoon was a fetching affair and if Gay Paree is half as pleasant as that brilliantly gowned circle of pretty women, any American would be willing to go there after death. Certainly, as Mme. Donato said at the end of the play, these members of the French section will be able to make themselves understood if they go to Paris, either before or after death.

Mme. Donato, arrayed in black gown, real lace, gray wig and wondrous bonnet, was a delightful, meddlesome old lady in the play who managed to strike terror to the hearts of the members of the women's circle. Mme. LeDoux, strikingly gowned, was a handsome, exceedingly unparliamentary president of the woman's club, who pounded the table for silence, when the chatty circle was already silent, and who favored her audience, as well as her small circle, with two very charming French songs.

Miss Helen Louise Kimball as Julian, the man in the play, was fine. She travestied the foppish Frenchman in great style and made love in a commendably energetic fashion, but most anyone would have made love to Miss LaTouche, she was so pretty and fetching and altogether fascinating. Mme. de Briare was taken by Miss Asbury Kent, who, clothed in a brilliant red gown, was a prominent member of the feminine circle and decidedly hard to quench.

Of course the members of this French circle talked at the same time and did all the things that women's clubs are supposed to do but which, truth to tell, they seldom do and all of the characters in the little comedy contributed to the general happy effect and to the credit of Mme. Donato, their instructor, be it said that they really talked French "as she is spoke in France." After the play tea was served and the whole affair discussed in English.

The cast was as follows: Mme. Barlés, Mrs. J. A. LeDoux; Mme. de Briare, Miss Asbury Kent; Mme. Raymond, Miss Grace Wyckoff; Mme. Doucet, Miss Reba Smith; Mme. Savary, Miss Ida Underhill; Mme. Beaupre, Mrs. George W. Horn; Mme. Robert, Mrs. William Garland; Mme. Benoit, Mrs. L. Otis Shaw; La Baronne, Mrs. J. A. Donato; Lucille, the niece of Mme. Barlés, Miss Hazel LaTouche; Celestine, the maid, Mrs. J. O. Lowe; Julien, the cousin aof Mme. Barlés, Miss Kimball.

The Perfect Waiter.

The complete waiter, like the angler and the poet, is born, not made. Fortunately, however, for the comfort of the world a great waiter is born a good deal more frequently that a great poet. Both must have a remarkable combination of facilities; the perfect waiter must handle the knife like a skilled surgeon, plates, dishes, forks and spoons like a conjurer, know as much of the dishes he serves as any epicure, be as quick on his feet as a ballet girl, and as sweet in his temper as an angel. It is a tribute to the possibilities of human nature to say that such admirable Crichtons can be found. —[London Telegraph.

WOULD BREAK THE MERGER.

MAN AT CLAREMONT WOULD THROW EXCHANGES OPEN.

Favors Separation of the Two Bodies Composing the California Fruit Agency—Says the Growers' Organization Did Not Antagonize the Eastern Dealers.

Failure to accomplish its announced purposes, inefficiency, coercion and other sins of omission and commission are laid at the door of the California Fruit Agency—the merger— by Frank L. Palmer in an address delivered before the Claremont Pomological Club.

Mr. Palmer holds that the orange industry has reached the point of overproduction and says "that the California Fruit Agency has failed to meet the existing situation, and, what is worse, that is has been following a singularly bad policy.

"The strongest argument," he says, "in favor of the formation of the California Fruit Agency was that the distribution of the fruit would thereby be placed in the hands of one central organization, and that a proper distribution of the fruit would thus be made; and that the glutting of markets would thus be prevented, and the attendant evils be eradicated. Not only was the agency formed for this special purpose, but at the beginning of this season when the directors knew there was an immense crop to be marketed (which they estimated at 30,000 carloads,) they stated in explicit terms that they had made a canvass and had ascertained the requirements of every market in the United States and Canada; and they promised with the utmost confidence to place only so much fruit in each market as would meet its requirements. This was one of the strong arguments used to induce the outstanding independent shippers to come into their organization. The president of the agency is a man who was supposed to have special qualifications for meeting the situation. He was indeed supposed in some quarters to me a modern Moses who would lead this people out of all their troubles; and his salary seems to have been fixed on some such basis."

After discussing unfavorably the coercive methods employed by the agency Mr. Palmer tells of the antagonism which these methods have aroused among eastern dealers, and says:

"These jobbers and dealers, great and small, constitute what we know as the eastern trade. Why is it that today they are so much more antagonistic against the California Fruit Agency than they ever were against the Southern California Fruit Exchange? Even the most pronounced commission houses have in past seasons bought freely from the Southern California Fruit Exchange. Why is it that they have any less kindly feeling today? It is because they have been antagonized by unwise methods. I understand that one of the directors of the California Fruit Agency was formerly connected with the banana trust, and it would seem to an outsider that his counsels and his policy have prevailed and have been adopted by the agency.

"I hold that if the California Fruit Agency had secured control of all the oranges in California," says Mr. Palmer, "the results would still have been bad. A monopoly of all the fruit in the hands of one organization is not to the best interests of the orange industry."

Dissolution of the merger and an "open door" for the growers are advocated by Mr. Palmer, who says: "I favor the withdrawal of the Southern California Fruit Exchange from the California Fruit Agency; and, after that being done, that the Southern California Fruit Exchange shall open its doors to new members. Were this done I believe the exchange would acquire, through new membership, all the strength it requires for accomplishing the best results. The place for all small growers is inside the exchange; that is their natural and proper home. Not so, however, as I take it, with the large grower. He does not require the shelter of the exchange. Let him build his own packing-house and ship his own fruit. He will not harm the exchange. You will not find him cutting prices. Has C. C. Chapman ever cut prices? Has the Richards grove ever cut prices or any other of the large growers? Never. On the contrary, they take a pride in doing things in the best way they know how; and their fruit has always been sold for as much money as any of its class. If, therefore, the time comes when the exchange opens its doors to new members, I would favor limiting the new members to such growers as own not more than forty acres of oranges. I know that the exchange has in the past been a great power for good, and I desire most heartily to see its past usefulness restored."

MR. JUSTICE FINNEM

TO CUTICURA

The World Is Cuticura's Debtor Used Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and since the beginning of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face and neck and on one limb. I have for several months under professional treatments, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail, and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was painfully disfigured and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies. She gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The eczema soon began to disappear and my hair commenced to grow again. The rapid growth of hair is covering my head, and my limb (although not perfectly cured) is gradually improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them from time to time to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints. As President of the Bible Society, has told the Bible Society's report if any case should come to their notice when a poor person was afflicted, so that your remedies might be resorted to."

BANK CLEARINGS. Bank clearings today were $1,194,402.63, against $1,62[illegible] for the corresponding day [illegible], $1,413,407.69 for the same day [illegible].

DUN ON PACIFIC COAST CONDITIONS. Crop conditions throughout the State are somewhat mixed. [illegible] descriptions will fall below the average, especially in the flooded districts at the north and from deficient moisture at the south. The first Alaskan salmon fleet left port March 18, when five vessels went out, followed by three more at the close of that month. In the first two weeks of April twenty-two more were cleared, making in all thirty, while there are [illegible] for twenty more to follow. Many of them are large vessels, carrying a considerable number of employés to the canneries and fishing stations, and supplies for the same to the value of over $700,000. Seven cod fishers have cleared for the north, to return in the summer and fall with cargoes. The Panama steamer on the 9th took 86,2[illegible] cases of wine, 162,300 pounds of wool, [illegible] cases salmon, 100 cases honey and [illegible] tons pig lead in transit for New York. Last steamer from Japan brought the equivalent of $2,823,000 in coin, the largest invoice yet received. These heavy imports of Japan will have furnished the local mints with an abundance of coinage material. [illegible] $32,113,500 in double eagles were coined in March, which beats the mint's record. For the first quarter of the local mint reports $28,224,000, which $24,973,500 was in double eagles, [illegible],050 in half eagles and $1,462,500 in standard dollars. This is $44,575,114 less than of the first quarter of 1903, and only places the San Francisco Mint at the lead. More than one-half of the coinage of all the mints for March was executed in this city. Customs receipts at this port for March were [illegible],484, making $1,982,761 for the quarter, a decrease of $112,833 from 1903. Internal revenue collections in the San Francisco district for March were $[illegible], an increase of $42,225 over March last year. Wheat exports for the quarter were 359,635 centals, against 2,225,067 for same quarter last year, and 468,300 centals barley, an increase of 134,000 centals. City's real estate sales in March were $3,703,76[illegible], making $10,562,374 for the quarter. Building contracts for March were issued at $1,567,000, making $3,238,[illegible] for the quarter. City real estate loans for March aggregated $2,823,500, making $8,556,197 for the quarter. Money is plentiful at the banks, where the general rate is 6 per cent. Drafts on New York are 12½ cents for sight and [illegible] cents for telegraphic.

CATTLE. Exports during the past week included 24,900 cases of salmon, [illegible] tons in all lines is reported fairly [illegible] machinery. Prospects are bright for a large business in Alaska this year. Collections are slow, but the general outlook is favorable.—Trade's Review.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Washington—Secretary Shaw will pay $50,000,000 for the Panama Canal next week, $40,000,000 to the French company, and $10,000,000 to the republic of Panama.

WASHINGTON—It is stated at the treasury that no request has been preferred there by the Panama Canal company for an additional million dollars, as reported, and, even if it were, it could not be paid them without an appropriation by Congress for a specific purpose.

Rice on pig iron from Ohio River points to Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis and the Indiana gas belt territory have been reduced today. The rates will range from $1.80 to $1 per [illegible].

It is announced from St. Louis that articles of incorporation for the Daniel Cotton Improvement Company, capitalized at $5,000,000, have been filed [illegible] Trenton, N. J.

OFFICIAL SALES. The Stock Exchange was more active yesterday than for some time previous. The following sales are noted: 35 Union Oil, $56, 50 cents more than was asked.

COMMERCIAL.

ENGLISH FIRM'S OPINION. Wilson & Stanton of Rood Lane, London, E. C., in their report on the wheat market under date of April 15, say: "There is a very encouraging feature that prices during last month were considerably above the normal; they can only be compared with figures for the previous year as clearances were unusually small in view of a possible reduction in the duty. Deliveries from June 1 to March 31, during the three seasons afford little indication of the actual condition of the trade owing to their disturbance through possible changes in the duty. The market reopened after the holidays with a very steady tone, competition being strong for all descriptions, and in some instances, slight advances were recorded."—[Summary.

FRUIT MOVEMENT. Saturday and Monday showed 166 cars of oranges and 1 of lemons, and 6 of lemons, making a total to date of 14,943.

CROP RICE. A review of the rice crop for the next rice field has appeared in the New Orleans Picayune, which contains much information of a general nature. Its summary of the situation indicates that the outlook in the rice districts of Louisiana was never more promising. For the last two months conditions have been perfect, during the planting season there was the proper amount of moisture. Although the encroachment of the rice [illegible] threatens to slightly reduce the total acreage, the splendid progress made in planting promises that there will be on the market about the same time earlier than in the previous year, while the seed will be all in the ground by about the end of this month. Recent experience has taught the great importance of securing the best grades of Honduras and Japan seed, and more attention has been given to their cultivation this season. Rice sown under better handling and [illegible] to choicer qualities will not only return a better price per pound, but probably as many pounds. The average will be larger, especially in the new Japanese colony. Improved facilities for irrigation will be in use this season, and locks on the Mermentau river will eliminate danger from salt water. Practically the only cause for fear is the wind storms of the harvest season, and an early crop will be under cover before any severe weather. Many new mills have been erected, and others are contemplated, the new Kansas City plant being prepared to handle 100,000 sacks per season.—[Dun's Review.

ORE OF UTAH. The iron ore deposits of Southern Utah are soon to be opened up and the value of the same will be made known. As soon as the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road is completed, a question of comparatively few miles, the Utah fields will have transportation facilities. Development has been prevented from lack of

FORTY-NINE CARS OF ORANGES SOLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Forty-nine cars of oranges were sold today.

AGENCY SALES.

The agency had forty-one cars. Extra fancy Washington navels, 2.20@2.45, average 2.22, 2 to 10 per cent. decay; fancy Washington navels, 2.50@2.55, average 2.61, 3 to 15 per cent. decay; choice Washington navels, 2.25@2.45, average 1.52, 2 to 20 per cent. decay. Blue Globe tangerines averaged 1.25. Blue Seal tangerines averaged 1.25. Squirrel bloods averaged 2.22. Blue Seal Mediterranean sweets averaged 2.12. The agency sold 1200 boxes of 252s, extra fancy, 1000 boxes of fancy and 3000 boxes of choice. The low average on choice was due to several cars which arrived in bad order, and also to excessive quantity of large sizes. There were thirty-five refrigerators, seven ventilators. The highest attendance was 217; lowest 98; buyers, 155.

INDEPENDENT SALES.

The Independents had seven cars. Extra fancy Washington navels, 2.75@3.05, average 2.15, sound; fancy Washington navels, 2.50@2.55, average 1.97, sound; choice Washington navels, 2.25@2.40, average 1.55, sound. All refrigerators. The highest attendance was 61, lowest 21, buyers 64.

Branch lines are to be built from the San Pedro main line to the ore fields, and Utah Lake is to be made the site, if pending plans are carried out: for blast furnaces and a steel plant.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and S. B. Mitner & Sons of Salt Lake own practically all the ores. The former owns about 75 per cent. and the latter nearly 20 per cent.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The Butter Board of Trade did not Saturday, but did not reduce, or advance the price of local creamery, as has been predicted by many prominent jobbers along the streets. President Bingham says: "I see no reason for any change," and therefore there will be no change for the present, at least.

Receipts of fish and crabs were only sufficient to fill orders Monday and it will be many a long day before the fishermen of Newport, Redondo and San Pedro forget the wind and waves on the ocean Sunday, which caused them to hurry back to port—fabulous.

The rhubarb market has another Richmond in the field; San José sent in a large consignment of very fine rhubarb Monday. The trust asks 70 to 80 cents per box, choice, while the fancy San José sells at 50 cents.

High winds did considerable damage to vines and berries Sunday, also retarding the picking of fruit. Deliveries Monday fell short, but price remains as usual. The berries, being sent in are fair in quality.

All other fruits and vegetables unchanged.

Prices Current.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 2.—A larger volume of business was transacted on the Stock Exchange today than the average done last week, and fluctuations were wider. The specific causes of the firmness and heaviness of the market were not easy to discern, but the desire to see the operation of the Panama Canal payment terminated has its influence in keeping settlements unsettled. The ruthlessness observed by the agents in these operations to details by which it is to be carried out leaves little basis for accurate estimates, and the general assurances offered by those agents that every precaution has been taken to guard against disturbance of the money market does not entirely accomplish its purpose. It is realized that the devices of the French syndicate which advanced the purchase price to the original stockholders and the co-operation with New York bankers are designed to mitigate and distribute the effect of the large transaction, but nothing has been offered to indicate that the ultimate results to the New York banking reserves will be altered by these devices. The additional call by the treasury upon government depositaries makes it evident also that the full amount of the Panama purchase will be withdrawn from government deposits with banks. The effect was seen in the decline in government bonds today. How far this condition may induce the banks to take out additional circulation is a question of interest. It is felt that the existence of various factors may account in no small part for the halt in the stock market. Today's market missed the quickening effect of the recent advancing tendency in London, where the exchange was closed for a holiday, while the more indirect effect of the Paris market was depressing, owing to the Russian reverse on the Yalu. The weekly returns showed no decisive improvement in the rail-

GENERAL EASTERN MARKET.
GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 2.—In response to a fair demand from shorts, the whole market opened about steady, with July unchanged to ⅛c lower, at 83¼@83⅝. Soon afterward, however, reports of excellent weather throughout the greater part of the country created a bearish sentiment in consequence, July sold to 82⅝, and then started a downward course. There was general commission-house selling. Many stop-loss orders came out on the way down. News from the Northwest was extremely bearish. One report stated that all mills at Minneapolis would close down Wednesday on account of a lack of demand for flour. Although the wheat market here received fair support at times, liquidation was so liberal that prices continued the decline throughout the session. The close was weak, with July at 84⅜. Decreased receipts, with a small percentage of contract grain, held the corn market firm early in the day. In spite of weakness in wheat. The close was weak, with July at 42⅞@43. Weakness in wheat delivery and favorable weather were influences that brought out liberal liquidation of July oats. July closed at 38⅜. In the face of weakness in grains and lower prices for hogs, provisions closed firm at a slight advance in all products. A fair demand from pit traders for ribs was the cause of the late firmness, the market ruling easy in sympathy with grains. July pork closed 7½c up; lard, 7½c higher, and ribs, 5c advanced.

The trading futures closed as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET
GRAIN, FRUIT AND PRODUCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There was measurable improvement in the demand for oranges today, but with heavy lines of cheap stock offering, the market showed no quotable improvement, although sellers reported keen trade in sound selections of medium-sized navels, close to maximum quotations. Large and ordinary quality lots continued to drag down to minimum figures, with peddlers the principal buyers. At auction sale, bidding was tame, and the twelve carloads of navels offered brought comparatively low prices. For fancy, 1.60@1.70 was obtained; choice brought 70@1.50, and standards, 50@1.00. In other citrus fruits, market conditions were without notable features, the business continuing of good volume and best quality offerings being well cared for at top quotations. There was good market for strawberries, and with receipts, 27 chests of Longworths, 29 chests of large varieties, and 34 crates of Los Angeles, of good quality, quick clearings were made at sustained prices. For Los Angeles offerings, from 1.80@2.25 was obtained, according to quality. Trading in potatoes was rather indifferent today, but with available supplies of desirable grades well concentrated in strong hands, the market reflected the firm features noted at the close of the preceding week, with holders showing no anxiety over tame buying. New potatoes were plentiful, and there was good business in large offerings at full figures. Without particular change, the demand being mostly routine, and previous prices showing no quotable variance. A few lots of new reds have arrived from Stockton, and sold at from 1.50@2.10 a sack. Under increased supplies and less urgent call, the market for asparagus was easier and prices dropped a point, canners getting liberal parcels at inside figures. Green peas brought improved prices, receipts showing marked shrinkage. Rhubarb continued in free supply, and easy in price. There was a sharp break in values for string beans, some 95 sacks arriving from the South. Trading was slow at decline, and a heavy carry over was left at close of business. Elephant was steady, as was summer squash. Tomatoes met with good call, and were closely cleaned up, better grades readily bringing outside quotation. Steamer Curacao, from Mexico, brought up 1204 boxes of tomatoes and 36 boxes of green peppers, which are to be offered tomorrow.

ENTERTAINS GOOD FRIENDS.

Governor Pardee and Bishop Johnson Speak Well.

Other Happy Speeches—Fine Financial Showing.

A delightful dinner was given last night at the Angelus by the Young Men's Christian Association, with Gov. Pardee and E. Earl Taylor of New York named as the guests of honor.

Plates were laid for 150 guests. The tables were strewn with asparagus plumosus and decorated with magnificent clusters of pink roses. The tables were arranged in a hollow square in the large dining-room on the main floor. The one across the head of the room was occupied by Gov. Pardee and Mr. Taylor, J. Ross Clark, president of the entertaining association; Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of Los Angeles; State Secretary Wilcox of the Y.M.C.A.; Judge M. T. Allen, Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, H. H. Markham and J. H. Braly.

It was a most happy party and Toastmaster Slauson would be hard to improve upon. He appropriately introduced each speaker and always made a hit. The speeches were somewhat general in their character and but brief extracts are given, which more directly apply to the Young Men's Christian Association.

As Gov. Pardee arose he was greeted with three cheers and spoke for the State, to the sentiment, "Live the commonwealth; also the men that guide it."

"The commonwealth will live," he said, "long after those who guide it have disappeared. The average of the community make the average of the commonwealth; you have often heard it said that corruption and graft are rampant throughout the land. It is not true; it is absolutely untrue of the American people. They are higher and better and above such things because the average is so. I do not mean that all decency and honor are in the Young Men's Christian Association, but I do say those who are in it will raise the average.

"I am glad to stand here representing the State of California, and say that all that will elevate to the highest standard of citizenship is taught in the ranks of the Y.M.C.A. I hope you may succeed in your endeavor to promote the association in your city and put it upon a solid and eternal foundation."

As the Governor sat down some one started the refrain: "For he's a jolly good fellow," and it was sung with a will. It was with the expression of the finest sentiments toward the church and the association that Mr. Slauson introduced Bishop Johnson to respond to "The relation of the association to the church."

"As I heard that refrain sung at the close of the Governor's speech," said the bishop, "I wished that it was sung for me. We owe some things to the Young Men's Christian Association—perhaps much more than it owes to us. "I have a sort of a grievance against somethings that seem to be popular in the church; I do not believe in what is called the "institutional church.' Preachers have not been sent out by the Lord Jesus Christ to conduct poorhouses, act as chairmen of committees, but to preach Christ. While I do not believe in the institutional church, I do believe in Christian institutions, and I believe in the Y.M.C.A. It is what we might call 'the ounce of prevention,' and it is worth many times the 'pound of cure,' for the amelioration of the ills of the human race.

"We've either got to increase the school at Whittier or the institution at San Quentin, or else fill the Young Men's Christian Association here and elsewhere. It is our duty to see that the association on Hill street is put on a solid foundation.

"Some people criticise the association and say it is a club. I say a Christian club is far better than an un-Christian club. I rejoice in the Y.M.C.A., because our churches are all barred and locked and are hard to get in, but the Y.M.C.A. door is open and somebody is standing at the door to say: 'Come in.'"

Ex-Gov. H. H. Markham of Pasadena, in responding to the sentiment: "We will our youth lead on to higher fields," said:

"When I read that, I first thought it might mean that you wanted to take all your young men and boys to Pasadena. If you mean to handle the boys of this city you cannot do it better than in the Young Men's Christian Association. Your city is plumb full of boys and young men; they are as thick as the hairs on a camel's back, and you've got to care for them. You'd better pay out your money to make them decent, respectable citizens than for any other purpose."

In speaking of the growth of the city Mr. Markham recalled the fact that it was just eighteen years ago that, when a member of Congress, he had secured an appropriation of $150,000 for the erection of a postoffice, and was twitted by Representative Cannon with the smallness of the town, but now, he said, there is but one town in Illinois bigger than Los Angeles, and there are thirty-two States in the Union that have no city as large as this one.

"You can well afford to build such a building as your Young Men's Christian Association wants and you ought to do it," was his parting remark.

E. Earl Taylor of New York bore personal testimony to the value of the association in a young man's life, and cited many instances in which it had been the making of prominent men in the history of this nation. "You are building for an empire here, and I pray you may build wisely," he said.

State Secretary Wilcox briefly told how the association stood in the city with its lot worth $98,000 all paid for, and $50,000 subscribed to the building fund, out of the $200,000 desired.

Sunny Side

.....JAMES A. KEENEY, Owner.....

Sunny Side

Is most beautifully located on Figueroa Street, having a mile frontage on this fashionable residence street. Rich garden loam soil, with wide streets, nicely improved. The most important factor is the quick transportation to the business center. The Traction cars—the San Pedro branch—and the Redondo electric line—the Gardena branch, with her vestibule cars, pass through Sunny Side about every fifteen minutes. You can reach Spring and Third, or Spring and Second in about 25 minutes. It is in line and in the growth of Greater Los Angeles, fronting on Vermont Avenue, 120 feet wide, Figueroa Street, 80 feet wide, and Main Street, destined to be the great business street of Los Angeles. This tract owns its own water supply, having 200 inches of pure artesian water piped to each lot, under pressure, all of which the purchaser will be a part owner in, without one cent of cost to the buyer.

Take Redondo car, the Gardena branch, at our office to SUNNY SIDE, or the Traction cars, the San Pedro branch, at Third and Spring to SUNNY SIDE. Come prepared. No options given or lots held without a cash deposit made either with our agents on the tract or at our office. Our agents are on the grounds at all times, including Sundays. Mrs. Lida H. Spence, Public Stenographer, in our office all day Sunday, May 8th, to issue tickets and give information.

BUSINESS IN OLD MEXICO.

Consul Martin's Report from Ciudad Porfirio Diaz.

Many Opportunities There for American Capital.

Our Products and Manufactures Gaining Favor.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 14.—During the last twelve or eighteen months, the Department of State has received from its consuls in Mexico many interesting and important reports concerning the development of American trade with the great republic to the south of us, as well as the internal development of that country itself. Consul Martin, situated at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, has been making some observations on the development of American trade in the vicinity in which he has located, and has sent them to Washington for the information of American merchants and business men. Mr. Martin makes the following report:

During the summer of 1903, Mr. Rosenbluth, a Hungarian, commenced business in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, a city of 12,000 inhabitants, as a dealer in dry goods, notions, clothing and gentlemen's furnishing goods, with an entire stock purchased in the United States.

He is well acquainted with the requirements of Mexican trade, having been engaged in the business here for some years past. Although it is claimed that Europe is the cheaper market for most of the goods kept here, Mr. Rosenbluth says that he is able to compete with any of them and yet buy all his goods in the United States.

I do not wish to be understood as meaning that all the other merchants in this city buy all their stock in Europe. On the contrary, many of them buy the greater part of their stock in the American markets. Hardware, shoes, hats, jewelry, watches and clocks, and glass and stoneware are obtained in the United States, together with large quantities of beer and liquors, while the wines come generally from Europe. American products and manufactures are steadily growing in popularity in Mexico. Mexicans of the better class are disposed to copy American fashions. They are anxious to learn the English language, to copy American ways and customs, and wear American apparel, such as the stylish hats, shoes and other garments.

I am of opinion that American manufacturers and wholesale merchants should give more attention to the trade in Mexico. Their agents should be more numerous throughout the Republic, with samples of their products. It is important that the traveling man coming into this country to sell goods should be able to speak the Spanish language—know it and speak it well. Failure to make sales is often due to the fact that the salesman can not find language to make himself understood, and the Mexican merchant declines to trade with him simply because he does not understand the salient points which the salesman has tried to impress upon him.

OPENINGS FOR AMERICAN CAPITALISTS.

There are many openings here not only in developing the natural wealth of this country, but in assisting to build up and make modern its towns and cities. This city, with its 12,000 inhabitants, and Eagle Pass, Tex., with its, say, 3500 people, are lying close together, separated only by the Rio Grande River, which is spanned by a splendid iron bridge, built by American men and American capital and now owned by an American joint-stock company. This enterprise is paying its owners a handsome income on their investment. There is no street railway in either city. If a street railway should be put in—say, an electric line, accommodating both cities, reaching the depots, the customhouses, and other places of public interest on both sides, and reaching the suburbs of each town—I think it would pay the capitalists handsomely, and it certainly would very much enlarge the income of the bridge company.

RAILWAYS.

The Mexican International Railway is the only road in this part of this consular district. It connects at this point with the Southern Pacific system and is one of the principal gateways to this republic. It runs from this city to Santiago Papiasquiaro, in the State of Durango, some 600 miles, and has several important branches. The line is now being extended and will shortly reach the port of Mazatlan, on the Gulf. Several towns have sprung up along its route and it has opened up some especially rich farming and grazing lands, as well as some of the richest mining regions of the republic.

In this district and along the eastern end of the road farming and stock raising is the principal business. The ranchmen are Americans, English, and other nationalities, as well as Mexicans. They employ Mexican help in herding cattle and doing farm work, and I am told that these may be employed at a much cheaper wage than American laborers.

The only other piece of railroad completed and in operation in this district is a short line of something like one hundred miles from Escalon to Sierra Mojada. This short line runs up into the mining districts and much ore of different kinds are freighted out thereby. Sierra Mojada is the agency location of this consulate. This agency has transacted no business for more than two years. The smelter at El Paso, where the product coming through the agency has been smelted, was destroyed by fire a little more than two years ago, and the companies which had been shipping to the smelter at El Paso were compelled to have their smelting done somewhere else. From necessity, at first, they made arrangement to ship the ores down into the interior of this republic, and, although the smelter at El Paso, Tex., has been rebuilt and is now in operation, there is no shipping from the Sierra Mojada agency and the agency is absolutely without business. This short line of railroad is the Mexican Northern and connects at Escalon with the Mexican Central. By the Mexican Central the product of the Sierra Mojada mines was hauled to the El Paso smelter.

There are no well-defined wagon roads in this part of Mexico. I do not know if there is a macadamized or well-defined road or turnpike in the district. This section of country is not mountainous; the uplands are simply foothills; the ground being so dry and firm that vehicles can go almost anywhere, unless prevented by the sage brush or mesquite, or by some other growth. For this reason, I presume, roads are not laid out, graded, and worked as is the custom in the United States, where there is much moisture. Here a road is made by use; wagons use one beaten track and it thereby defines the route. There will appear several roads of this kind along the same route, branching out from the main track and coming together farther on. The road beds are perfectly dry and in many places smooth and level; much of the driveways are pleasant to use, there being few or no streams to ford and no steep mountains to pull across. In other parts of the district it is more or less mountainous—some very high and rugged.

FARMING AND CATTLE RAISING.

Farming is carried on in this district, very extensively in some parts, and where irrigation has been effected it is successfully maintained. The soil is very rich and easily worked; it is a sandy loam, and only lacks moisture to successfully raise and mature crops. Great quantities of wheat, Indian corn, beans, and other crops are produced here. For forty and fifty miles, and in fact much farther, farmers haul their corn, wheat, and other products to this city. They come with teams of four and six horses hitched to their wagons, resembling army trains.

"All the better class of farmers use modern farming utensils. It is only the poorer and illiterate part of the population who hold onto the primitive methods and primitive utensils. All the modern farm tools are imported from the United States.

"Cattle ranches cover the greater part of the land in this part of Mexico. There is one ranch in this part of the State, owned by a Mr. Cloete, of 1,000,000 acres. Many of the wealthier ranchmen have from 100,000 to 200,000 acres. Mr. Goodwin, an Englishman, owns a fine and highly improved ranch near this city, containing 36,000 acres. He says that cattle and sheep do well when pastured together, as sheep will live on that which cattle will not eat. He says also that a ranch of 35,000 acres ought to keep 20,000 sheep and from 5000 to 6000 head of cattle in good form. Mexican cowboys are hired for herding and caring for sheep and cattle. These can be had for from $10 to $12 per month, with board. A few very trusty men are hired who must be paid better wages, but even these can be had for $25 to $30 per month. These amounts are Mexican silver estimates and are not nearly so expensive when reduced to gold values."

PRICE OF LAND.

The price of land is much higher in this part of Mexico than it is farther down in the interior, especially the section where the railroads have not yet penetrated. I am told that ordinary unimproved land can be had for 50 cents per acre, while improved land, with permanent streams running through it, will bring from $2 to $2.50 per acre. These latter amounts as to the price of land are reckoned in gold.

IMPORTS AT CIUDAD PORFIRIO DIAZ.

From the officials of the Mexican customhouse I have obtained the following figures showing the total gold values of imports through this port for the six months ended June 30, 1903:

Animal products	$186,563
Vegetable products	1,960,282
Mineral products	649,427
Woven products	97,684
Chemical products	68,739
Spirituous beverages	25,220
Machinery and apparatus	493,182
Vehicles	85,495
Arms and explosives	59,464
Sundries	71,466

EXPORTS FROM CIUDAD PORFIRIO DIAZ.

The exports for the six months ended June 30, 1903, through this port, as shown by the same authority given above, amounted to $3,768,333 gold. The variety of articles, it will be seen, is not so extensive as the importations, but the value is even a little greater.

Animal products	705,785
Manufactured products	62,984
Miscellaneous products	31,536
Total	3,768,333

It is not possible for me to give a more detailed statement of the commerce and industries of this district, as the officials declare that they are unable to compile the data in so short a time. The meager information I have been able to get in totals show a decided increase in the industries of this consular district.

A Heroic Sufferer.

Plain "John Schmidt, laborer," is the way the City Directory has it. There is nothing in the book about John Schmidt, hero, yet that is what he is. This is the way the newspapers printed the story: John Schmidt, laborer, was badly burned yesterday when molten lead fell on him while he was at work in the Blank building. He was cared for at the hospital. The newspapers did not tell the whole story. On a rope held by Schmidt swung a man. Higher up, over the head of Schmidt, a plumber was at work. Suddenly a stream of molten lead came pouring down on Schmidt, blinding him. He might have saved his eyes by letting go of the rope and running, but the man at the other end of the rope would have been dashed to death on the pavement below. Suffering agony, Schmidt allowed the molten lead to eat out his eyes, but he retained his hold on the rope. He will never see again. Yet he is happy—he did not flinch when the supreme test came.—[Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

PASSING OF THE OLD NEGRO

UNABLE TO MEET NEW CONDITIONS IN THE SOUTH.

He Remains a Stubborn Aristocrat, With the Same Pride in His Owner's Name as When He Was a Slave—Disappearing With Decadence of the Old Mansions.

[Nashville Banner:] The ante-bellum negro, with his master's elegant air and knack of looking decent in picturesque rags, is fast dropping out of southern life. His "old woman," wedding comfortably under the big washing basket or following proudly behind-up grandbaby of "weaklin" size, is a rare figure now in southern towns. Even the southern winter is a season to the old African's confusion. Every spring the ranks, pitifully thinner, shamble out into sandy streets and alleys, with tolerable surety of falling with next winter's frosts.

Like his master, the ex-slave has grown hoary in the struggle to meet new conditions, but, unlike his master, he has not been able to conquer. Worn with the struggle, he drops out of life, with no successor in his race, no betterment of himself to history except through the dialect story of the South. With him passes illustration of that unique relation between master and slave which preserved the old wine of bondage in the new bottles of the nineteenth century, and left a peculiar cordiality between the two after emancipation.

The idiom of the old negro's dialect, its flashlight phrases of feeling and humor, shrewd imagery pass with him. The inimitable slurs of his soft enunciation and comical, picturesque, misplaced long words, give a popularity to his dialect which none other, not even the Scotch, possesses for the public mind. The manner which he "puts

GREAT was the disappointment yesterday in the ranks of three hundred who compose the Conference Committee of Reception. The special trains failed to arrive except two over the Southern Pacific, and the regular trains did not bring in many additional delegates. The Grand Cañon was the scene of a Methodist camp meeting where groans of complaint supplanted the usual hallelujahs. The delegates were stalled there by a blockade on the cañon division of the Santa Fé, due to a slight accident of a freight train. The members of the committee, who went out to San Bernardino, remained over night and will accompany to the city the special trains of the early morning. Today's work will be the more taxing, as twelve special trains are due on the Santa Fé and four on the Southern Pacific. A special dispatch from San Bernardino stated that the first special will arrive there at about 4 o'clock this morning, to be followed fifteen minutes later by a second section. This fifteen-minute headway will be maintained as far as possible till all the specials reach Los Angeles.

The officials deny the report that the trains are delayed by the engines going dead on account of the strike. They assert that the trains are running on time, and that there is no unusual number of dead trains on the road.

The most important train from the north is due today noon, and is known as the Bishops' Special. Thirteen bishops are booked to come down from San Francisco on this special. There will be two of the Episcopal board left behind—Bishop Moore of China, who is detained a few days by his wife's illness, and Bishop Thoburn of India, who is ill in a hospital at Tacoma. This special train left San Francisco at 7 o'clock last night via the Coast line, and will halt this morning at Santa Barbara one hour and a half that the Methodist bishops and their friends may tour the town. Chairman Hugh Smith was very busy last evening, rallying the forces for today's rush. He is most anxious about the early morning trains.

PROMINENT ARRIVALS.

Rev. Dr. James M. King, secretary of the Board of Church Extension, is at the Van Nuys. Four years ago Dr. W. A. Spencer was elected to this position, but soon broke his health by overwork and passed away by sudden death. Dr. King, the first assistant, was at once advanced to the chief secretaryship, and has given the highest satisfaction. His pastoral labors were in New York City until he was chosen to his present high position. He has also been most active in the agitations of the Society for the Protection of American Institutions. He is an eloquent preacher, and a frequent debater on the floor of General Conference. He will most surely be reelected to his present secretaryship of this great board, whose war cry is "We're building three a day."

Rev. Dr. John Krantz, general sales agent of the Methodist Book Concern, came to town on yesterday's "California Limited." His great ability and untiring enthusiasm have played a large part in the recent advance in receipts and profits of the New York concern. Born and educated in the West, and filling many responsible positions in the East, he has a large number of friends who believe the present an opportune time of advancing him to a more responsible position in the Book Concern.

Mr. Dimond of Cincinnati, a prominent member of the Book Committee, is registered at the Van Nuys. He is one of the most influential laymen of the Middle West. He forms one of the famous "Lay Quintette of Ohio," who are known to be most effective in bringing things to pass—Miller, Gray, Arter, Gambie and Dimond. Add to this fact the candidacy of four favorite sons for the Episcopacy—McDowell, Bashford, Mitchell and Leonard—and Ohio is still in it.

Rev. Dr. Charles W. Drees, superintendent of missions in Porto Rico, is staying at the Westminster. When this territory was rescued from Spanish misrule, Dr. Drees was transferred from South America to this new field because of his knowledge of the Spanish tongue and character and his great success as a missionary. He ranks among the first half dozen best-known Methodist missionary leaders and speakers.

Rev. Charles A. Masten of Kearney, Neb., is at the Hotel Broadway.

ASSIGNMENT OF SEATS.

The constitution of the General Conference provides that two days before the session seats shall be assigned by lot—a good old-fashioned Bible custom. The members sit by delegations. It is very important that good seats should be secured, for in the heat of debate in so large a body a good location is a special point of vantage in winning recognition from the the chairman. Dr. Buckley had so poor an assignment eight years ago that he had to stand on a box to be seen by the presiding elder. Like Zaccheus, he is short of stature, but unlike Zaccheus, he never comes down. The local committee should provide rubber seats and springing boards. Yesterday lots were drawn in the Pavilion. Bishop Merrill presided, and Dr. Joseph Hingeley of Minnesota acted as secretary. O. P. Miller of Rock Rapids, Iowa, and Dr. John E. Farmer of Wisconsin represented the Commission of Entertainment. The names of the 120 conferences were written on cards and dropped into an Episcopal hat. When drawn they were assigned by diagram in a numerical order that indicated the order of preference.

C. OF C. COMMITTEE.

F. Q. Story, Hugh E. Smith, Harry W. White, Robert S. Fisher, E. H. Fretz, A. W. Adkinson, Rev. Baab, W. B. Bell, J. E. Gamble, W. H. Hayden, John Goldsworthy, J. M. Huston, J. D. Huston, J. S. Myers, Henry Osburn, K. W. Wing, M. J. Hall, C. J. Miller, Mr. Brown, L. A. Rice, G. L. Cole, J. B. Threlkeld, L. W. Ostrow, B. F. Wright, Henry Austenkamp, D. F. McCarty, J. A. Dietrich, G. H. Thelle, Solon Briggs, Gail B. Johnson, W. L. Cleveland, G. F. Bovard, W. F. Cronemiller, F. M. Porter, I. H. Preston, G. A. Hough, J. A. Reid, Dr. W. W. Beckett, Dr. D. W. Edwards, Rev. William Sterling, Rev. John H. Green, Isaac F. Bailey, A. J. Wallace, Rev. John L. Pitner, S. P. Mulford, Valentine Peyton, William M. Bowen, Rev. O. Wilke, George I. Cochran, Dr. F. A. Seymour, J. E. Carr, Joseph Wannop, T. H. Oxnam, C. M. Parker, Rev. A. W. Labport, J. M. Walters, Rev. E. A. Healy, Rev. Robert McIntyre, Rev. S. A. Thomson, J. W. Whittington, Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, Rev. E. J. Inwood, Rev. P. H. Bodkin, George N. Turner, J. W. Stringfield, Isaac Bailey, Julius C. Brown, John Furrer, B. F. Tilden.

It has been decided to have the concert by Ellery's Band which is to be given by the Chamber of Commerce in honor of the Methodist General Conference, at Hazard's Pavilion, Saturday, May 7, at 8 p.m. Admission will be by tickets, to be given out by the officers of the conference.

A MODERN NEWSPAPER.

The first number of the Conference Daily will appear tomorrow morning from the presses of the Times-Mirror Company. Dr. Rader and his corps of assistants yesterday began active work on the practical details. It will be an up-to-date newspaper, fully illustrated and will contain much matter of general interest aside from the stenographic report of the proceedings of the General Conference. It has been the regular custom to issue this paper during the quadrennial sessions, but it has never before been illustrated nor given outside features to make it more attractive and more in demand.

HANDSOME PUBLICATION.

Rev. P. H. Bodkin, who has his weather-eye on the management of one of the church papers, has issued a conference number of his local paper, the California Independent, which is a great credit to his establishment. It is profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts and on the first page appears Dr. Robert McIntyre's conference hymn, "Beside the Sundown Sea."

BOOK COMMITTEE.

The Book Committee will meet this morning at the First German M. E. Church on Olive street in executive session to complete its report to the General Conference. It is expected that there will be a lively discussion of the plan of consolidation. Late last night there were not enough members in the city to form a quorum but it is expected there will be today. Dr. W. F. Whitlock of Ohio will preside.

PASSING OF THE OLD NEGRO.

UNABLE TO MEET NEW CONDITIONS IN THE SOUTH.

He Remains a Stubborn Aristocrat, With the Same Pride in His Own-er's Name as When He Was a Slave—Disappearing With Decadence of the Old Mansions.

[Nashville Banner:] The ante-bellum negro, with his master's elegant and knack of looking decent in grotesque rags, is fast dropping out of Southern life. His "old woman," comfortably under the big white Maket or following proudly a string-up grandbaby of "we-all's" is a rare figure now in southern towns. Even the southern winter is a season to the old African's consolation. Every spring the ranks, pitifully thinner, shamble out into sunny streets and alleys, with tolerable hope of falling with next winter's snows.

Like his master, the ex-slave has been heavy in the struggle to meet new conditions, but, unlike his master, he has not been able to conquer. Worn out in the struggle, he drops out of life, with no successor in his race, no betterment of himself to history except through the dialect story of the South. Which him passes illustration of that unique relation between master and slave which preserved the old wine of courtesy in the new bottles of the nineteenth century, and left a peculiar comradery between the two after emancipation.

The idiom of the old negro's dialect, with flashlight phrases of feeling and quaint, shrewd imagery pass with him. The inimitable slurs of his soft enunciation and comical, picturesque, mis-used long words, give a popularity to the dialect which none other, not even the Scotch, possesses for the public ear. The manner which he "puts on" in his youth with his master's old coat sets him apart in age as a gentleman of cultured address. When he stands at the back door, bowing over his ragged hat, he discovers the truth that elegance is acquired by association, for the fineness of ante-bellum parlors hangs on his old lisp and obsequious gallantry. Every town in the South has among its public characters one of these old negroes. To have reached this present age he has been necessarily of the uncommon, industrious, sober type.

He has, if he is very old, given up his "patch," or his old horse has been forbidden by the prevention of cruelty society to creak about in his rickety old cart, or a shiny young buck may have displaced him as a janitor of some public building. He only does odd jobs "about de place" of old acquaintances. He is shy of modern bustle, and, avoiding public thoroughfares, hobbles up back streets to a corner where he is likely to meet some of "Ole Marse's kinship of clan."

"Howdy, boss? You's lookin' well today, you sho' is! You favor ole marse jest de same ez when you useter ride hitte (behind) me on ole mule Jinny. Hit's a powerful cole day! Yas suh, too cole fer me to wuk today. Yas, suh, de roometis done cotch me in de back. I hain't ez pert ez common today, boss."

It is not begging. No one could look at Uncle Ishe, quaintly respectable in his rags and bows, and call it begging. But the boss sticks his fingers in his vest pocket for loose change. If he has not seen the old man lately he asks about his old wife or shiftless son or daughter. If he has seen him with too much frequency he doesn't hesitate to tell him so roundly, knowing, however, it will not have the least effect on Uncle Ishe's reappearance. According to the old man's account, his poverty is always a temporary accident.

"Hard times? No, suh! Te, he, he! Hard times don't no moren's ketch me by de foot, an' dat's jast when I hab my roometis. You nebber see dis nigger long but what he's laughin'. Boss (in confidential importance,) I haul mo' trunks week fo' las' dan any transfer man in town—'ceptin', in course, de de transfer men—but my ole horse—yas, suh; suh, de same one," straightening in proud defense of her, "des a grabble in er foot, boss, an' I hab to res' her—dat's all. She'll be all right. A cook, boss? Yas, suh, I knows plenty dat wants to cook, an' calls deyselves cooks, an' mighty peart—ter take de money for cookin', but dey's not fiten to cook for you. Dese yar good-for-nuthin', no-'count young niggers dat lazes round all day an' troliops roun' all night, a-jinin' de brudders er dis an' sisters tudder, ez fitten fer nuttin' but de penitemsbeary er de bad place. Dey han' slip, boss. Yas, suh! An' you won't be shore uf nuthin' in de house fum de ice in de freeserator ter Mis' Virginy's new fine close. I like ter 'commodate you, boss (a flash of Chesterfieldian courtesy,) an' I kin sen' 'em roun' ter you—an, I wit effin you say so—but dey's not what you want."

But more frequent now than this meeting is a sudden summons from Unsle Ishe to the young doctor among the descendants of "Ole Marse." All is done that can be done, but on the street corner, in the office, store and courtroom there is a moment's pathetic pause at the announcement that Uncle Ishe, old Uncle Ishe, faithful remnant of a departed day, is dead. There is a big funeral among the negroes, and all is over but a tender memory with his old white friends.

Outside of Charleston the old negro now is the only stubborn aristocrat in the South. His pride in his owner's family is the same as when he served in the parlor as a slave, aristocratic by reflection. The family may be poor, the sons and daughters working for daily bread, but the old servitor, he is still "de quality," and the store or office where he works is transformed in his mind into a sort of social annex to the old South's elegance.

Nearly every southern family has some such old negro to call round yearly. If not the old man, the old woman in her stout cap or starched sunbonnet, and whatever the weather the inevitable umbrella, her badge of respectability. She refuses to take the chair pressed upon her unless she is so old her feeble limbs accept it as a necessity before she brings her call to an end.

The visit formerly was cheerful, greeting "Ole Miss," and seeing who the grandbabies "favored," but "Ole Miss's" chair has been empty many years, her daughter is a grandmother now, on whom the ends of life have come. The babies are grown and are marrying, and death has chosen the brightest and best. Lack of communication betwen the old negro's alley and her "white folks" often leave the old woman pitiably ignorant of great changes in the household.

"De las' time," she quavers, hanging over her umbrella for support, her eyes bleared with age, she looks on the familiar faces, all sad, "you tole me your cousin Ches'er wus gone. He my baby honey," the old voice breaking. "I nussed him, an' den I cook fer his ma twel he done growed inter breeches. I uster run him roun' de house fo' he cut his curls—he ma curl 'em all ober he head—an' I run to ketch 'im an' kiss 'im. An' when I lay hole of 'im," a reminiscent chuckle, "he sho did squeal lak a little pig cotch in de fence. But I hab to hab my pay fer all dem batty cakes he done stow away. Sence he growed at big—he's more'n six feet, wa'n't he, honey?—I jas see 'im on de street some time.

"An' dis time honey," the life passing out of the old voice, "you tell me yore little James been gone might' nigh a year. De cook tell me in de kitchen an' I just sot down dere—'peared lak I couldn't git no fudder. He de baby ob you al, an' yo' ma de baby ob ole Miss' fambly. He had his milk when he wuz a baby ev'ry night, sartin es de night come. He de strongest ob yo' ma's children—das so, honey. I won't say no more effin' hit make yore ma cry—but 'peared like my heart'd bust effin' I don't say something. Ef he been black an' my own chile I couldn't love 'im mo'.

"An' I hy-erd, honey, da yo' brudder Chawley done runned away from college and marr'd dat wile looking gal wid de curls hangin' in 'er eyes, what visit you all wid old Miss Waddle, when I cookin' fer Ches'er's ma. Ole Miss don't like ole Miss Waddle, kase she paint her face, an' she don't like dat gal—kase she want ter go onto de stage—Ole Miss thought she was a onery chile. Effin' hit had been Thadus, now, 't wan't be so bad—he settled and quiet like, when he little boy he that away—but Chawley! Why, he didn't know yit what he gwine do wid himself.

"When he put he han's in his breeches pocket—an' he sho hab ter put hit dere—he don't fin' nuttin'. But what put dem gray hairs in yore ma's haid mo'in gibben up little James? Don't know when I kin git back, honey," with a last faltering look around the room, "de good Lawd may call fust—dis may be de las' time! We mus' all lib fer de udder worl', Thankee, Miss Mary? Yessum, I kin kyar (carry) dat, yassum, and dat, too—I got my basket out's here. Some brackberry cordial, Ole Miss make? Sho kin make room fer dat, Yassum, I lib in de same place—I' leis you know effin' I git down."

But in a few months, or a year or two at most, the old woman comes no more.

The passing of the old negro is contemporary with the falling in of old mansions, and turning to the wild, forsaken gardens, moss-hung and neglected, where sun dials warp amid honeysuckle and tangled jasmine—the passing of a gracious, effortless hospitality—of conversation as a delicate art with women, and a fine accomplishment in men. It marks the decadence of the lover among young Americans, or, to go to the bottom of the matter, perhaps, a falling off of that fine femininity which, like the violet, turns its sweetness downward to the roots of life, and which begets in men the cavalier type.

Had the Maternal Instinct.

"My dear children," said the Sunday-school teacher, "if you are good boys and girls you will grow up good men and women and have a crown of glory." Then he went on and told them a great many good things which were in store for the good ones, and asked:

"Now, which one of you can tell me what you will have if you live right?"

"What is it, dear?"

"We shall have dear little babies."—[Washington Times.

"What a cool and indifferent air Miss Frappay has. She acts just as if she didn't know that anybody was looking at her."

"Yes, she inherits that. Her mother used to bake pancakes in the window of a quick-lunch restaurant."—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Comparison Proves It

Occasionally a man comes to us and says "I have read all that you have said about Alfred Benjamin clothing and would like to have the chance to compare it with ready-made apparel to see if it really is as superior as you would claim."

We are always pleased when such an occasion comes, because it gives us an opportunity to actually demonstrate that there is no other clothing on the market which possesses the real excellence in style, material, and workmanship such as you'll find in every Alfred Benjamin garment.

If you happen to be wearing a suit that costs you $40.00 or $50.00 at some tailor's drop in some day and let us show you that an Alfred Benjamin suit at half the money fits you just as well, looks just as well, and is just as good in quality and workmanship.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

JUDGE NOYES NOT TO TELL.

LLOYD'S CONFESSION TO HIM IS RULED OUT.

Arguments in the Boxall Trial Will Begin Today and an Acquittal Is Confidently Anticipated by the Defense—Rip Van Winkle Club's Lunches Stolen.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 2.—Judge Noyes of Riverside will not be able to tell the jury in the Boxall trial what he knows concerning Charles R. Lloyd's tacit confession of guilt of the charges made against him by his three nieces, Nesta and Mara Margaret Boxall and their sister, Mrs. Horace Little. He was the first witness called in Judge York's court this morning, and while the arguments were made, the jury strolled through the corridors. The court ruled against the introduction of the confession.

Frank Johnson, County Recorder, was then called and went over again all the circumstances leading up to the shooting, his testimony corroborating Miss Wilkerson, in freeing Boxall from the charge of conspiracy which the prosecution has endeavored to weave out of the scandal. Several character witnesses were then put on the stand for the prisoner, among them being persons from Los Angeles, Long Beach and Santa Monica, and the finale of the defence was the calling of doctors to testify as to a hypothetical question, to prove that when Boxall fired the shots which dangerously wounded his uncle he was temporarily unbalanced.

It is expected the arguments will be commenced tomorrow, and the case go to the jury some time during the evening. The last trial resulted in a disagreement, nine of the jury voting for acquittal. The defense has made a stronger case at this trial, and an acquittal is expected on the first or second ballot.

LOCAL NEWSLETS.

The Rip Van Winkle Club has complained to the police of a wholesale theft of lunches which occurred during the dance in Vale's Hall Friday night. Four of the youths who had been given the privilege of enjoying a dance broke into the lunch room and carried off a number of baskets, strewing their contents about the ground in front of the building and breaking what chinaware was found in the baskets.

Dr. Tate of Oregon has secured an option on the Arrowhead Springs property, owned by the Couler brothers of Los Angeles, and proposes to build a sanitarium. The San Bernardino Traction Company will build a track to the springs. These improvements will be undertaken at once.

Katie Cook, a colored woman with many aliases, who was given a "shouter" some days ago and failed to recollect the incident, came to town from Colton this morning to secure a marriage license and was thrown into jail. Her intended husband escaped.

RIALTO.

ORANGE LEAGUE FORMED.

RIALTO, May 2.—In Isaac Naylor's talk to the Rialto orange growers on Saturday he dwelt particularly upon the need of better rates from the railroads, better cars and the right to route cars. Also the wisdom of forming fruit growers' leagues in every fruit-growing community, of sending a representative man from every fruit-packing concern to the central council, in which they should stand as a unit in demanding that every hindrance to the rightful prosperity of the citrus industry, that can be removed, shall be.

The growers then proceeded to organize a league, making Mr. Van Frank president and George A. Brice, secretary. Five men were chosen to represent the fruit associations of this place, viz.: Moffatt Bros.' Fruit Company, James Moffatt; Rialto Fruit Association, A. L. Wright; California Citrus Union, Dr. Craig; Rialto O. and L. Association, W. D. Culross; Rialto Citrus Union, W. P. Marten.

Resolutions were adopted by the league expressing thanks to Kinney for his endeavors to remedy the unsatisfactory conditions of the citrus industry; urging all growers to unite with the league in its efforts to restore routing privileges, get more efficient service in transportation and secure cars appropriately constructed for the preservation of fruits.

After the adjournment of the league a free discussion followed upon various points of interest. The plan for selling by auction in Southern California seemed to meet with favor.

There are probably thirty cars of navels yet to go from this vicinity. The Citrus Union has sent out 229 cars of oranges and 60 of lemons; Moffatt Bros.' Fruit Company, 115 cars of lemons, and the Orange Association, 86. The bulk of the lemons go through the Citrus Union.

REDLANDS.

LEAK AND FIRE.

REDLANDS, May 2.—The home of W. R. Mabry in West State street was much damaged this morning by fire caused by a leaky gasoline stove, the fumes being ignited by the heat from a wood stove. Several members of the family had narrow escapes from the rapidly spreading flames.

LOCAL PICK-UPS.

The San Bernardino Valley Traction Company has inaugurated a system of medical examinations and will maintain a hospital service for disabled employés.

The congregation of the Unitarian Church, under the pastorate of Rev. Maxwell Savage, expects soon to take steps for the erection of a house of worship. A site has been chosen at the corner of Fourth and Clark streets and it is the intention to have the building completed for occupancy by early fall.

Mrs. L. F. Degenhart has been granted an absolute divorce from her husband, the court allowing her all the property. The Degenharts have in the past two years figured prominently in local courts and the divorce comes as a culmination to their troubles.

RIVERSIDE.

CHILD KILLED BY WAGON.

RIVERSIDE, May 2.—Josephine, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Holmes, fell under the wheels of an orange wagon this afternoon. The wheels passed over her neck and head, cutting ugly gashes and fracturing the skull. She was taken to a hospital, and died in thirty minutes.

ELSINORE.

CONCERNING PEOPLE.

ELSINORE, May 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Kilburn, recently from Lincoln, Neb., have arrived here to remain some time.

Mrs. Minnie Roiston arrived Saturday from Pomona to remain some time in Elsinore as the guest of Mrs. J. A. Crane and other friends.

Wilbur Moody is a recent arrival from Los Angeles. He comes to visit with his uncle, Rev. Francis M. Moody.

Mrs. Horace Austin has gone to St. Paul, Minn., to spend the summer with her son and daughter, who reside there.

Jonathan Silton, who has been in Elsinore for some time, with relatives and at his ranch in the mountains, has gone to Fullerton.

The Elsinore Cornet Band gave a picnic on May Day in Coldwater Cañon. The weather was cold with clouds and wind and showers.

CLUBBED INTO NEXT WORLD.

ROW AND BLOODY KILLING IN ORANGE COUNTY.

Cards and "Dago Red" and Mexican Sheep-shearers Make a Distressing Combination in El Toro Hills—Attack With Knife and Finish With Bludgeon.

SANTA ANA, May 2.—A bloody row over cards and wine in a sheep-shearers' camp in El Toro hills last night resulted in the death of a man named Moreno, whose brains were clubbed out by Primetiro Otero, another laborer. Otero came to Santa Ana today and surrendered to Sheriff Lacy, claiming he acted in self-defense. The two principals in the fight, with five companions, assembled last night at Otero's tent in Oiseau Cañon above El Toro, where they are shearing for John Glace, and started to make a night of it with gambling to the accompaniment of abundant dago red. In the midst of the play, Otero alleges, Moreno made at him with a pair of sheep shears and when the first pair was taken from him, seized another and dragged Otero out of the tent. Otero drew a pocket knife and when he saw this would not deter Moreno, he picked up a large sycamore bludgeon and whacked his assailant three times on the head, fracturing the skull and killing him instantly. The story told by others of the shearers tends to corroborate Otero's tale. This afternoon an inquest was held and deputies from the Sheriff's and District Attorney's office went to the scene of the row to gather evidence. Otero will be examined Saturday morning before Justice Smithwick.

VALLEY BRIEFS.

Laura, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Williams of Newport, died Saturday.

George W. Ford, the well-known horseman of this city, will leave this week for St. Louis with twelve young horses, all but one of which are of the Neernut stock, with the expectation of disposing of them there. The animals range in age from three to five years and have made trial records on the local track of from 2:15 to 2:40. The bunch will contain some of the best horseflesh in the county.

E. M. Smith of this city broke his arm at the elbow yesterday by slipping to the pavement while attempting to board a Santa Fé train in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Frances M. Morse, as executor of her husband's estate, is suing Mrs. Lydia E. Morehouse of Los Angeles to quiet title to a $3000 ranch near Northam, which the plaintiff alleges was sold on snap judgment without due regard to her equity in the property. The case was argued before Judge West today and submitted on briefs.

ANAHEIM.

BEER AND ROWDYISM.

ANAHEIM, May 2.—A number of persons of the tough element of Santa Ana and Orange came here yesterday and proceeded to fill up on beer at a picnic in Columbia Grove. C. J. Murrell and James Cormack of Santa Ana were arrested for carrying concealed weapons, and each paid a fine of $10 this morning in Justice Court. Another man was arrested giving the name of Tex Roe, and he will also be fined at least $10. The law-abiding citizens of Anaheim are disgusted with this class of persons, who come here nearly every Sunday, and the citizens say it is much worse now than before Santa Ana became a prohibition town. The officers declare they will put a stop to Sunday rowdyism, and they are determined to arrest every disturber.

HERE AND THERE.

News reached here today of the death of C. J. Chambers in Pennsylvania. He was formerly a prominent resident of Mariñores, near Anaheim.

Mrs. Zues has returned from a seven months' visit with her mother in Germany.

T. A. Darling, who has been Southern Pacific agent here twenty-seven years, stated today there are more newcomers settling in Anaheim than at any time before. He believes that the low prices of good land, and the fact that this entire section can be irrigated either from the water company or from the pumping stations, is what brings the many new families.

Mrs. R. K. Sherman is placing a very large and expensive monument on the grave of her husband in the Anaheim Cemetery.

A large number from Fullerton and Anaheim spent yesterday in the County Park, and report a very disagreeable day. A heavy rain fell in the hills above El Modena at noon.

The Besique, the leading society club of Anaheim, held its monthly meeting at the home of Mayor Rust Saturday night. At the conclusion of the games, the daintiest refreshments ever served by the club were passed around by Mrs. Rust.

Mrs. Hartwell, accompanied by the children, arrived today from Jefferson, Iowa, to join her husband, who came West several weeks ago.

If's Impure Blood.

"What is it?" asks the mother as she notices the smooth skin of her child marred by a red or pimply eruption. It is impure blood, and the child needs at once to begin the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the best and surest remedy for impurity of the blood. It entirely eradicates the poisons which corrupt the blood and cause disease. It cures scrofula, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which are the direct result of impure blood. It enriches as well as purifies the blood.

"Dr. Pierce's medicine has not only benefited me greatly, but it has done wonders for my two sons," writes Mrs. M. Hartrick, of Decatur Corners, N. Y. "Both had scrofula. I have lost two daughters in less than five years with consumption and scrofula. My eldest son was taken two or three years ago with hemorrhage from the lungs. It troubled him for over a year. He took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and has not had a hemorrhage in over a year. My younger son had scrofulous sores on his neck; had two fainted, but has not had any since he commenced to take your medicine."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

PORT ITEMS.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

WEATHER: Cloudy at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 12 miles.

The final attempt of the steamer Despatch to float the stranded steam schooner Fulton has proven successful, and the Despatch is towing the Fulton to San Francisco. The Fulton went ashore at Point Orford several months ago with a full lumber cargo for San Pedro, and for a time it was feared she would be a total loss. She will be repaired and will once more enter the coastwise lumber trade.

The steamer South Bay cleared yesterday from Eureka with a full cargo of lumber consigned to the San Pedro Lumber Company.

The steamer Kruger, laden with a lumber cargo for this port, loaded at Eureka, went aground when crossing the bar and was delayed for seven or eight hours, finally being floated at high tide.

The schooner Andy Mahoney sailed yesterday from Portland with 750,000 feet of lumber consigned to wholesalers at this port.

The oil steamer Ascuncion, which was lying at Redondo, came over to this port last night for safety during the storm. She returned to Redondo today.

The steamer San Gabriel arrived today from Eureka and Umpqua River with 820,000 feet of lumber consigned to the Kerckhoff-Cuzner Mill and Lumber Company.

The schooner Balboa is in port, eight days from Port Blakeley, with a cargo of 540,000 feet of lumber for the San Pedro Lumber Company.

The schooner Excelsior arrived this morning from Willapa Harbor with 600,000 feet of lumber consigned to the San Pedro Lumber Company.

Today the tug Warrior went over to Redondo to bring the Charles E. Falk to this port. The Falk lost her rudder in yesterday's storm. The disabled steamer Gardiner City, which had her masts pounded out at Redondo yesterday, will be towed to this port tomorrow. The steamer Honolulu will also be towed over.

Only one case of bubonic plague was reported in Lima, Peru, Saturday, according to a New York Herald dispatch from that city.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS A SPECIALIST FOR MEN

Varicocele

Have you treated for varicocele with people who claim to cure without your quitting your work? If so, you still have your varicocele. No varicocele was ever cured while you work. Any reliable specialist can and will show you plenty of successfully cured cases before you treat. We have been curing varicocele in Los Angeles 18 years, and are ready to prove our success by introducing you to hundreds of first-class men who will give you the facts. One week under our treatment makes a permanent cure. You should see some of our cases here who were treated 8 and 10 years ago. We use no knife, you have no pain, your cure is permanent. Our examination is free. Are you going to hand your money over to any man before you see the absolute proof of his success?

Contracted Disorders

Of all the diseases peculiar to man, contracted disorders are the most abused by cut-and-try, hit-and-miss treatments, administered by good friends, druggists, doctors in general practice, and most of the would-be specialists. It is certainly interesting to hear the story of the average patient coming to us for cure with the different kinds of so-called treatment he has been up against. A large majority of our patients come to us with all the original disease and part or all of the complications resulting from delay and mistreatment. We generally have to cure them after some or all of the following conditions have developed: Chronic discharge, stricture, or all of the chronic bladder troubles, diseased prostate, sores, swellings, etc., besides a patient whose confidence and mind are diseased, through failure and disappointment. Don't trifle with these disorders, go to a doctor who knows how to cure you; it is the cheapest, surest and shortest way out. We have been 21 years in the business.

Stricture

I can do more for stricture in three days with my improved, modern, up-to-date method than could be done in three months with the old, painful, sound treatment. I can cure nearly every case in ten days, and by a cure I mean the stricture will never give any further trouble. Remember, my method is absolutely free from pain—and is certain in every case.

Our Medical Journal Free

Downstairs at our entrance, 607½ South Broadway, you can help yourself to our medical journal, an extensive description of our special work is given. It contains full information, which we cannot publish in our advertisement. If you live out of the city write for one.

We are Specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Diseases, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles

Vital Decline Can Be Cured

Vital decline, commonly called weakness, is the result of a diseased condition. This disturbing cause is nearly always found in the prostate gland, where the nerve center is located. The prostate becomes affected by one or more local diseases, indiscretions, excesses, varicocele, etc. We published years ago the first information ever given out on prostatic trouble as the cause of vital weakness; since that time our theories have been accepted by all the best eastern specialists and at the same time every pretended specialist copies our advertisements, knowing absolutely nothing of our successful means of relieving men of this trouble. No one but a thorough specialist can succeed in curing these conditions. Anybody can advertise but the genuine specialist only can satisfy the patient, and give him value received.

We will at a free examination and send our book and colored plates free on application. Any person with good reference can secure treatment from us until cured, paying for his case.

No Cure, No Pay

Not a Cent to Pay Till Cured

Pick out the men who have worn my Belt. See them with heads erect, chest expanded, the glow of health in their cheeks, courage in their hearts and a clasp of the hand that tells you, "I am a man."

And how is it with you? Have you rheumatism and back pains, a dull ache and weakness over your kidneys, dull headache, with a tired, stupid feeling? Are you losing your vitality? Do you feel yourself growing aged before your time? Are you nervous, sleepless, short of memory and lacking in spirit and self-confidence? Do you know that you are not the man you would like to be?

If so, I can cure you or you need not pay me. What you lack is just what electricity supplies. My Belt will cure you, and if you will come to me you will soon be one of "DR. McLAUGHLIN'S MEN."

I believe that the best evidence is the word of an honest man, who says "YOU CURED ME."

James P. Davis, 720 Devisadero st., San Francisco. He was cured of a back trouble of 12 years' standing.

G. W. Scott, Madison, Yolo Co., Cal., an old man of 71, who feels like a young buster of 30 since he has been using my belt.

J. M. Gaskill, 259 Chestnut ave., Santa Cruz, Cal., who says I cured him of indigestion, Constipation, Nervousness and lumbago from which he had suffered 15 years.

Wherever you are, I think I can give you the name of a man in your town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of pounding new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've got cures in nearly every town on the map.

Come and see me if you can, and I'll fix you up, or if you can't call, write to me. I've got a nice book on men that I'll send sealed free if you inclose this ad.

Pay When Cured

It is but natural that I should have more confidence in my ability than a new patient could have. I know what I have done and can do. Therefore, I do not ask him to pay me his money merely upon the claims I make. Here is my proposition.

I Wait for My Fee Until You are Well.

MEN'S DISEASES

Free Consultation

You are at liberty to come to my office for personal consultation, or write, regarding your case. My pamphlet, "Live All Your Years a Man," is also free.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN

The Only True Way To Prove the efficacy of a treatment is to examine into its merits and see and know.

I Want You to Know That My Treatment for Chronic Troubles Is the Most Effective Known.

The elements of life, strength and health are combined in the treatment I have been 20 years acquiring. Every man who has taken it can recommend it, because it is thoroughly reliable and removes the EXACT CAUSE of trouble. I am anxious to meet those who have been disappointed in former treatment. I think my method of treatment will appeal to their better judgment and I know it will be for the betterment of their physical condition. I have no treatment to pass off by mail. Experience of the right kind is necessary to obtain good results.

VARICOCELE

Induces functional weakness. I demonstrate daily that varicocele can be cured without cutting, tying or any severe form of treatment. The organs should not be maimed or weakened by surgery, but should be strengthened and preserved. With my treatment I cure it for life in 10 to 15 days. A healthy circulation is re-established and all evil effects removed.

STRICTURE—I cure the right way, once and for all. I remove all urethral obstruction, inflammation and soreness, and restore the membrane to a healthy condition, usually 10 to 15 days.

CONTRACTED DISEASES—Failure to quickly cure these conditions is due to harsh measures, which are the direct cause for chronic conditions. My treatment is the most cleanly and perfect known.

I cure Rectal, Kidney, and Bladder Troubles, Piles, Fistula and Blood Diseases, Wasting, Nervous and Chronic conditions, causing functional derangement, imparing strength and vitality.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

HERLIHY NOW IS PRESIDENT.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 24 South Raymond avenue, May 3. —At a business meeting of the Pasadena Board of Trade, held last night at Hotel Maryland, D. W. Herlihy was elected president; M. H. Wright, vice-president; D. W. Coolidge, secretary, and H. I. Stuart, treasurer. This was the annual business meeting, at which occurs the election of officers and the transaction of the routine business of the year.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. B. W. Hahn, W. R. Staats, H. R. Hertel and Thomas Earley, was appointed to meet at the Board of Trade rooms Thursday next, in conjunction with other committees, to perfect the organization of a Camino Real association.

A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, Frank P. Boynton, for efficient services during the years he has been on the board, as director and president. Mr. Boynton retires from the presidency with a record for efficiency in the management of the affairs of the Board of Trade unequaled by any officer of a promotion organization. While secretary and later as president, Mr. Boynton gave largely of his time in furtherance of the public interests of Pasadena. His ability as a promotion officer is well recognized, and gained for him the appointment of director of the exhibit at the World's Fair, in which work he will be engaged for the coming seven months.

Mr. Herlihy, the incoming president, has been active in the affairs of the city for years, and has been the choice of the business men since it was known that Mr. Boynton would not be in position to accept another term. He is president and manager of the Model Grocery Company, and a long residence here has qualified him to assume the directorship of the promotion interests of the city.

A vote of thanks was also tendered Manager D. M. Linnard of Hotel Maryland for courtesies during the year, and Secretary D. W. Coolidge was remembered about also. His reelection was unanimous. The fact that no other name was suggested for the position of secretary is a merited recognition of his services. The increase in membership, which last year was phenomenal, has been due to the motto adopted by Mr. Coolidge, which is that "boosting everlastingly at it brings success."

LAWN FETE.

May Day was happily celebrated at "Sunnyridge," the charming suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Dane, yesterday afternoon, with an informal al-fresco reception given by Mrs. Ezra Dane and her three daughters, Mrs. Anna Kirkwood Dane, Mrs. George Dane and Miss Alice Bell Dane.

Everything in the way of decoration and accessories was as suggestive of the old English May Day celebrations as possible. Upon the lawn a May pole was erected, from which floated many-colored ribbons. Flowers in endless variety were arranged in gay May baskets, and from one of immense size bushels of roses were spilled in graceful disorder over the upper end of the lawn. Indoors as well as out the May-time floral scheme was conspicuous. May-queen wreaths in red and green decorated the hall, and in the drawing-room garlands of pink and white spring blossoms were seen in profusion. The dining-room was decorated in Marechal Niel roses, hung in festoons with smilax. In the center of the tea table stood a small Maypole with streamers of yellow and white, surmounted by a tiny basket of May flowers.

The guests were entertained with vocal music, furnished by Miss Carter, Mrs. Helen Lukens Jones and Mrs. J. G. Rossiter and instrumental music by Mrs. F. S. Wallace and Miss Louise Howard of Los Angeles. Among the unexpected ladies were: Mrs. Charles Miller of Butte Mont.; Mrs. H. L. Jones, Mrs. J. M. Carter, Mrs. Robbins Little, Mrs. Elmer Moody, Mrs. Julius Jacobs, Mrs. Robert Kennan, Mrs. Edward Durant, and Mrs. W. A. Hensley. Misses Carter, Jodon, Jacobs, Baxter, Jones, McKinstry and Durant were the pretty maids assisting, and the effectiveness of their summer costumes was greatly added to by flower crowns and garlands worn sash fashion over their shoulders.

Between the hours of 3 and 6, some 35 ladies enjoyed the hospitality of "Sunnyridge."

HOSPITAL RECEPTION.

Tuesday afternoon and evening the Pasadena Hospital received its friends at the handsome building on Congress street. The occasion was the annual harvest home and also the dedication of the new maternity wing, the gift of Mr. Robert J. Burdette and a number of other Pasadenans. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion, and light refreshments were served. Those receiving included the board of managers and Mrs. Burdette, Mrs. J. H. Reed, Mrs. John Wadsworth and Mrs. Blakeslee. The ladies presiding at the tea table in turn were Mmes. H. H. Cheyer, C. P. Morehouse, E. M. Ryan, P. Rowland, B. M. Wotkyns, Walter Raymond and Hiram Unsworth, Misses Senter and Dreer.

LAST THROOP LECTURE.

The last lecture of the Throop winter series will be given in the assembly hall of the institute next Thursday evening. Prof. W. K. Gaylord of the chemical department will talk on the subject of "Radio Activity." He will exhibit samples of various radio-active substances, including the famed radium, received direct from Paris. Prof. Gaylord will also display radiographs made by himself, showing some interesting properties of the different rays. The lecture is free to all, and the general public is invited.

MERRITT'S RECORD.

Robert C. Merritt of this city made the automobile record between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara Friday, coming in from the seaboard town in three hours and fifteen minutes. He was accompanied on the run by Mrs. Merritt, Mrs. Platt, Mr. Bueneman and the chauffeur. They said they might have gone so slow but greater speed would have frightened the ladies.

BITS OF NEWS.

The F. R. Harris Shoe Company Saturday sold out to the C. D. Sargent Shoe Company, through the agency of J. H. Woodworth & Son, the price being approximately $25,000. The business will be conducted as formerly. The new concern consists of C. D. Sargent, G. L. Andrews, R. H. Miller and Mayor W. H. Vedder. Harris and Neal Traylor retire.

Yesterday work was begun tearing down the old landmark, Williams Block, at the northeast corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Colorado street, to prepare for the new Slavin Block, which will be one of the most conspicuous improvements of the city's history.

Will N. Doud's friends say more definite charges will have to be made against him before he can be ousted from his job as deputy assessor. County Assessor Ward does not believe that Doud was as familiar with unprotected members of the fair sex as has been stated by irate husbands. Doud is suspended pending investigation.

President Edwards of Throop Institute left yesterday for the East. He will attend the Buffalo Presbyterian convention as a delegate and will visit some of the manual-training schools of the country for pointers.

"Bones," the human skeleton stolen from Throop's laboratory by pranky students, was returned yesterday and there is more rejoicing over this one meatless specimen than over the ninety and nine good ones that need no meat.

Yesterday Universalist delegates went to Riverside to attend the annual convention. They were: Rev. Dr. E. L. Conger, Rev. S. G. Dunham, Rev. H. L. Canfield and Rev. A. A. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Clapp of No. 637 South Pasadena avenue celebrated their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary on Saturday last.

The City Commissioners yesterday heard complaints to the effect that bench warmers are getting in their deadly work in the parks. A special officer will therefore be detailed to oust any sleeper or sitter who is found in either of the parks after 12 o'clock midnight.

William Crippen, L. L. Carey, Frank Hill and Ransom Crippen are four Los Angeles automobilists who have $15 each on deposit with the police for their appearance this morning to answer for a violation of the speed ordinance. They are not expected to appear.

R. Lippincott rode on the sidewalk yesterday, and regrets it $3 worth. John Andrews paid $3 for the privilege of giving his horse a lunch off a city shade tree.

SANTA MONICA.

PULL TWO WAYS ON SEWAGE.

SANTA MONICA, May 2.—The twin cities of Santa Monica and Ocean Park began tonight pulling in opposite directions on the drainage question. Both municipalities are disposing of their drainage through one outfall sewer into the sea. The outfall, which belongs to Santa Monica and is located under the Ocean Park pier, is broken and to repair it will cost $10,000. Santa Monica wants to charge the city of Ocean Park $75 per month for the use of the big drainage conduit. Ocean Park kicks the traces and raises objections.

One of the chief points of opposition of the Ocean Parkers is the statement that the sewage washes back on the beach. On that ground Ocean Park insists that Santa Monica join with her in the purchase and equipment of an up-to-date sewer farm to be located a mile easterly from Ocean Park. With this object in view the Ocean Park City Trustees have had plans drawn and estimates made. These were presented to the Santa Monica Trustees tonight. They consist of maps, report and recommendations of Engineer James D. Schuyler. Mr. Schuyler says in part:

"The discharge of the sewer of Santa Monica and Ocean Park into the ocean at Pier avenue is objectionable under any conditions and a positive and unbearable nuisance under the present condition of the outfall pipe, which is broken at four places. This nuisance, which threatens the property and health of a large extent of valuable beach property, must be abated, without delay.

"The most satisfactory means of abating the nuisance is to pump the sewage inland to a sewage farm, and there utilise it for irrigation."

Schuyler's report estimates the cost of required power at from $50 to $75 per month and the cost of the entire plant including a septic tank at $14,-850. That does not include the cost of the land on which an option has been secured.

PIONEER DIES IN ASYLUM.

William Flores, who came to Santa Monica in 1880 when the total population of what is now Santa Monica and Ocean Park was less than a hundred, died yesterday at Highland, in the asylum, to which he was committed some months ago. Mr. Flores was a native of Portugal and spent his life on the high seas as a sailor. He was raised on what are commonly known as the Cannibal Islands and before losing his mind could tell many a story of the man-eating natives with whom he came in contact. The body arrived here this afternoon from Highland. The burial will be here tomorrow.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Ernest Vogel, clarionet player in the Soldiers' Home Band, who died Sunday from heart disease, was buried here today.

Mrs. Rosa Reasgood, who died at the family home on Fourth and Hill streets Saturday, leaves a widower and four children. She was 32 years of age and the wife of George Reasgood, the contractor.

Santa Monica is represented on the official directory of the county prohibition organization, W. I. Hull having been elected treasurer.

The British ship Wray Castle, 129 days from Rotterdam, has arrived at Port Los Angeles. She brings steel rails and a general cargo. The Wray Castle is reported as being at San Pedro, but her presence here controverts the statement. She is a 1791-ton vessel, about the size of the Beacon Rock recently arrived from Antwerp and similarly laden.

Without home, friends or visible means of support, and with not sufficient command of language to let it be known where he came from, a stammering, stuttering negro boy was sentenced to the County aJil for ten days by City Recorder Guidinger. The charge was vagrancy. The boy said his name is Ben Harper. He can neither read nor write.

C. H. Sammis has returned from the East, after an absence of six months.

WHITTIER.

PRETTY WEDDING.

WHITTIER, May 2.—Miss Carolyn Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews of this city, became the bride of David S. Binford, one of the prominent young business men of this city, at Friends Church this evening. It was a very pretty wedding, witnessed by 500 invited persons. The interior of the church had been decorated by the girl friends of the pretty bride, hundreds of lilies, Gold of Ophir roses, ropes of smilax and banks of ferns and bridal wreath transforming the front of the church into a veritable May garden. This was outlined by a vine-trimmed fence and gateway, through which the bride and groom entered the miniature Eden for the ceremony. This was impressively performed by Rev. Levi Mills, the pastor of the church.

The bride was attended by a bevy of charming girls, all gowned in pale-blue mousseline de soie. The maids of honor were Misses Susie Reynolds and Claire Edwards, the bridesmaids being Misses Carrie Sharpless, Lucile Doan, Ethel Hutchins, Abbie Trueblood, Genevieve Charles and Hannah Milhous.

The groom was served by Will Trueblood and Paul Brown as groomsmen, Miss Aileen Lindley of Pasadena was flower girl, and the ushers were Messrs. Preston Osborn, Herbert Hunt and Ellis Proud.

After the ceremony the happy couple, who were very abundantly remembered with gifts of cut glass, silver, etc., left amid a shower of rice and rose petals for a ten days' trip to San Francisco and other points.

A pretty feature was the morning serenade given the bride by a party of her friends, whose voices rang out on the still air with Cowan's beautiful chorus, "'Tis Thy Wedding Morning." The music for the ceremony was Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" and other selections, played by Miss Annie Denby, and a vocal solo by Mrs. B. W. Butphen.

OCEAN PARK.

NEWS PICKINGS.

OCEAN PARK, May 2.—C. T. Hewitt and C. W. Petty, youthful preachers, are conducting evangelistic services at the Baptist Church and will be there all week. The attendance is large.

The Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd has elected as delegates to the annual convention of the diocese which will meet in Los Angeles during the third week in May, Orin Bump, Force Parker, J. D. Biagge, R. G. Voigt, N. O. Walker. The ladies of the church have organized an auxiliary guild.

LONG BEACH.

"BLIND-PIGGER" CONVICTED.

LONG BEACH, May 2.—Earl Roberts, a Los Angeles young man caught in a blind-pig raid, was convicted by a jury and sentence will be passed Thursday. The case will be appealed.

Ties are being distributed today along the Pacific Electric line to Bay City and Contractor Mercereau moved his bridge builders to Anaheim Landing this morning.

Dr. Robert McIntyre lectured before a large audience at the Tabernacle tonight on "The Evolution of Abraham Lincoln."

CLAREMONT.

PRIZE DECLAMATION CONTEST.

CLAREMONT, May 2.—A large audience gathered Saturday night to listen to the annual Kinney prize preparatory declamation contest. Five students participated. The first prize, $10, was awarded to Miss Solena Savory of Los Angeles; second prize $5, Roland S. Vaile of Claremont. Musical selections during the contest were rendered by Miss Condit, and Messrs. Irwin, Densmore and Spaulding.

WAITERS' PICNIC.

The waiters of the Summer Hall dining-room were given a picnic today by Miss Katherine Winans, matron. Each young man was accompanied by a fair co-ed, and the party of two tallyhos proceeded to San Dimas Cañon, where a delightful day was spent among the mountains and trees.

HOLLYWOOD.

FIRST BASKET BALL.

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—The plucky little girls of the Hollywood Union High School basket ball team played their first game of the season with the second team of the Los Angeles High School on the Hollywood court this afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The game was won by the visiting team. Considering that the visitors have defeated some of the best first teams in the county, the home girls, who are all ninth grade but one, played a strong game. A return game will be played in the near future. The Los Angeles players were: Una Burrett, Annette Burke, forwards; Belle Marsh, guard; Edna Angur, captain; Ester Stevens, center. The Hollywood line-up: Eulalia Gross, Catharine Montgomery, forwards, Louise Blondeau, Doris Smith, guards; Ethel Burke, center.

CHURCH RECOGNIZED.

Twenty-five delegates from nine neighboring Baptist churches met in the Masonic Temple this evening to recognize the First Baptist Church of Hollywood as a regularly organized church. P. B. Chase called the convention to order, and Dr. C. C. Pierce led in prayer. Dr. C. A. Wood of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society was chosen chairman, and Rev. George Taylor of Sawtelle clerk. J. O. Churchice gave a short history of the organization, and requested the delegates to organize and recognize the church.

Among the ministers present were Wilbur L. Wadwords, acting pastor of the Temple Church, Los Angeles; Rev. C. C. Pierce, Memorial Church; C. C. Willett, Orchard avenue; S. C. Ohrum, East Los Angeles; Rev. George Taylor, Sawtelle. General representatives were A. M. Petty, general missionary; A. W. Ryder, corresponding secretary missionary union; C. P. Ward, secretory Publication Society; Dr. C. A. Wood, Portland, Or., Pacific Coast representative of the A.B.H.S.

SAN PEDRO.

HARBOR FORTIFICATIONS.

SAN PEDRO, May 2.—A letter was received today by the Harbor Protective League from Senator George C. Perkins, stating that the matter of harbor fortifications for San Pedro had been taken up by Brig.-Gen. MacKenzie, who advised Senator Perkins that the subject had been referred to the Board of Engineers.

CZAR'S GREAT WAR GIFT.

Largest Ever Made by Any Individual to Any Cause.

But His Annual Income is Now About Ten Millions.

Nicholas is Said to be Lucky as Well as Rich.

[NEW YORK EVENING MAIL.]

It was reported from St. Petersburg the other day on semi-official authority that the Czar had given 200,000,000 of roubles (about $100,000,000) from his private treasury to Russia's war fund. Probably this is the largest single gift ever made by an individual donor to any cause.

But the Czar can well afford it. He is unquestionably the richest man on earth. Even Rockefeller's many millions would look small by comparison with his multitudinous sources of wealth and the vast treasures hoarded for him by his ancestors, for the Romanoffs were always a saving race. No living man on earth can tell the full extent of his wealth, not even Baron Friederichs, the Comptroller of the imperial household.

The value of the Emperor's private fortune and its importance in relation to the affairs of the empire may be gauged in some degree by the fact that the Baron, as private treasurer, is counted among the greatest officers of state, and is a member of the principl and deliberative and consultative councils, such as the Committee of Ministers and the Council of State, which help the Czar to direct the course of the Russian policy.

The official revenue of Nicholas II—his salary, so to speak—is nearly two millions sterling per annum. It is difficult to arrive at it exactly, for it is paid in various ways and under many heads, and the sum total fluctuates from year to year. But $10,000,000 may be taken as a fair average.

COST OF A STATE BALL.

It is only a small part of his wealth, however, and the expense of maintaining his royal state more than accounts for the vast sum. If he depended upon his official salary, he would find it hard to make both ends meet. His expenditures are almost incredible. It is estimated that the magnificent state ball which was given just as the war with Japan broke out cost between two and three million roubles. The Czar's gifts to the Orthodox Church in the course of a year average from five to six millions of roubles, and orthodox Russians sometimes complain—confidentially, of course—that he is stingy in that respect, in comparison with his predecessors. On the other hand, the church turns over large revenues to him, estimated to exceed the amount which it receives.

With sole exception of the Shah of Persia, the Czar owns a greater fortune in diamonds and precious stones than any man in the world. The famous Orloff diamond is only the greatest star in an immense constellation. It was given to a previous Czar by a Count Orloff, one of whose descendants was the famous Count Orloff, who devoted his life to improving the breed of Russian horses, and created the "Orloff horse" now used almost exclusively by the Russian cavalry.

When Nicholas II was crowned a few years ago, the Emir of Bokhara and the Khan of Khiva, his two principal vassal princes, vied with one another in making him the richest gifts within their power. The Khan gave him a priceless rope of pearls which is said to be the finest in the world, besides diamonds, emeralds, and rubies galore. His presents are estimated to have been worth, at the lowest computation, $2,000,000; but they were unique and no price could really be put upon them. His rival, the Emir, was not far behind him; and the Hetman of the Don Cossacks, Prince Sviatopolak Mirski II, came forward with some handsome contributions, as did all the leading nobles and princes of the empire, to say nothing of foreign potentates.

BORN BOTH LUCKY AND RICH.

The Czar is the luckiest man on earth in the matter of "windfalls." His loyal subjects are constantly leaving him large sums of money by will, which are not always accepted. Delicate diplomacy is required to induce the Czar to accept a legacy. As a rule, a wealthy Russian who desires to leave money to him communicates with Baron Friederichs or some other official of the imperial household before he makes his will, and obtains the gracious consent of His Majesty to his design. Even when this has been done, and the man dies, careful investigation is made before the money is accepted, with the object of finding out whether anybody who had a moral claim on the testator will suffer by his disposition of his wealth. If so, the Czar orders that the money be diverted to the proper channels.

These legacies, when accepted, are never used by the Czar for his private gratification. He regards them as a trust fund, and they have been so regarded by most of his ancestors. This fund is drawn upon for charitable and religious purposes. Five millions of rubles were given from it to relieve the starving peasants during the last terrible famine in Bessarabia. But it is not confined to Russian objects alone. The Czar made liberal donations from it to the last Indian famine relief fund, and in aid of the negro peasants of Martinique who suffered by the eruptions of Mount Pelee.

SOME IMMENSE LEGACIES.

Some of the legacies reach immense sums. A merchant named Stephanoff, who died at Nijni-Novgorod last year, left the Czar 11,000,000 of roubles ("to be applied for any object which His Imperial Majesty may be graciously pleased to consider for the good of Holy Russia.") A Moscow banker named Nicholas Nicholaevich Ukhtansky left 7,000,000 roubles two or three years ago for his research, absolutely free of any limitation or provision. And these amounts might be paralleled in many cases. Hardly a month passes without the Czar receiving by will what most men would consider a large fortune.

The Czar pockets more mining royalties than any man on earth. The silver, gold, platinum and lead mines of the Ural Mountains are government property. Most of the proceeds go into the government treasury, but royalties ranging from 6 to 25 per cent. are paid over to the Emperor's private purse. He receives similar royalties on the numerous government mines in Siberia, which are worked by the free labor convicts. He also receives quit rents, tithes and other payments for vast tracts of crown lands in Siberia and Central Asia, as well as a share of the large revenue accruing from the exploitation of the immense areas of government forest land in Siberia.

Whole blocks of real estate in St. Petersburg, Moscow, Odessa, Nijni-Novgorod, Irkutsk, Omsk and other cities and towns in European Russia and Siberia are owned by the Emperor, and the rents are duly collected by a small army of agents under the supervision of Baron Friederichs. He also possesses large financial holdings in several Russian railways which have not yet fallen under the control of the Ministry of Ways and Communication, and in numerous industrial undertakings, such as iron works and textile factories, promoted or encouraged by M. Jullewitch De Witte when he was Finance Minister. The investment of the Czar's immense wealth is always a serious and difficult problem. In accordance with M. De Witte's advice, much of it has been applied to the promotion of schemes which are calculated to develop the industrial and commercial resources of Russia.

ESTIMATE BY A RUSSIAN.

"It is impossible to arrive at any exact estimate of the wealth of His Imperial Majesty," said an official connected with the Russian legation at Washington, from whom most of the facts set forth in this article were obtained, "but I should think that on the most conservative estimate he must be worth, from all sources, far more than $50,000,000 a year. This is actual revenue, and does not take into account the huge treasures in specie, bullion and diamonds which are stored in the vaults of the Peterhof Palace, in the citadel at Kronstadt and elsewhere.

"Although he is undoubtedly the richest man in the world—far richer than the richest of your American millionaires—His Imperial Majesty is a man of the simplest tastes, and his purely personal expenses would probably be easily covered by $50 a day. Except when it is necessary to assume the outward show of his exalted rank, he dresses in a suit that you could buy here for $30. He dines very simply, except at state dinners; and President McKinley used to smoke far more expensive cigars than he does.

"Her Imperial Majesty, the Empress, is equally simple in her tastes. She has finer diamonds, and more of them than any other woman; but she does not wear diamonds half a dozen times a year. She goes driving in St. Petersburg in a much less showy and less expensive equipage than nine out of ten of those which you may see any day on Fifth avenue, and so does the Dowager Empress."

Alexieff and the Sailor.

In 1880 Admiral Alexieff was captain in command of the cruiser Africa, and the raconteur tells how he was permitted by the Russian government to accompany the vessel to England.

The rest of the story may be told in the narrator's own words: "On getting into British waters we were overtaken by a dense fog, necessitating our remaining almost stationary. When the fog lifted we discovered a small fishing smack, manned by two typical North Sea fishermen, who signalled their wish to be taken aboard. The order was at once given, and one of the men was speedily taken on deck. As I was the only one on the Africa who could speak English, I was called upon to act as interpreter, and learned that in the fog they had become separated from the rest of the fleet, and wanted to study the chart to ascertain their bearings.

"The desired information having been given him, the man glanced round with evident admiration at the spotless decks and perfect appointment of the ship; then suddenly turning to me in a confidential whisper (pointing to the crew) said: 'They're Rooshians, ain't they?' I answered 'Yes,' and inquired how he guessed the fact. 'By the smell of 'em!' he replied, stolidly. Seeing me smile, Capt. Alexieff begged me to explain what had transpired, and, on my interpreting, laughed heartily (as did also the other officers grouped around) and remarking that 'as the British lion had such a nice sense of smell, it should surely be allied to an equally critical sense of taste,' and sent the young giant away on his way rejoicing with a jar of vodka to drink the health of the Russian Bear."—[Public Opinion.

Had His Chaser, Too.

Late evening quiet had settled down in the old German saloon in Jackson street, when a man who was well dressed and carried a pair of new gloves in one hand walked in. He gave a sort of sniff as if he were accustomed to more stylish places but walked straight up to the bar and after hesitating a moment, asked Bartender Charley Smith for a good cigar.

Having got it and having apparently become reconciled to the character of the place, he asked for a drink of the best whisky in the house. He got that, too.

He was just raising the glass to his lips when Charley, the bartender, said: "What'll you have for a chaser?"

The man with the kid gloves slowly drank the whisky. Then he leaned over the bar in a confidential way and said:

"I guess I'll have you."

Suiting his action to his words, he then made a dash for the door and got away with Charley fully ten yards behind him.

The pumped-out Charley returned a half hour later, as hot as a hornet, and reported that the man with the kid gloves had got away with it.—[New York Sun.

CIGARETTES IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, April 16.—It is rather doubtful if what are after all the funniest features of the so-called "Sunday-school Cigarettes" case which has been exciting so much hilarity in this country have been brought out in the cabled accounts of the affair. The main facts probably are familiar. The Rev. J. Lowman Lang, a clergyman at Woolington, in Somersetshire, sued the London Mail the other day, and collected $1250 because that newspaper reported that during the service in his Sabbath school both cigarettes and cigars were given to the boys to stimulate their attendance, and this with the parson's consent. As a matter of fact, cigars and cigarettes were dealt out, though not during the service, and now it is admitted that the youthful attendance was stimulated considerably, by the innovation; but the clergyman had no part in the business. Meanwhile, not satisfied with getting over $1250 from the Mail, the reverend gentleman has succeeded in prying $50 out of another paper that republished the story, $100 out of a second, and $125 out of a third. He says, however, that he isn't so keen on gathering in the coin as a balm to his wounded feelings as by way of compensation for the amount of bother the whole thing has caused him.

They say a lie travels fast, but it is safe betting that no half-truth ever traveled so far as this one did. The tale of "cigarette bribery," as it was called, provoked amusement in New Zealand, it caused a ripple of excitement in Ceylon, shocked some good folk in the United States and made the church-goers of British Columbia raise their hands in holy horror. And then letters on the subject began pouring in on the Rev. Mr. Lang from all parts of the world, not to mention this country. Many of them were abusive—one writer telling the clergyman that he deserved the contempt of all honest men. A screed of protest reached him from Chicago, and tracts on the evils of smoking also were included in his morning mail after the publication of the "libel." He even found himself and his Sabbath-school cartooned in Punch.

"It was done out of kindness—mistaken kindness—by Mr. Wilmot," said the reverend gentleman. He referred to the dealing out of the cigarettes. Mr. Wilmot is one of the teachers in the Sunday-school, and the person who has caused all the bother. Wilmot's class is formed of some of the older boys in the Sunday-school, and it was to them that, on one Sunday, their instructor in the Biblical teachings, passed around cigars, and on the following Sabbath, boxes of cigarettes. Incidentally, it is reported that the cigars made the boys sick, which may have been why Wilmot chose the less powerful "coffin nail" with which to make his second presentation. It was just after he had done so that the "Mail's" rather misleading report called attention to the thing, when the Rev. Mr. Lang swooped down on his too zealous assistant. To add to the clergyman's chagrin over the affair, it was made the subject of a discussion at the last Church Congress, in which he received some hard jolts.

One of the most amusing results of the case, however, was the verses which the London Globe printed regarding it, and which were read at the trial, the other day. Here they are:

O FUMOSE PUER.

Oh, teacher, I'm so happy
In my little Sunday-school;
For my pipe is drawing nicely,
And the mixture's smoking cool.
And I find it very pleasant
Just to sit here blowing rings,
While you give us your reflections
On the Babylonian kings.

On a morning in October
I resolved to change my ways,
When you caught me, teacher, vaping;
You had chased me many days.
For you whispered to me gently,
As in vain I strove to pass,
"I have smokes for little children

Oh, teacher, I'm—excuse me
For a moment if you will.
I am feeling slightly—bother!
Why won't the floor keep still?
The bench on which I'm sitting
Seems as frisky as a lamb,
And I—am I going—going.
Am I going to—yes, I AM!

Roosevelt and Parker.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Roosevelt and Judge Parker are warm personal friends. Each has a sincere liking for the other, "probably because they are so different," said one of Judge Parker's associates in Albany. While Mr. Roosevelt was Governor of New York he and the judge were thrown together a good deal. They are both friends for riding, and many a nice chat they used to have in the saddle while cantering about the hills of Albany. They are alike in one thing—neither ever gave up his ride on account of the weather, but splashed through mud and braved rainstorms as if that were just the sort of thing he doted on.

The judge is not as furious a driver as the President, and does not run his horse up hill and down dale as does the younger man. Nor does he swing his hat round in the air and cry "Ki-yi-ki-yi," cowboy fashion, as Mr. Roosevelt sometimes does in the exuberance of his outdoor enjoyment.

The judge is more sedate, both in and out of the saddle. But he and President Roosevelt used to get along very well together, except when the Governor set too fast a pace, and then the judge was content to drop quietly behind and take the dust of his more energetic comrade.

Mr. Roosevelt and Judge Parker often had luncheon together in the old days when both were in the $30,000,000 Capitol at Albany, and when, we may be sure, only one of them indulged in dreams of living in the White House.—[Walter Wellman, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Great Scheme.

CURES WITHOUT STOMACH DOSING.

Hyomei Cures Catarrh by Simple Breathing. The Sun Drug Co. Refunds Money if it Fails to Cure.

The folly of taking medicine into the stomach to cure catarrh of the nose, throat and lungs, has been realized by physicians, but not until Hyomei was known had they a practical method that would obviate stomach drugging.

Breathing Hyomei through the inhaler, every particle of air that enters the nose, throat and lungs, is charged with a healing balsam, that soothes and allays all irritation, killing the catarrhal germs and enriches the blood with additional ozone.

The Sun Drug Company have so much faith in the power of Hyomei, to cure catarrh, that they are selling it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not give positive relief.

BRAVE GIRL DEPUTY ON A ROUGH TRIP.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, May 2.—Somewhere in the Cuyamacas of San Diego county just now, two plucky young women are urging a team of horses up and down steep trails, and along the edges of precipices where a false turn of the reins would mean speedy and horrible death. They are Miss B. Blythe Baldwin, a Pomona College girl, and Mrs. Charles B. Daggett, wife of the proprietor of one of this city's hotels. They expect to be gone a week, and will have traveled 200 miles.

Miss Baldwin, who is 22 years of age, a graduate of the National City High School, has been acting for the past year as deputy in the office of her father, Hugh J. Baldwin, County Superintendent of Schools. Mr. Baldwin is required by law to visit every school district in his jurisdiction under penalty of $10 for each one neglected. Having important business on hand he deputized his daughter to visit the districts of Spring Valley, Anahuac, Orinoco, Oberlin, Cuyamaca, Descanso, Japatul and Viejas.

The deputy and her friend will ascend nearly a mile, the highest point being Cuyamaca school district, back of the Julian mining country. She is empowered to make addresses, interview school trustees, get statistics, and adjust controversies. At Oberlin there is a serious doubt as to whether the school should be perpetuated or a fusion made with Julian. This, also, Miss Baldwin will inquire into.

The young woman has made a study of materia medica, and in the event of accident to either the women or the horses her skill will come handy. One of the horses attached to the buggy is known to be a balker. This did not deter the daring travelers. Poised upon some rocky spire it will be awkward if the "blue horse," as he is called, should take contrary notions. Superintendent Baldwin is sure his daughter's cool head will bring them both safely home. Neither of the women went armed, though the region is known to be overrun with wild animals, particularly lions and lynxes.

The deputy has been instructed, as a special work, to ascertain what can be done in schoolrooms to develop the art instinct in children. The theory to be carried out is, that the schoolroom should be made a reception-room for the school and its friends, not simply a workshop. An endeavor will be made by Miss Baldwin to enlist the sympathies of trustees in order that the beautifying of schoolhouses may become general. Another special investigation will be made by the young woman into the matter of gross lights and their effects upon children's eyes.

WALDECK RECOVERS, "CASINO" TO REOPEN.

J. E. WALDECK was brought home from Santa Monica yesterday morning in a carefully prepared ambulance under the guidance of Dr. P. Newmark. The unfortunate manager stood the trip excellently, and was resting quietly all day at his home on South Flower street.

Dr. Newmark said of his patient's condition: "Mr. Waldeck is now in a very fair way for complete recovery. He is able to rest, and sleep is nearly the whole battle. I am glad that The Times did not get the false suicide theory in its columns. Both myself and the Santa Monica physicians have investigated thoroughly, and although Mr. Waldeck had every chance to make away with himself, I do not believe there was the slightest attempt on his part. His case is merely one of acute nervous prostration, brought on by incessant worry over his business, and I anticipate full recovery, within a short time."

The stockholders of the Casino Theater held a meeting yesterday afternoon, and agreed to give the management of their playhouse to Oliver Morosco and H. C. Wyatt—as forecasted in Sunday's Times.

Mr. Morosco said yesterday that he had decided to reopen the theater May 15, with a presentation of Rice's celebrated "1492." The new comic opera organization will arrive from the north Wednesday of this week, and will be entirely strengthened and re-formed. The nucleus of the Aggregation is the Olympia opera company of Edward Seamans, which played an extended engagement at the Mason Opera-house last season. New members, both in principals and chorus, will be added to the company, and if possible Thomas Persse and Edith Mason will be cast in the Wyatt-Morosco productions.

Protest of a Layman.

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To induce the General Conference Committee to hold the conference in Los Angeles Dr. Bovard pledged $25,000 toward conference expenses. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce generously guaranteed $15,000, and Dr. Bovard appealed to the churches for $10,000. He represented that holding the conference in Los Angeles would greatly benefit the church on the Coast, and would afford its attendants the privilege and pleasure of visiting the conference. In response to his appeal the churches contributed a goodly sum over $10,000.

The local committee secured for conference use Hazard's Pavilion, a building with two galleries and a seating capacity of 3000. The committee planned for a lecture course and sundry excursions. Members of the Westlake Methodist Episcopal Church assumed the expense of the pavilion in consideration of the audience space on the main floor, two front rows of seats in first gallery, and receipts of lecture course and excursions. The Westlake people improvised ninety-three boxes on main floor, fixed the price of a seat in the gallery at 50 cents per day, or $10 per session, and advertised and sold at public sale seventy odd boxes for $7000. The sales of seats and boxes and receipts of lecture course and excursions will aggregate from $15,000 to $20,000, paying all expenses and the Westlake Church contribution, leaving a net profit of from $3000 to $5000. In effect Westlake Church makes no contribution, but a profit, and this at the expense of other churches. This cannot be a benefit alluded to by Dr. Bovard in his appeal. My contention is, that the General Conference Committee erred in receiving bids and accepting money for the location of the conference; that the contributors to the $25,000 fund are of right and by courtesy entitled to equal privilege in the conference room; that the local committee bartered these privileges for money, and that the Westlake people profit thereby. Whether they make or lose, the whole system is vicious in its tendency. The general committee places a Christian convocation on the level of a political convention; the local committee on a level below a political convention, and the Westlake people granted special privileges, a practice universally condemned by the American people. For this action there is no excuse. Precedents do not justify it. Purchase of seats by prominent laymen, preachers and bishops do not sanction it. Contributions in excess of the $10,000 and receipts of lecture course and excursions would be ample to provide conference accommodations and meet the incidental expenses of the local committee. The church is rich in money and grace, and is able and willing to meet all expenses of its conference. Members of a Westlake committee in charge of the lecture course are members of the local committee, and are beneficiaries of a contract made by themselves with themselves. Such a contract in civil administration renders the official liable to criminal action.

To encourage attendance cheap rates were secured, an advance agent was sent out, public invitation was given. Thousands have come to a city noted for its open-door hospitality; come to find the front door shut in their face, to take a back seat, or climb sixty steps into the garret. Well, what are you going to do about it? Were I a poor preacher, having scrimped and saved, and traveled 3000 miles, I might not swear audibly. Were I a preacher in charge of a church having contributed, I would denounce it from the pulpit. Were I a delegate accompanied by my wife, I would denounce it on the conference floor. Were I a Bishop, I would denounce it from the platform. Were I a member of the local or Westlake committee, by the consent of the purchasers, I would refund the money paid and open wide the conference doors to the public, subject to such regulations as the conference might impose.

Being only a poor layman, I can only enter my protest and ask the conference in some manner to express its disapproval, at least, by instructing its committee in locating the next conference not to call for bidders, but to locate the conference to subserve the best interests of the church, and to provide suitable accommodations, subject to the jurisdiction of the conference, all expenses to be paid by the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States of America.

JOHN L. BEVERIDGE.

Shocking Bad Taste.

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] When Americans or English go to Rome they have due reverence to the Pope, many of them bowing in reverence as the host is upraised for the waiting multitudes to gaze upon in abject devotion. While we may not fully agree with the tenets of this advancing Methodist host, and while some of their ebullitions may seem to some of us unreasonable and perhaps unnecessary, yet we should under the laws of hospitality and decency offer them courteous treatment. But some of our friends do not think so, for they spread broadcast all over the city this legend that shocks deeply every religious and certainly every Methodist mind, and is therefore to be criticised; "The Spirit and the bride say come," "And whosoever will let him come" and join our big excursion to buy some real estate situate at the southeast corner of the northeast corner and so forth.

Our guests ought to be protected in some way from this shock, this rupture of their religious feelings, for to many this sacred language from the good book applied to a real estate sale near San Diego county is shocking, and as a famous character in Dickens would say, "Demnition bad taste, dontcherknow." Yes, let us treat these good Methodists kindly and respectfully, so they may take away a good impression of our leading people.

DESERT POSSIBILITIES.

John Stewart Tells How the Wastes of California May be Made to Blossom as the Rose.

In an entertaining address last night before the members of the Southern California Academy of Sciences in the assembly hall of the Chamber of Commerce, John Stewart amplified these beautiful lines of Grey, describing many of the little-known and slightly appreciated beauties of the desert. His discourse was illustrated by many pictures of desert scenes.

Mr. Stewart began his talk with an outline of the geological conditions of the past as illustrated by the ruins of Arizona, New Mexico and California. To build up this country and to make it "blossom as the rose" he declared to be our duty and that the development of water was the great object to be attained. He praised the work accomplished by the government, but argued that the bulk of the labor must be done through individual and company effort. He discussed at some length the various ways to obtain water and described an interesting machine, of his own invention, for converting the salt water which is found in many parts of the desert into water fit for domestic purposes.

After describing at some length the best kind of an outfit for such a trip, Mr. Stewart took his audience on an imaginary tour through the desert sections of Los Angeles, Riverside and San Diego counties.

Although professedly a great lover of the desert, he frankly admitted that there are some drawbacks to desert life and travel.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

BRAZIL THREATENING.

Has a Grievance With Peru and Orders for Mobilization of Troops Is Threatened.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 3.—It is reported that orders have been issued for the mobilization of Brazilian troops and for the concentration of all the forces in the first military district at points on the frontier where Peruvian troops are reported to have crossed into Brazil.

Disquieting incidents, it was announced from Rio de Janeiro April 30, were reported to have occurred on the western frontier of Brazil, where the Peruvian troops, in spite of repeated demands, had refused to evacuate territory regarded as belonging to Brazil.
